"LINDY" PASSES OVER OHIO

Today

Europe Worries.
Thanks Be For Lindbergh.
One Lady Jumped.
One Lady Fought.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

[The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.]

EUROPE is really worried about war. The league of nations considered the quarrel between Russia and Poland, caused by the murder of the Russian minister, a serious menace to the peace of the world. Let us hope we shall not be dragged into it, we did not shoot that Russian.

IT IS suggested that all the other nations of Europe unite in warning Russia that any blow struck by the Russian government will be resented and punished by all the nations combined. That may frighten Russia, but probably won't.

Europe's kings combined against France in her revolution, and France proceeded to beat them all. The revolution ultimately produced Napoleon and the world knows what he did.

THANK heaven for Lindbergh. He may make this government realize that to be defenseless in the air is to be absolutely defenseless. He told the chamber of commerce in New York yesterday: "We don't want war, and the way to avoid it is to be prepared for it. We need greatly enlarged commercial air service, greatly increased air mail service, to develop good pilots. It takes longer to make a pilot than to make a flying machine."

He reminded New York of the disgraceful fact that the richest city in the world has no air port, and must travel far off to Long Island to find one.

AND he said in substance this: "They talk about anti-aircraft guns as a defense against air-planes. A hundred fast planes would soon clear a battleship's decks of its anti-aircraft guns. Then a dozen bombers would sonk it. The anti-aircraft guns might, but probably wouldn't, bring down a few pilots, destroy a trifling sum in airplanes. But airplanes would wipe out a $20,000,000 battleship and its great crew of men."

MANY people, including the government, must listen to Lindberg. That's the advantage of climbing to a high place among men. You can make others listen.

MLLE. RENEE VALETTE, 18-year-old French girl, crushed with grief, jumped off the Eiffel Tower, 1,000 feet high. Her dress caught 35 feet down and she was rescued. Powerful publicity and its results will now cure her suicidal thought. Her pictures wil be in the newspapers. Many gentlemen will want to marry her. She will realize that this world is interesting, not one to be left in a hurry.

MUCH of woman's trouble has been caused by her prejudice against her own sex, her lack of mercy for other women that go wrong, her contempt for women generally. Miss Bessie Mack of Chicago, accused of flirting by two policewomen, "beat them up" when they sought to arrest her. She surrendered peaceably to a very small policeman, saying, "No woman can arrest me."

Are you battling with bugs? Insects take as lively an interest in your home garden as you do. Unless you know how to combat them, they are going to eat your vegetables and you are not.

These experts have written a 46-page booklet, describing practically every bug and disease which can threaten your garden, and explaining how to combat them.

Our Washington Bureau will secure a copy of this invaluable guide for gardeners for any one who sends in his name and address with four cents in stamps for return postage and handling.

THOMPSON PARK ZONE TO FIGHT FOR RETENTION OF CAR LINE

Maplewood Residents Will Join Council's Forces.

ASK RAIL CHANGE

Franchise Question Chief Topic At Solons' Meeting.

Proposed abandonment of street car service on the Grandview line between Riverview cemetery and Thompson park by the Steubenville, East Liverpool & Beaver Valley Traction company, will be opposed by city council and residents of the Maplewood district, it was declared at last night's councilmanic session.

Campaign plans were outlined after a letter had been read from President J. H. Maxwell, who declared the company's revenue would not justify lowering tracks to the street grade north of La Belle avenue.

The franchise on the hilltop section of the line expired last December.

Solon W. H. Kelly, chairman of the franchise committee, reported the result of an interview with Maxwell. He also explained the efforts made by the franchise committee to have the rails on Union and Washington streets lifted by the company, and suggested that court action be instituted to have the mandate of council complied with. He announced that Maxwell had signified a willingness to meet with a committee of Klondyke residents and a member of council from East End to discuss operation of cars to the state line instead of Putnam street.

Other councilmen took part in the debate which ended with the passage of a motion that council as a whole act in conjunction with a committee of Maplewood residents in a movement to reain the Thompson park trolley service.

CLEVELAND, June 17.—In an address at the alumni luncheon of Western Reserve university here, former Supreme Court Justice John H. Clarke advocated the "spirit of the Locarno treaties as the new pathway to international amity."

ATLANTIC ACE MEETS ESCORT AT DAYTON ON FLIGHT TO WEST

Colonel Follows Direct Airline, Missing East Liverpool.

PITTSBURGH SAD

"Spirit of St. Louis" Leaves New York at 8:17.

DAYTON, O., June 17.—"We," with Colonel Charles Lindbergh at the stick, circled over Wilbur Wright field here today at 12:56 p. m. as 27 pilots, including the famous Selfridge field pursuit group, took off to escort the flyer to St. Louis.

Col. Lindbergh, after circling the field, piloted the "Spirit of St. Louis" from the field to the city of Dayton, where he circled the business district three times, flying low, but indulging in no "stunting." He then returned to the field, picked up the 27-plane escort, zoomed upward, and headed westward for the Indiana state line, 40 miles distant at 1:10 p. m.

COLUMBUS, O., June 17. [illegible] Norton [illegible] of persons who crowded the streets and the roofs and windows of downtown buildings.

Piloting the "Spirit of St. Louis" down to within a few hundred feet above the earth, Lindbergh zoomed the silver-winged monoplane between the skyscrapers, while the crowds yelled and applauded in delight.

A dozen local ships took the air to greet him, and stunted over the city, and Lindbergh continued his journey westward to Dayton.

He was flying at a good altitude, and averaged around 100 miles an hour.

Passes Over Zanesville.

ZANESVILLE, O., June 17.—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, piloting the "Spirit of St. Louis," passed over Zanesville at 11:50 a. m., Eastern Standard time.

His monoplane, escorted by two army machines, passed over the edge of the city, flying high and apparently moving at tremendous speed.

Zanesville is 58 miles east of Columbus, on the Baltimore and Ohio railway, which Colonel Lindbergh was following.

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., June 17. — Making excellent time over the treacherous Allegheny mountains, Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh and the two army planes accompanying him to St. Louis droned over Connellsville at 10:37 a. m. They were following the

DAILY VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL WILL PRESENT OPEN AIR PAGEANT AT THOMPSON PARK, JUNE 27-28

Under auspices of the Daily Vacation Bible school and the endorsement of the East Liverpool Ministerial Association an open air pageant, "The Story Beautiful," will be given by 300 persons from the various churches of this city at Thompson park on Monday and Tuesday evenings, June 27 and 28.

The event will be under the immediate direction of the Thomas Wade Lane Studios of Cleveland.

Accentuating the scenes depicted will be a 100-voice choir which will include the outstanding singers of the district.

Solo numbers, "Repent Ye" and "Crucify Him" will be sung by Thomas Wade Lane himself, who a day or two prior to the giving of the pageant will arrive in the city for the final rehearsal and also to direct the whole during both evenings of the engagement.

The pageant is now being booked throughout various cities of the country. At Meadville, Pa., and in Cleveland preparations for similar ones are now being made.

Thompson park is held by those directing the project to be ideal for the purpose.

Those taking part will occupy the north section near the middle of the flat surface part devoted to grass and flowers. Spectators will stand in the south area. The park's center will be utilized for the march of those taking part.

The used space of the performers will be 125 by 75 feet.

Two pianos will also be used to heighten the music. Special arrangement will be made for lighting.

Fifteen episodes of the life of Christ will be exhibited as follows:

"The Voice in the Wilderness," "The Baptism at the River," "The Selection of the Apostles," "The Sermon on the Mount," "Mary Seeking Her Son," "Feeding the Multitude," "The Sinful Woman," "Suffer the Little Children to Come Unto Me," "Entry to Jerusalem," "Purifying the Temple," "Gethsemane," "The Betrayal," "Before Pilate," "The March to Calvary" and "At Calvary."

In charge of the production are Miss Jean Medley, Helen Freeman Gigliotti, Rachel Travis Beckwith and Hazel Vere Williams.

Accident Prevention At a Bad Corner

Marking another step in the police department's campaign to reduce to a minimum traffic hazards at a dangerous intersection, a two-way automatic signal system is in operation today at the foot of the Lisbon street hill.

With no amber lens, the customary caution signal in other traffic lights, as part of the equipment in the installation, automotive vehicles will move on the green and stop on the red light. For a few seconds between signals there will be no flash, thus preventing a "running start" on the part of motorists bound up the Lisbon hill.

Under the four-lane plan in effect at the intersection, two lines of traffic will move on each signal—one on the East Liverpool-Wellsville route and another on the Lisbon street-Eighth street section.

Police will be kept on duty at the corner for several days, in order to enforce regulations until motorists become familiar with the arrangement. And in the meantime traffic officers are to be instructed to arrest all speeders.

The public is hopeful that the new plan shall prove a factor in reducing the accident toll which, seemingly, has increased at this point because of confusion, especially on the part of strangers, over the four-lane arrangement, the efficacy of which has been a matter of debate.

A Swimming Champion

A swimming event occurred the other day that really deserves attention.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Foster of New York were cruising to Florida on a yacht when, off the coast of North Carolina, the engine went dead. The tide was carrying the boat out to sea. There were no vessels in sight, and the shore was rapidly receding. The sea was running high. Help had to be got somehow. Mr. Foster, still ill from an operation, was incapable of manning a rowboat, or even entering one with his wife in that rough water.

So Mrs. Foster started out alone to bring help from shore. Her boat soon capsized in the heavy waves. So she slipped off her shoes and started swimming. She swam eight miles in that high sea, battling with waves, tide and undertow, and in peril of sharks, and fell in a dead faint as she finally reached the breakwater. Regaining consciousness, she walked two miles in her bare feet, over sharp rocks, until she reached a lighthouse. There she succeeded in attracting attention, and fishermen brought the drifting yacht to the harbor, saving her husband's life.

That, we submit, was as great a feat as swimming the English or Catalina channel. Greater, perhaps, because there was in it no trace of selfishness or vanity. Mrs. Foster simply had a big thing to do, and she did it, and is probably surprised to find herself proclaimed heroic.

Budgets

In the seven years since the federal budget has been in operation, the public debt has been reduced at the rate of a billion dollars a year.

The budget hasn't done it all, of course. A natural recession from war expenses has had much to do with it. Prosperity has had much to do with it. Administrative and congressional effort to hold down expenses has played an important part. But the establishment and maintenance of a budget system, planning expenditures in a businesslike way, trying to adapt income logically to outgo, has been the biggest constructive factor. It makes the spending of the nation's money a rational process instead of one based on whim, political influence and guesswork.

Yet there are a surprising lot of people, in public life and private life, who still don't seem to believe in budgets. That is one reason why so many states and cities don't get the worth of their taxpayers' money, why many businesses don't make money, why many families are always in the hole.

Poor Farms, Fine Forests

A few years ago much anxiety was expressed about the growing number of abandoned farms in New York state and other sections of the country. It has since been discovered that those farms were wisely abandoned. Their soil was not really fit for profitable farming. Nevertheless they had their usefulness and it was discovered.

In the state of New York alone, 2,147,102 acres of unfarmable land have been turned into public parks and forests. Private owners of land are setting out forests. The state forestry department expects to set out 30,000,000 trees this year and 40,000,000 in 1928.

What with private and municipal planting, the forest situation in that state is looking up rapidly.

It is a development that carries a useful hint to other regions of poor farming land which is often fine for tree-growing.

The company which is said to have insured an actress' smile for $50,000 is not taking any undue chances. 'Most any of us would smile the rest of our lives for $50,000.

OUT OF THE PRESCRIPTION DEPARTMENT

Prescriptions offer a fair enough field for the exercise of the inventive faculty by those geniuses who devise our native folk lore and think up our home-grown anecdotes. Yet it just has occurred to me that to date, I rather have slighted this fertile department. I hasten to make amends for the oversight by lumping together several typical specimens.

To begin with, there is the venerable yarn, so deeply prized by the antiquarians of American humor, of the deaf man who took a prescription to the corner drug store and on receiving a small vial said:

"How much?"

"Seventy-five cents," answered the druggist.

"Hey?" The purchaser cupped one hand against his ear.

"Seventy-five cents," repeated the prescriptionist, raising his voice.

"Oh, five cents," said the deaf man. "Much obliged." And he dropped a nickle in the hand of the other and departed.

The drug store man stared after him for a moment.

"Oh, well, let it go," he said. "Let's see—one cent for the bottle, one cent for the mixture and say, half a cent for the cork and the label and the string and the paper. At that, I clear two and a half cents on the deal."

Then there is another, also of great age, dealing with the small boy who walks into the pharmacy and asks for ten cents' worth of castor oil. The man behind the counter measures out the dose, puts it in a glass, adds a dash of lemon extract from the soda fountain and hands the tumbler to the youngster.

"There you are," he says "drink that down, son."

The lad drinks it down, then lingers about expectantly.

"Was there anything else?" inquires the clerk.

"I'm waiting for that castor oil," says the little fellow.

"But I gave it to you. It's down inside of you."

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, July 17. — Thoughts while strolling: A parrot in a mansion window pecking at a lifted foot. Nothing can look so bored as a parrot. Those low glossy bijoulike ears for poor little rich girls. Handbags that resemble stuffed puppies.

Persian cats with golden bells and jeweled clappers. Girls leaving shampoo parlors, like Venuses from clean waves. Richly dressed and no place to go. Those cold looking, impersonal Gold Coast doctors with Vandykes and lapel roses.

An amorous old baron who has had three American wives and is apparently searching for the fourth. Door tenders sullen in suffocating broadcloth. The mouveau richein castles — just a few years removed fom shacks on the hillside.

The senile dreariness of those ancient brownstone fronts. Women's hats now shaped like helmets. Tiny court yards with backless benches. Fat caretakers coming out of airless basements to cool off. Lazy dogs twitching in the searing sun.

The sooty smudge of a garage lined street. Glib mechanicians who seem car washers. Gaudy night clubs peeping through the oily smear. And a sprinkling of Italians in spats who look suspiciously like bootleggers.

A plump youth in white flannels cooling himself with a palm leaf fan. Deserted tea rooms. Why do red headed women wear pink? Never see freckles anymore. Chunks of dwindling ice in delicatesseen windows. Chorus girls gasping on theatre fire escapes.

A flash of lightning, threads of rain and the sweltering town heaves a collective sigh. Taxicab drivers scan clouds hopefully. Tired women burdened with bright bargains scuttle toward the terminals. And the sun glares out again.

A certain leading lady walks Fifth Avenue these hot afternoons with a Pomeranian dog dressed in a Red Riding hood cape, its head incased in the hood. It seems almost a case for the S. P. C. A.

One of those brash young men who seem to enjoy the idea of testing the immortality of the soul under wheels of taxis in heavy traffic centers was brushed and knocked down near the Public Library the other morning. A policeman rushed to his aid.

"Did you get the number of that taxi?" asked the victim anxiously.

"What are you doing, collecting them?" inquired the cop.

Dieting has received a setback. Luncheon places report women are no longer nibbling at sprays of lettuce and topping it off with crystalized violets for dessert. They are lunching substantially. The reason is not clear, although one maitre de hotel says he believes recent articles emphasizing the dangers of dieting in newspapers and magazines have contributed largely to increased ordering.

It is beyond dispute that many beautiful women have grown drawn and ugly as the result of enforced starvation. The process was unnatural and results in some instances were quite disastrous.

A new form of invitation to have a drink among those who go in for the latest in cigarette wrist tapping and such: "What will you have to take?"

In one of the murmur mosques is a sign: "Help us obey the closing law by leaving at 3 a. m. sharp." And near it is another reading: "Please do not try to hail taxicabs at the door after 5 a. m. Go to the corner."

Confusing, this Broadway after dark!

HASKINS' LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

The Equal Rights Amendment.

WASHINGTON, D. D., June 17.—At the next session of Congress there will be a renewal of the fight over the proposed "Equal Rights Amendment," sometimes referred to as the "Woman's Rights Amendment," and there are indications that it will be waged more vigorously than ever before That Congress will pass the resolution that would submit the amendment to the several state for ratification is a matter of doubt, but it is altogether certain that the national lawmaking body will hear or receive a great mass of evidence and arguments on both sides of the controversy.

The proposed amendment is snappy and to the point. It provides succintly that "Men and women have equal rights throughout the United States and every place subject to its jurisdiction."

Organizations of women are arrayed against each other in the fight already made and in prospect, which will probably make it easier for men legislators to avoid or defer the issue. The amendment is sponsored by the Woman's Party, which was the militant organization in the battle for woman suffrage, but it is stated that up to the present time that is the only national organization of women that is supporting it.

Eleven such organizations are said to be actively opposing the amendment, while several others have listed it among matters to be studied. Leading the opposition is the National League of Women Voters, which has just fired the first broadside in the renewal of the battle. This takes the form of a monograph on "Special Legislation for Women in Industry," prepared by Miss Julia M. Hicks, of the Connecticut state league.

It epitomizes the case of the opposition by declaring with emphasis that women should have equal rights with men, but even more forcibly that they should not be given identical rights. "The National League of Women Voters seek equal opportunity for men and women to develop and exercise their abilities in every field. It believes that this equality of opportunity should be practical and real. It differs from the Woman's Party as to what equality means and as to the method of securing it."

Would Nullify Special Laws.

The League is not so much concerned about business women and profes-

Accident Prevention At a Bad Corner

Marking another step in the police department's campaign to reduce to a minimum traffic hazards at a dangerous intersection, a two-way automatic signal system is in operation today at the foot of the Lisbon street hill.

With no amber lens, the customary caution signal in other traffic lights, as part of the equipment in the installation, automotive vehicles will move on the green and stop on the red light. For a few seconds between signals there will be no flash, thus preventing a "running start" on the part of motorists bound up the Lisbon hill.

Under the four-lane plan in effect at the intersection, two lines of traffic will move on each signal—one on the East Liverpool-Wellsville route and another on the Lisbon street-Eighth street section.

Police will be kept on duty at the corner for several days, in order to enforce regulations until motorists become familiar with the arrangement. And in the meantime traffic officers are to be instructed to arrest all speeders.

The public is hopeful that the new plan shall prove a factor in reducing the accident toll which, seemingly, has increased at this point because of confusion, especially on the part of strangers, over the four-lane arrangement, the efficacy of which has been a matter of debate.

A Swimming Champion

A swimming event occurred the other day that really deserves attention.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Foster of New York were cruising to Florida on a yacht when, off the coast of North Carolina, the engine went dead. The tide was carrying the boat out to sea. There were no vessels in sight, and the shore was rapidly receding. The sea was running high. Help had to be got somehow. Mr. Foster, still ill from an operation, was incapable of manning a rowboat, or even entering one with his wife in that rough water.

So Mrs. Foster started out alone to bring help from shore. Her boat soon capsized in the heavy waves. So she slipped off her shoes and started swimming. She swam eight miles in that high sea, battling with waves, tide and undertow, and in peril of sharks, and fell in a dead faint as she finally reached the breakwater. Regaining consciousness, she walked two miles in her bare feet, over sharp rocks, until she reached a lighthouse. There she succeeded in attracting attention, and fishermen brought the drifting yacht to the harbor, saving her husband's life.

That, we submit, was as great a feat as swimming the English or Catalina channel. Greater perhaps, because there was in it no trace of selfishness or vanity. Mrs. Foster simply had a big thing to do, and she did it, and is probably surprised to find herself proclaimed heroic.

Budgets

In the seven years since the federal budget has been in operation, the public debt has been reduced at the rate of a billion dollars a year.

The budget hasn't done it all, of course. A natural recession from war expenses has had much to do with it. Prosperity has had much to do with it. Administrative and congressional effort to hold down expenses has played an important part. But the establishment and maintenance of a budget system, planning expenditures in a businesslike way, trying to adapt income logically to outgo, has been the biggest constructive factor. It makes the spending of the nation's money a rational process instead of one based on whim, political influence and guesswork.

Yet there are a surprising lot of people, in public life and private life, who still don't seem to believe in budgets. That is one reason why so many states and cities don't get the worth of their taxpayers' money, why many businesses don't make money, why many families are always in the hole.

Poor Farms, Fine Forests

A few years ago much anxiety was expressed about the growing number of abandoned farms in New York state and other sections of the country. It has since been discovered that those farms were wisely abandoned. Their soil was not really fit for profitable farming. Nevertheless they had their usefulness and it was discovered.

In the state of New York alone, 2,147,102 acres of unfarmable land have been turned into public parks and forests. Private owners of land are setting out forests. The state forestry department expects to set out 30,000,000 trees this year and 40,000,000 in 1928.

What with private and municipal planting, the forest situation in that state is looking up rapidly.

It is a development that carries a useful hint to other regions of poor farming land which is often fine for tree-growing.

The company which is said to have insured an actress' smile for $50,000 is not taking any undue chances. 'Most any of us would smile the rest of our lives for $50,000.

OUT OF THE PRESCRIPTION DEPARTMENT

Prescriptions offer a fair enough field for the exercise of the inventive faculty by those geniuses who devise our native folk lore and think up our home-grown anecdotes. Yet it just has occurred to me that to date, I rather have slighted this fertile department. I hasten to make amends for the oversight by lumping together several typical specimens.

To begin with, there is the venerable yarn, so deeply prized by the antiquarians of American humor, of the deaf man who took a prescription to the corner drug store and on receiving a small vial said:

"How much?"

"Seventy-five cents," answered the druggist.

"Hey?" The purchaser cupped one hand against his ear.

"Seventy-five cents," repeated the prescriptionist, raising his voice.

"Oh, five cents," said the deaf man. "Much obliged." And he dropped a nickle in the hand of the other and departed.

The drug store man stared after him for a moment.

"Oh, well, let it go," he said. "Let's see—one cent for the bottle, one cent for the mixture and say, half a cent for the cork and the label and the string and the paper. At that, I clear two and a half cents on the deal."

Then there is another, also of great age, dealing with the small boy who walks into the pharmacy and asks for ten cents' worth of castor oil. The man behind the counter measures out the dose, puts it in a glass, adds a dash of lemon extract from the soda fountain and hands the tumbler to the youngster.

"There you are," he says "drink that down, son."

The lad drinks it down, then lingers about expectantly.

"Was there anything else?" inquires the clerk.

"I'm waiting for that castor oil," says the little fellow.

"But I gave it to you. It's down inside of you."

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, July 17. — Thoughts while strolling: A parrot in a mansion window pecking at a lifted foot. Nothing can look so bored as a parrot. Those low glossy bijoulike ears for poor little rich girls. Handbags that resemble stuffed puppies.

Persian cats with golden bells and jeweled clappers. Girls leaving shampoo parlors, like Venuses from clean waves. Richly dressed and no place to go. Those cold looking, impersonal Gold Coast doctors with Vandykes and lapel roses.

An amorous old baron who has had three American wives and is apparently searching for the fourth. Door tenders sullen in suffocating broadcloth. The mouveau richein castles — just a few years removed fom shacks on the hillside.

The senile dreariness of those ancient brownstone fronts. Women's hats now shaped like helmets. Tiny court yards with backless benches. Fat caretakers coming out of airless basements to cool off. Lazy dogs twitching in the searing sun.

The sooty smudge of a garage lined street. Glib mechanicians who seem car washers. Gaudy night clubs peeping through the oily smear. And a sprinkling of Italians in spats who look suspiciously like bootleggers.

A plump youth in white flannels cooling himself with a palm leaf fan. Deserted tea rooms. Why do red headed women wear pink? Never see freckles anymore. Chunks of dwindling ice in delicatessen windows. Chorus girls gasping on theatre fire escapes.

A flash of lightning, threads of rain and the sweltering town heaves a collective sigh. Taxicab drivers scan clouds hopefully. Tired women burdened with bright bargains scuttle toward the terminals. And the sun glares out again.

A certain leading lady walks Fifth Avenue these hot afternoons with a Pomeranian dog dressed in a Red Riding hood cape, its head incased in the hood. It seems almost a case for the S. P. C. A.

One of those brash young men who seem to enjoy the idea of testing the immortality of the soul under wheels of taxis in heavy traffic centers was brushed and knocked down near the Public Library the other morning. A policeman rushed to his aid.

"Did you get the number of that taxi?" asked the victim anxiously.

"What are you doing, collecting them?" inquired the cop.

Dieting has received a setback. Luncheon places report women are no longer nibbling at sprays of lettuce and topping it off with crystalized violets for dessert. They are lunching substantially. The reason is not clear, although one maitre de hotel says he believes recent articles emphasizing the dangers of dieting in newspapers and magazines have contributed largely to increased ordering.

It is beyond dispute that many beautiful women have grown drawn and ugly as the result of enforced starvation. The process was unnatural and results in some instances were quite disastrous.

A new form of invitation to have a drink among those who go in for the latest in cigarette wrist tapping and such: "What will you have to take?"

In one of the murmur mosques is a sign: "Help us obey the closing law by leaving at 3 a. m. sharp." And near it is another reading: "Please do not try to hail taxicabs at the door after 5 a. m. Go to the corner."

Confusing, this Broadway after dark!

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

The Equal Rights Amendment.

WASHINGTON, D. D., June 17.—At the next session of Congress there will be a renewal of the fight over the proposed "Equal Rights Amendment," sometimes referred to as the "Woman's Rights Amendment," and there are indications that it will be waged more vigorousy than ever before That Congress will pass the resolution that would submit the amendment to the several state for ratification is a matter of doubt, but it is altogether certain that the national lawmaking body will hear or receive a great mass of evidence and arguments on both sides of the controversy.

The proposed amendment is snappy and to the point. It provides succintly that "Men and women have equal rights throughout the United States and every place subject to its jurisdiction."

Organizations of women are arrayed against each other in the fight already made and in prospect, which will probably make it easier for men legislators to avoid or defer the issue. The amendment is sponsored by the Woman's Party, which was the militant organization in the battle for woman suffrage, but it is stated that up to the present time that is the only national organization of women that is supporting it.

Eleven such organizations are said to be actively opposing the amendment, while several others have listed it among matters to be studied. Leading the opposition is the National League of Women Voters, which has just fired the first broadside in the renewal of the battle. This takes the form of a monograph on "Special Legislation for Women in Industry," prepared by Miss Julia M. Hicks, of the Connecticut state league.

It epitomizes the case of the opposition by declaring with emphasis that women should have equal rights with men, but even more forcibly that they should not be given identical rights. "The National League of Women Voters seek equal opportunity for men and women to develop and exercise their abilities in every field. It believes that this equality of opportunity should be practical and real. It differs from the Woman's Party as to what equality means and as to the method of securing it."

Would Nullify Special Laws.

Record for Pouring of Concrete Hung Up by Holmes Company.

Holmes Construction company of Wooster hung up a record for road building last week and this, on Thursday of last week they poured 1,036 feet of 16-ft. concrete. On Monday of this week they broke their own record by pouring 1,114 feet. In the last two weeks this firm has poured over 9,000 feet of road or 1 7-10 miles and missed one-half day on account of rain. They are paving the Salineville-Summitville road. Wednesday they completed eveything in Franklin township except about 1,200 feet. This is located along their siding where they are unloading and will have to be the last they put in.

This is the first hard surfaced pavement in Franklin township.

It was their original intention to move their equipment to Salineville and pour the remainder of the road from that point. However, since the Foster mine at that point is working it is impossible to use their siding and they have decided to haul all material from Summitville and within a few days they will be able to haul over they road they have just poured.

The Lewis and Copeland company of Lima completed a road job in Coshocton county Tuesday. They will immediately move their equipment to sub-station and commence work on I. C. H. 502 from sub-station to Apples and up Cope hollow past the township line school their contract goes from sub-station to Apples and from township line school to top of Williamsport hill.

This same company is making fair progress on the Columbiana-New Waterford road, their daily average is somewhere sound 400 feet per day of 16-foot concrete road.

The Mellert-Weidner company of Medina, working on the Salem-Hanoverton road, are making good progress, but have been delayed on account of rainy weather and a bad subgrade. They have poured in the last two weeks, however, over 6,000 feet of 16-foot concrete notwithstanding the weather.

Lewis and Copeland by the end of June should complete all of the grading on the Youngstown road from township line school to top of hill at Williamsport. Their rough grading will all be completed by Tuesday of next week. All concrete structures are now completed.

The Allison-Harris company are expecting daily their new steam shovel. This will be moved to Cannon's Mill to complete the fill at the new bridge Mr. Armstrong is just completing.

H. C. Armstrong has started construction of culverts and bridges on the Liverpool-Palestine road out of Calcutta.

J. D. Paxson has completed the Salem-Franklin Square road out of Salem. This road was let last year. Paxson is now working on the Columbiana-Canfield road in Mahoning county. There is about 800 feet of this road in this county. This road was let last year.

BETHANY PLANS NEW BUILDINGS

Million Dollar Program Approved by Board of Trustees.

Building program including the expenditure of approximately $1,000,000 and to extend over the next few years was announced by President Cloyd Goodnight, D. D., of Bethany college at the annual alumni banquet held this week.

The program has been approved by the Board of Trustees and work will begin as soon as landscape gardeners and architects look over the campus for the most desirable location for the new buildings which will include two new dormitories.

The president also announced that the enrollment would be increased to 450 as soon as housing facilities would permit. The school in the past has made a practice of keeping the enrollment below the 300 mark but as soon as the building program is well underway the limit will be placed at the new mark.

The president stated that the college endowment at present is practically one and three-quarter million dollars while the estimate placed on the buildings and equipment is less than a million.

The present endowment together with increases in departmental work at the college, would be able to take care of the current expenses of the school, and to allow an extension in the building programs.

Plans and specifications for the new dormitories will be asked for immediately by the board, whose plans are for the construction of the new buildings would be for completion by the end of another school term. No building price was given for the new buildings. The two buildings will be constructed to accomodate 170 students combined.

FIND NO TRACE OF NUNGESSER

Mystery of Flare Signals In Quebec Unsolved.

QUEBEC, Que., June 17.—The mystery of the supposed flare signals reported to have been seen near St. Germain township in the mountainous wilderness north of the Saguenay river was still unsolved today, but hope that they might have come from the missing French aviators, Charles Nungesser and Francois Coli, has almost been abandoned.

Flashes were reported Sunday night, Tuesday night, Wednesday night and again last night.

Doubt is now expressed by supporters of the early theory that Nungesser and Coli were stranded in the northern part of Quebec province. However, hope has not been abandoned entirely that the men may be found alive in the wilderness.

Word was received from Chicoutimi that flashes had been seen last night about 9 o'clock in the same district where the earlier "signals" were reported.

BETHANY PLANS NEW BUILDINGS

Million Dollar Program Approved by Board of Trustees.

Building program including the expenditure of approximately $1,000,000 and to extend over the next few years was announced by President Cloyd Goodnight, D. D., of Bethany college at the annual alumni banquet held this week.

The program has been approved by the Board of Trustees and work will begin as soon as landscape gardeners and architects look over the campus for the most desirable location for the new buildings which will include two new dormitories.

The president also announced that the enrollment would be increased to 450 as soon as housing facilities would permit. The school in the past has made a practice of keeping the enrollment below the 300 mark but as soon as the building program is well underway the limit will be placed at the new mark.

The president stated that the college endowment at present is practically one and three-quarter million dollars while the estimate placed on the buildings and equipment is less than a million.

The present endowment together with increases in departmental work at the college, would be able to take care of the current expenses of the school, and to allow an extension in the building programs.

Plans and specifications for the new dormitories will be asked for immediately by the board, whose plans are for the construction of the new buildings would be for completion by the end of another school term. No building price was given for the new buildings. The two buildings will be constructed to accomodate 170 students combined.

Lodgemen and members of their families will attend. Excursion rates will prevail on both the Steubenville, East Liverpool & Beaver Valley Traction company and the Youngstown & Ohio River railroad lines. Many picnickers will make the trip by automobile.

An athletic program, followed by a beauty contest, will be featured in the afternoon. The list of events, winners of which will receive attractive prizes, follow:

Prizes will be given the oldest Odd Fellow attending the outing, the oldest Rebekah and the largest family. Drawing for the dinner set which will be given away will take place in front of the park office at 6:30 o'clock.

A baseball game between the Steubenville and Wellsburg lodge teams will be played on the Chester High school grounds at 3:30 o'clock. The two teams played here two weeks ago, Steubenville winning by a close score.

FIND NO TRACE OF NUNGESSER

Mystery of Flare Signals In Quebec Unsolved.

QUEBEC, Que., June 17.—The mystery of the supposed flare signals reported to have been seen near St. Germain township in the mountainous wilderness north of the Saguenay river was still unsolved today, but hope that they might have come from the missing French aviators, Charles Nungesser and Francois Coli, has almost been abandoned.

Flashes were reported Sunday night, Tuesday night, Wednesday night and again last night.

Doubt is now expressed by supporters of the early theory that Nungesser and Coli were stranded in the northern part of Quebec province. However, hope has not been abandoned entirely that the men may be found alive in the wilderness.

Word was received from Chicoutimi that flashes had been seen last night about 9 o'clock in the same district where the earlier "signals" were reported.

LINDY HAS RESCUED AVIATION IN U. S., WAR BIRDS SAY

AERIAL ESCORT MEMBERS PAY HIM TRIBUTE

MEET AT DAYTON

Ocean Jumper's Feat Came at Opportune Moment.

BY WILLIAM K. HUTCHISON.

WITH LINDBERGH ARMY ESCORT, ENROUTE TO ST. LOUIS, June 17.—"Lindy has rescued aviation in the United States." The war birds of America—those men who will fight the next war in the skies—paid this tribute today to Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, in recognition of his heroic conquest of the trans Atlantic ether.

While awaiting a rendezvous with Lindbergh in the skies above Dayton, Ohio, the cream of America's army birdmen declared Lindbergh had awakened the conscience of the American people to the necessity for prompt development of both commercial and military aviation.

The army pilots who flew from Washington to New York with Lindbergh and who were to accompany him from Dayton to St. Louis were of single voice when it came to speaking of Lindy's feat. He put on one fine show, said one bronzed warrior of the skies and his comrades gathered around a mess table echoed "He sure did." To the army birdmen Lindbergh's feat came at a most opportune moment.

Feat Awakens People.

America first developed aviation, they said, and then allowed most of the great nations of the world to come along and surpass it in air strength. It was Lindy they added whose feat awakened the people to teh necessity for a revival of aeronautics in America and the revival already has gotten under way.

"Lindy has given aviation a boost all over the country" observed Lieut. E. E. Tiny Harmon, who flew with the colonel in army air training camps "The biggest kick army pilots get out of his feat is the fact that he left New York knowing that if he did get across the ocean he would land in Paris after dark on a perfectly strange field.

"Knowing the danger of such an effort aside from getting over the ocean he just went ahead and did it. That's what gets the pilots. And he's helped aviation everywhere. I know two boys who bought a commercial plane the day before Lindy landed in Paris. They paid for it out of their receipts in three days. It's the same now with all commercial aviation. Lindy has rescued it."

33 Planes In Escort.

The same sentiment was expressed by Captain Andrew W. Smith, the oldest flying flight surgeon in the army.

"We give him all the credit in the world," said Captain Smith. "Lindy's flight was the biggest boost ever given aviation in this country."

The army's air escort for Lindbergh concentrated at Dayton was composed of 21 fast pursuit planes from Selfridge field, Michigan, six observation planes from Bolling field, Washington and a half dozen other planes from Wright field, Dayton. The army flyers had a rendezvous with Lindbergh in the skies above Dayton for 1 o'clock, after which they planned to escort him into St. Louis. On his flight from New York to Dayton Lindy was expected to pass over Pittsburgh and Columbus, Ohio. From Dayton to St. Louis the army men planned to follow the National highway passing over Richmond, Greenfield, Indianapolis, Greencastle and Terre Haute, Ind., Marshall, Effingham and Greenville, Illinois.

Open Air Pageant

members young Lindbergh as a boy and knows intimately some of the quartet from his home town who last week passed through East Liverpool for Washington.

She left Wednesday to introduce the preliminary work in Meadville, but will return here for the pageant.

Mrs. Beckwith, following her return to Cleveland today to witness tomorrow the marriage of her elder daughter Sabre Beckwith, to James Nichols, son of a Russian officer attached to the guard of the late Czar Nicholas, will come back to East Liverpool Sunday morning. She is in charge of the dramatic activities of the Lane Studios.

Here now and remaining for the production except for a day or two in Meadville, Pa., is Helen Freeman Gigliotti, of Cleveland. She is the director of the concert department of the Lane studios. She will look after the business interests and the arranging of the music.

Hazel Vere Williams, of Cleveland, dramatic director, who was here for nearly two days, left today to take charge of the Meadville pageant.

The manager of the grounds is Claude Saner, of Cleveland. He arrived here Wednesday.

The scenario of the pageant was written by Sidney Langdon, the Chautauqua impersonator and lecturer, who has several times appeared in East Liverpool.

The big choir will have a male, women's and mixed chorus parts during the production.

Initial practice was held at the Y. M. C. A. banquet rooms on Thursday evening. Open air rehearsals will begin next week.

Music, Prof. Hugh Laughlin; tickets, Miss Polen; Bible school, Miss Alma Taylor; grounds, Leland Thompson and Thomas Hindle.

The pageant is destined, its promoters believe, to serve a religious slant to the efforts of churches and religious bodies in impressing on spectators as the spoken word or pictures cannot do the sublimity attached to the early life of the Nazarene.

Food Sale.

Saturday afternoon at Ogilvie's store. Benefit Girls' Mission circle of First United Presbyterian church.

Colonel Lindbergh Faces Rain On Last Lap of His Flight

ST. LOUIS, June 17.—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh and his aerial escort flying to St. Louis today may have to complete the last part of their journey in rain.

A drizzle started falling in St. Louis this morning and according to the weather bureau here showers are expected over central Illinois.

West Eighth Street Assessments.

Assessments levied on property holders for the recent improvement of West Eighth street amounting to $4.07 a foot were ordered cut in half. Decision was reached after an appeal for a reduction was made by Attorney Ben L. Bennett, representing the property owners. It was pointed out that the assessment of the Steubenville, East Liverpool and Beaver Valley Traction company had been reduced in the sum of $5,468.88 which was held illegal by Attorney Bennett and Solicitor Hoover.

Motion was passed directing the ordinance committee to prepare a resolution for presentation at the next meeting restoring the Traction company's assessment to the original figure and, in addition, allow the property owners a reduction of 24 cents per foot of frontage.

Mayor Ralph C. Benedum's veto of the sidewalk obstruction ordinance repealer was received and filed. His message on allowing the mayor's salary reduction ordinance to become a law without his signature was also filed.

Refund Sewer Assessments.

Clerk Shone read two communications opposing a reduction in the salary of the mayor. The first was from the East End Civic association, while the other was from Crusade Union, Women's Christian Temperance Union. Both were ordered filed.

The ordinance committee was instructed to prepare a resolution to reimburse James Hodgkinson in the amount of $91.27 for an illegal sewer assessment in Young's alley. Like action was taken upon the complaint of excessive sewer assessment levied against an Edgeworth avenue property owner.

Harry Peach, president of the Adamant Porcelain company, asked that council act in regard to the water damaging the railroad tracks near his plant. The complaint was referred to the service-safety director.

Ordinance to issue bonds to pay for the city's share of the West Eighth street improvement was passed on second reading by a vote of 4 to 3.

Carnival Under Fire.

After a motion was carried to adjourn to meet at the call of the chair, President N. P. Kerr took occasion to criticize persons responsible for bringing a carnival to the city this week. He declared it was not fair to merchants to have outsiders operate all kind of chance cards under the auspices of the police department, and next week to arrest local men for the same offense. He called attention to the law relative to examinations for food handlers, and asserted that foodstuffs were being handed out on the carnival grounds by people from all sections of the country who had never undergone examination as to their fitness to handle food.

Service-Safety Director J. W. Moore assured council that no other carnival permits would be issued during the year. He expressed his opposition to carnivals in general during his remarks.

Ordinances Enacted.

The following ordinances and resolutions were passed under suspension of rules:

Ordinance to proceed with the grading and paving of Orchard Grove avenue to Smithfield street.

Ordinance to proceed with the improvement by paving of West Sixth street from Monroe to West alley.

Resolution authorizing the service-safety department to proceed with the improvement of Tanyard run by installing a drain or culvert over West alley at a cost not to exceed $495. Balance of cost will be met by the Litten Motor company.

Ordinance to proceed with the grading and paving of Oakwood avenue to Pleasant Heights.

Ordinance authorizing grading of Erie street, Dewey and Maryland avenue to Pennsylvania avenue.

Ordinance to proceed with the construction of a sanitary sewer in Etna alley to Black Oak alley.

Ordinance authorizing installation of a sanitary sewer in Young's alley to Daisy alley.

Ordinance to issue bonds in the amount of $2,570 to pay final judgments in cases of Nora Irwin and Harry A. Carraher.

Ordinance authorizing improvement of West Ninth street was laid over until the next meeting.

Ordinance amending the budget measure to grant the safety department $350 was held over owing to an error in the verbiage.

Ordinance providing that show or excursion boats exhibiting or carrying passengers from the local wharf pay a license fee of $10, and $5 for each successive day.

MISS UPDEGRAFF DECLINES POST OF LIBRARIAN

Miss Jane Irwin Named By School Board of Directors.

SALARY IS $1,350

No Action Taken On High School Principalship.

The board of education was advised last night by Superintendent C. S. McVay that Miss Florence Updegraff, retiring high school principal, has declined the proffered appointment as school librarian.

The board then approved the appointment by the teachers' committee of Miss Jane Irwin, daughter of Mrs. J. W. Irwin, East End, as school librarian and clerk to the high school principal. Her salary will be $1,350 for 10 months, or $135 per month.

Miss Irwin is a graduate of Wilson college, Mercersberg, Pa., and is now taking a summer course in library work at the Case School of Applied Science, Cleveland.

The board also approved the appointment of Miss Eva Bailey and Miss Freda Rayburn as teachers in the elementary schools.

No action was taken on the appointment of a high school principal to succeed Miss Updegraff. Superintendent McVay, who said that he had received several applications, has arranged to interview applicants at the summer meeting of the Ohio State Teachers' association which will be held at Cedar Point, next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. The board granted him a leave of absence to attend this meeting.

The board also placed an order for 500 seats, 60 backs, 10 desks and 12 chairs with State Senator Harry Carpenter, Steubenville, representing the American Seating company, of Chicago. The price of these furnishings will be $2,537. The equipment will be used in additional school rooms which are to be opened in the Horace Mann, Sixth street, Central and West End schiil buildings in September.

Contract for replacement parts for school furnaces was awarded the American Heating & Ventilating company, of Cleveland, and to The Stanton Heating company of Martins Ferry.

August Kuhn was named janitor of the McKinley school, to succeed Samuel Bucher. The appointment will become effective July 16 when Bucher retires.

SAN FRANCISCO BIDS FOR FIGHT

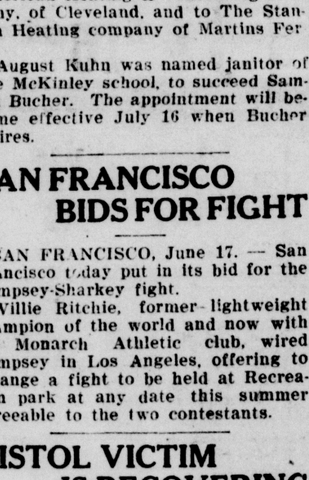
SAN FRANCISCO, June 17. — San Francisco today put in its bid for the Dempsey-Sharkey fight.

Willie Ritchie, former lightweight champion of the world and now with the Monarch Athletic club, wired Dempsey in Los Angeles, offering to arrange a fight to be held at Recreation park at any date this summer agreeable to the two contestants.

PISTOL VICTIM IS RECOVERING

Harry A. Skelton, taxicab driver, who accidently shot himself while handling a 25-caliber automatic revolver as he was sitting in his cab awaiting the return of two passengers, late Tuesday night, was believed to be recovering at the City hospital today. The bullet entered the young man's right side, perforating his intestines and kidneys.

Victorious in Irish Elections



Countess Markievicz.

In the recent elections in Ireland, Countess Constance Markicvicz, once sentenced to death in the Sinn Fein rebellion of a few years ago, was elected to parliament in South Dublin. She is a member of the De Valera party. The countess was the first woman ever elected to the British House of Commons, before Lady Astor was accorded that honor but never took her seat.

President Goes To Rapid City to Meet Newspapermen

RAPID CITY, S. D., June 17.—It was a case of the mountain coming to Mahomet today—if the newspaper men covering President Coolidge in his Black Hills summer White House may be called prophets.

Reversing the original order wherein the press representatives motor 32 miles from Rapid City to the state game lodge to cover the president's vacation activities and then motor 32 miles back to file the story, Mr. Coolidge agreed to come to the temporary executive offices at Rapid City this morning and submit himself to an interview, subject to the usual restrictions.

Today's press conference will be held in the Rapid City High school in a room circled with blackboards—the executive's office during the summer. Adjoining class rooms house Secretary Everett Sanders, Private Secretary Edward T. Clark, doorkeeper Pat McKenna, and the stenographers, clerks and messengers who were brought from Washington that the official business of the White House might progress as usual.

Meanwhile, the presidential fishing will suffer until after lunch, to be served at the state game lodge at 1 o'clock. The lunch was to have been subordinated to a 2 o'clock press conference — mountain time—but Mrs. Coolidge put her foot down on this disruption of game lodge routine.

"Lindy" Flies Over Ohio

regular U. S. airline course to Uniontown.

SHIPPENSBURG, Pa., June 17.—A monoplane believed to be that of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, enroute from New York to St. Louis, passed over here at 9:37 a. m., Eastern standard time, headed for Chambersburg.

The monoplane had been following the Reading railroad, but on his Chambersburg route the flier passed the last Reading dispatcher's shack, heading his plane slightly south.

A few miles farther on this route Lindbergh will pass over the Allegheny mountains. Unless he changes his present course the plane is not expected to pass over Pittsburgh.

BEDFORD, Pa., June 17. —Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh and his escort of army airplanes flew over Bedford shortly after 10 a. m., Eastern Standard time, and headed toward Uniontown, according to reports received here. The flyers were having no trouble passing over the Allegheny mountains.

Circle Wright Plant.

CARLISLE JUNCTION, Pa., June 17.—Three planes, one believed to be that of Col Charles A. Lindbergh, on his New York to St. Louis hop, passed over here at 9:27 (Eastern Standard time) headed due west and following the lines of the Reading railroad.

HARRISBURG, Pa., June 17.—Three airplanes, one of which was believed to be Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's "Spirit of St. Louis," soared over a point several miles south of here at 9:20 a. m. (Eastern Standard time) according to a report received by the Reading railroad from a dispatcher.

PATERSON, N. J., June 17.—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh circled the Wright Aeronautical corporation's plant here today on his way west. The factory workers cheered him as he brought the "Spirit of St. Louis" down to an altitude of about 200 feet and made three turns around the factory grounds.

After this farewell to the men who made the motor that carried his airship from New York to France the flyer rose steadily, flying due west and soon passed on out of sight.

2,000 Cheer Take-off.

NEW YORK, June 17.—With a happy smile and a wave to the assembled throng, Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh hopped off from Mitchel Field at 8:17 this morning for St. Louis in his famous monoplane, "The Spirit of St. Louis."

He had planned to make the 900-mile westward flight in ten hours but it would be just like "Slim" to try and better his record jump from St. Louis to New York of seven hours and fifteen minutes.

More than 2,000 persons including many women, cheered as "we" soared gracefully into the air and headed due west.

"Lindy" executed his take off so quickly that the crowd was taken by surprise. Without easing the monoplane out of the hangar, as is customary, Lindbergh "opened her up" wide and roared out onto the field between two lines of spectators. He shot along for about 100 feet, and then rose sharply at an angle.

Within two minutes he was out of sight.

Weather Conditions Perfect.

Weather conditions were perfect for the take off. The sky was cloudless and the sun shining.

Just before he took off Lindbergh said he would fly a straight airline course for St. Louis. He said he would encircle New York city, proceeding directly to Columbus, pass over Wilbur Wright field at Dayton, O., where he is to be met and escorted by 21 pursuit planes and that he may fly over Indianapolis.

He will land at Almbert Field, St. Louis, he said, and expects to arrive there at 4:30 p. m., Central time. He hoped to gain two hours by flying straight westward into the sun, he said.

New York's official goodbye was said by Grover A. Whalen, head of the city's welcoming committee.

"I enjoyed my stay and will be glad to come back again," said Lindbergh.

The Spirit of St. Louis sailed over Brooklyn, then crossed to New York, circled the Woolworth building as thousands watched and then headed over the Battery in westerly direction. Two planes followed him as he flew low over the Battery.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, June 17.—Stocks of the Southwestern-merger railroad group led a brilliant forward movement in the early trading today, in response to well-founded reports that L. F. Loree and powerful railroad magnates were rounding out an acceptable plan for the unification of those roads.

St. Louis Southwestern jumped an additional 5 points to 93 in the first period, the stock having completed a new rise of 15 points since yesterday noon. Kansas City Southern gained a point to 60, and Katy was up 1½ in an active turnover. Speculative buying also spread to other sections of the rail list, in which the general trend of prices was upward.

General Motors pushed forward to a new peak price of 205½, on reports of a possible 100 per cent stock dividend this year, with the new stock carrying a 5 per cent dividend. A favorable impression was created by the may production report of the corporation, which showed an enormous increase in the volume of the cheaper grade of cars sold. Yellow Truck & Cab, an important subsidiary, carried its aggressive forward move to 33¾ before encountering heavy selling.

A 4 per cent renewal rate for call money, for week-end loans, was not surprising in view of the heavy increase in gold holdings reported by the reserve banks. Commodity markets were steady, with cotton up 6 to 8 points on the call, and wheat, corn and oats fractionally higher.

Industrial stocks moved forward under the lead of American Can in the second hour. United States Steel was inactive, but firm, with a good volume of stock taken at 122½. Mercantile stocks were also in demand in this period.

BAD WEATHER DELAYS BYRD

Ocean Flyer May Not Hop Off Before Monday.

NEW YORK, June 17.—Bad weather continues to delay the hop off of Commander Richard E. Byrd in the monoplane America for Europe.

It seemed probable this morning that Byrd would not be able to get away before Sunday.

Byrd said he certainly would not take off today.

There are two zones of adverse weather—one of 800 miles in diameter southeast of Newfoundland and the other 1,000 miles west of Scotland, also covering a wide area.

James H. Scarr, local forecaster, said the unfavorable weather is not likely to clear up for two days.

Meantime, the giant tri-motored Fokker plane is conditioned to go, except for the taking on of gasoline and food supplies which would require only a short time.

ST. LOUIS GOES WILD AS "SLIM" STARTS HOME

Lindbergh Frenzy Throws Town Into Civic Hysteria.

IN GALA DRESS

Wave of Emotionalism as Atlantic Ace Nears Missouri.

By Jerry Quisenberry.

ST. LOUIS, June 17.—The Lindbergh frenzy today had thrown St. Louis into civic hysteria.

"Slim" is coming home.

Nothing else matters. The city has locked its collective rolltop desk and let itself run wild in an orgy of adulation.

Flight bulletins have usurped the place of stock market tickers as St. Louis tensely follows the progress of his flight from the east.

The civic enthusiasm which followed the winning of the world's baseball championship last year threatens to become a mere ripple of excitement in comparison with the onrushing wave of emotionalism which will strike the city about 3:30 o'clock this afternoon, when the "ace of the Atlantic" will wing his way over the Mississippi river, and glide down over his adopted city.

Never has the city been in such a gala dress. Myriad flags and pictures of "Lindy" and tiny replicas of "The Spirit of St. Louis," hang in every street.

Theatres and cabanets have their special Lindbergh song numbers prepared and ready. Lindbergh placards, buttons, posters, stickers, dolls, hats, shoes and cravats fill the shop windows and flood the streets. New York, it seems, gave this city a few ideas on the importance of such occasions.

Carnival to Give Saturday Matinee; Show Prices Cut

Another large crowd attended the West's World Wonder Shows at the Patterson Field last night. The shows are exhibiting here for the benefit of the police and firemen's pension fund.

A special children's matinee performance will be given Saturday afternoon when a five-cent charge will be made for all shows and rides. The show will open at 6:30 o'clock tonight and the same hour on Saturday night.

The carnival will go to Oil City, Pa., next week where it will open a week's engagement.

Ohio Robber Goes to Prison.

URBANA, O., June 17. — Edgar L. Snyder, Springfield, today was enroute to the state penitentiary at Columbus, after being sentenced late Thursday to 15 years, when he pleaded guilty to the robbery of $13,000 from five card players in an Urbana hotel.

MARY PICKFORD HOME GUARDED

Beverly Hills Police Act As Result of Kidnaping Plot.

LOS ANGELES, June 17.—A heavily armed guard was stationed around the Beverly Hills home of Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks today as the result of an alleged plot to kidnap the diminutive actress and hold her for $100,000 ransom.

The guard was thrown around the Pickford estate when H. L. Brady of Palm Grove avenue, reported seeing three men following Miss Pickford. He said the movie star had been posing for street scenes and that when she left in her car, the three men followed in a large sedan.

Brady said as the men passed him he overheard one of them remark:

"There she goes. She'll be worth $100,000 to us."

Hollywood and Beverly Hills police were notified and a guard was immediately thrown around Pickfair, the movie star's home. As she rode home last night from the studio, Douglas Fairbanks, her husband, sat beside her with a riot gun in his lap. Several officers on motorcycles followed a short distance behind the car.

ITALY CHEERS FLYER PINEDO

Rome Is Enthusiastic Over Four-Continent Jumper.

ROME, June 17.—All Italy is as frantically enthusiastic over Commander Francesco De Pinedo as the United States is over Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh.

De Pinedo, who has arrived here after completing a four-continent airplane flight, is mobbed whenever he appears in public, his admirers refusing to permit him to proceed about his business as he wishes.

The government is giving a great banquet tonight in De Pinedo's honor, when it is understood he will be officially advised of his appointment as chief of staff for aviation.

The pope will receive the flyer tomorrow and is expected to confer a high honor upon him.

LINDY HAS RESCUED AVIATION IN U. S., WAR BIRDS SAY

AERIAL ESCORT MEMBERS PAY HIM TRIBUTE

Cream Of America's Army Flyers Await Hero of Skies.

MEET AT DAYTON

Ocean Jumper's Feat Came at Opportune Moment.

BY WILLIAM K. HUTCHISON.

WITH LINDBERGH ARMY ESCORT, ENROUTE TO ST. LOUIS, June 17.—"Lindy has rescued aviation in the United States." The war birds of America—those men who will fight the next war in the skies—paid this tribute today to Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, in recognition of his heroic conquest of the trans Atlantic ether.

While awaiting a rendezvous with Lindbergh in the skies above Dayton, Ohio, the cream of America's army birdmen declared Lindbergh had awakened the conscience of the American people to the necessity for prompt development of both commercial and military aviation.

The army pilots who flew from Washington to New York with Lindbergh and who were to accompany him from Dayton to St. Louis were of single voice when it came to speaking of Lindy's feat. He put on one fine show, said one bronzed warrior of the skies and his comrades gathered around a mess table echoed "He sure did." To the army birdmen Lindbergh's feat came at a most opportune moment.

Feat Awakens People.

America first developed aviation, they said, and then allowed most of the great nations of the world to come along and surpass it in air strength. It was Lindy they added whose feat awakened the people to teh necessity for a revival of aeronautics in America and the revival already has gotten under way.

"Lindy has given aviation a boost all over the country" observed Lieut. E. E. Tiny Harmon, who flew with the colonel in army air training camps "The biggest kick army pilots get out of his feat is the fact that he left New York knowing that if he did get across the ocean he would land in Paris after dark on a perfectly strange field.

"Knowing the danger of such an effort aside from getting over the ocean he just went ahead and did it. That's what gets the pilots. And he's helped aviation everywhere. I know two boys who bought a commercial plane the day before Lindy landed in Paris. They paid for it out of their receipts in three days. It's the same now with all commercial aviation. Lindy has rescued it."

33 Planes in Escort.

The same sentiment was expressed by Captain Andrew W. Smith, the oldest flying flight surgeon in the army.

"We give him all the credit in the world," said Captain Smith. "Lindy's flight was the biggest boost ever given aviation in this country."

The army's air escort for Lindbergh concentrated at Dayton was composed of 21 fast pursuit planes from Selfridge field, Michigan, six observation planes from Bolling field, Washington and a half dozen other planes from Wright field, Dayton. The army flyers had a rendezvous with Lindbergh in the skies above Dayton for 1 o'clock, after which they planned to escort him into St. Louis. On his flight from New York to Dayton Lindy was expected to pass over Pittsburgh and Columbus, Ohio. From Dayton to St. Louis the army men planned to follow the National highway passing over Richmond, Greenfield, Indianapolis, Greencastle and Terre Haute, Ind., Marshall, Effingham and Greenville, Illinois.

members young Lindbergh as a boy and knows intimately some of the quartet from his home town who last week passed through East Liverpool for Washington.

She left Wednesday to introduce the preliminary work in Meadville, but will return here for the pageant.

Mrs. Beckwith, following her return to Cleveland today to witness tomorrow the marriage of her elder daughter Sabre Beckwith, to James Nichols, son of a Russian officer attached to the guard of the late Czar Nicholas, will come back to East Liverpool Sunday morning. She is in charge of the dramatic activities of the Lane Studios.

Here now and remaining for the production except for a day or two in Meadville, Pa., is Helen Freeman Gigliotti, of Cleveland. She is the director of the concert department of the Lane studios. She will look after the business interests and the arranging of the music.

Hazel Vere Williams, of Cleveland, dramatic director, who was here for nearly two days, left today to take charge of the Meadville pageant.

The manager of the grounds is Claude Saner, of Cleveland. He arrived here Wednesday.

The scenario of the pageant was written by Sidney Langdon, the Chautauqua impersonator and lecturer, who has several times appeared in East Liverpool.

The big choir will have a male, women's and mixed chorus parts during the production.

Initial practice was held at the Y. M. C. A. banquet rooms on Thursday evening. Open air rehearsals will begin next week.

In charge of the local arrangements are the following as committee chairmen:

Music, Prof. Hugh Laughlin; tickets, Miss Polen; Bible school, Miss Alma Taylor; grounds, Leland Thompson and Thomas Hindle.

The pageant is destined, its promoters believe, to serve a religious slant to the efforts of churches and religious bodies in impressing on spectators as the spoken word or pictures cannot do the sublimity attached to the early life of the Nazarene.

Colonel Lindbergh Faces Rain On Last Lap of His Flight

ST. LOUIS, June 17.—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh and his aerial escort flying to St. Louis today may have to complete the last part of their journey in rain.

A drizzle started falling in St. Louis this morning and according to the weather bureau here showers are expected over central Illinois.

West Eighth Street Assessments.

Assessments levied on property holders for the recent improvement of West Eighth street amounting to $4.07 a foot were ordered cut in half. Decision was reached after an appeal for a reduction was made by Attorney Ben L. Bennett, representing the property owners. It was pointed out that the assessment of the Steubenville, East Liverpool and Beaver Valley Traction company had been reduced in the sum of $5,468.88 which was held illegal by Attorney Bennett and Solicitor Hoover.

Motion was passed directing the ordinance committee to prepare a resolution for presentation at the next meeting restoring the Traction company's assessment to the original figure and, in addition, allow the property owners a reduction of 24 cents per foot of frontage.

Mayor Ralph C. Benedum's veto of the sidewalk obstruction ordinance repealer was received and filed. His message on allowing the mayor's salary reduction ordinance to become a law without his signature was also filed.

Refund Sewer Assessments.

Clerk Shone read two communications opposing a reduction in the salary of the mayor. The first was from the East End Civic association, while the other was from Crusade Union, Women's Christian Temperance Union. Both were ordered filed.

The ordinance committee was instructed to prepare a resolution to reimburse James Hodgkinson in the amount of $91.27 for an illegal sewer assessment in Young's alley. Like action was taken upon the complaint of excessive sewer assessment levied against an Edgeworth avenue property owner.

Harry Peach, president of the Adamant Porcelain company, asked that council act in regard to the water damaging the railroad tracks near his plant. The complaint was referred to the service-safety director.

Ordinance to issue bonds to pay for the city's share of the West Eighth street improvement was passed on second reading by a vote of 4 to 3.

Carnival Under Fire.

After a motion was carried to adjourn to meet at the call of the chair, President N. P. Kerr took occasion to criticize persons responsible for bringing a carnival to the city this week. He declared it was not fair to merchants to have outsiders operate all kind of chance cards under the auspices of the police department, and next week to arrest local men for the same offense. He called attention to the law relative to examinations for food handlers, and asserted that foodstuffs were being handed out on the carnival grounds by people from all sections of the country who had never undergone examination as to their fitness to handle food.

Service Safety Director J. W. Moore assured council that no other carnival permits would be issued during the year. He expressed his opposition to carnivals in general during his remarks.

Ordinances Enacted.

The following ordinances and resolutions were passed under suspension of rules:

Ordinance to proceed with the grading and paving of Orchard Grove avenue to Smithfield street.

Ordinance to proceed with the improvement by paving of West Sixth street from Monroe to West alley.

Resolution authorizing the service-safety department to proceed with the improvement of Tanyard run by installing a drain or culvert over West alley at a cost not to exceed $495. Balance of cost will be met by the Litten Motor company.

Ordinance to proceed with the grading and paving of Oakwood avenue to Pleasant Heights.

Ordinance authorizing grading of Erie street, Dewey and Maryland avenue to Pennsylvania avenue.

Ordinance to proceed with the construction of a sanitary sewer in Etna alley to Black Oak alley.

Ordinance authorizing installation of a sanitary sewer in Young's alley to Daisy alley.

Ordinance to issue bonds in the amount of $2.570 to pay final judgments in cases of Nora Irwin and Harry A. Carraher.

Ordinance authorizing improvement of West Ninth street was laid over until the next meeting.

MISS UPDEGRAFF DECLINES POST OF LIBRARIAN

Miss Jane Irwin Named By School Board of Directors.

SALARY IS $1,350

No Action Taken On High School Principalship.

The board of education was advised last night by Superintendent C. S. McVay that Miss Florence Updegraff, retiring high school principal, has declined the proffered appointment as school librarian.

The board then approved the appointment by the teachers' committee of Miss Jane Irwin, daughter of Mrs. J. W. Irwin, East End, as school librarian and clerk to the high school principal. Her salary will be $1,350 for 10 months, or $135 per month.

Miss Irwin is a graduate of Wilson college, Mercersberg, Pa., and is now taking a summer course in library work at the Case School of Applied Science, Cleveland.

The board also approved the appointment of Miss Eva Bailey and Miss Freda Rayburn as teachers in the elementary schools.

No action was taken on the appointment of a high school principal to succeed Miss Updegraff. Superintendent McVay, who said that he had received several applications, has arranged to interview applicants at the summer meeting of the Ohio State Teachers' association which will be held at Cedar Point, next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. The board granted him a leave of absence to attend this meeting.

The board also placed an order for 500 seats, 60 backs, 10 desks and 12 chairs with State Senator Harry Carpenter, Steubenville, representing the American Seating company, of Chicago. The price of these furnishings will be $2.537. The equipment will be used in additional school rooms which are to be opened in the Horace Mann, Sixth street, Central and West End schiil buildings in September.

Contract for replacement parts for school furnaces was awarded the American Heating & Ventilating company, of Cleveland, and to The Stanton Heating company of Martins Ferry.

August Kuhn was named janitor of the McKinley school, to succeed Samuel Bucher. The appointment will become effective July 16 when Bucher retires.

SAN FRANCISCO BIDS FOR FIGHT

SAN FRANCISCO, June 17. — San Francisco today put in its bid for the Dempsey-Sharkey fight.

Willie Ritchie, former lightweight champion of the world and now with the Monarch Athletic club, wired Dempsey in Los Angeles, offering to arrange a fight to be held at Recreation park at any date this summer agreeable to the two contestants.

PISTOL VICTIM IS RECOVERING

Harry A. Skelton, taxicab driver, who accidently shot himself while handling a 25-caliber automatic revolver as he was sitting in his cab awaiting the return of two passengers, late Tuesday night, was believed to be recovering at the City hospital today. The bullet entered the young man's right side, perforating his intestines and kidneys.

Countess Markievicz.

In the recent elections in Ireland, Countess Constance Markievicz, once sentenced to death in the Sinn Fein rebellion of a few years ago, was elected to parliament in South Dublin. She is a member of the De Valera party. The countess was the first woman ever elected to the British House of Commons, before Lady Astor was accorded that honor but never took her seat.

President Goes To Rapid City to Meet Newspapermen

RAPID CITY, S. D., June 17.—It was a case of the mountain coming to Mahomet today—if the newspaper men covering President Coolidge in his Black Hills summer White House may be called prophets.

Reversing the original order wherein the press representatives motor 32 miles from Rapid City to the state game lodge to cover the president's vacation activities and then motor 32 miles back to file the story, Mr. Coolidge agreed to come to the temporary executive offices at Rapid City this morning and submit himself to an interview, subject to the usual restrictions.

Today's press conference will be held in the Rapid City High school in a room circled with blackboards—the executive's office during the summer. Adjoining class rooms house Secretary Everett Sanders, Private Secretary Edward T. Clark, doorkeeper Pat McKenna, and the stenographers, clerks and messengers who were brought from Washington that the official business of the White House might progress as usual.

Meanwhile, the presidential fishing will suffer until after lunch, to be served at the state game lodge at 1 o'clock. The lunch was to have been subordinated to a 2 o'clock press conference — mountain time—but Mrs. Coolidge put her foot down on this disruption of game lodge routine.

"Lindy" Flies Over Ohio

regular U. S. airline course to Uniontown.

SHIPPENSBURG, Pa., June 17.—A monoplane believed to be that of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, enroute from New York to St. Louis, passed over here at 9:37 a. m., Eastern standard time, headed for Chambersburg.

The monoplane had been following the Reading railroad, but on his Chambersburg route the flier passed the last Reading dispatcher's shack, heading his plane slightly south.

A few miles farther on this route Lindbergh will pass over the Allegheny mountains. Unless he changes his present course the plane is not expected to pass over Pittsburgh.

BEDFORD, Pa., June 17. — Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh and his escort of army airplanes flew over Bedford shortly after 10 a. m., Eastern Standard time, and headed toward Uniontown, according to reports received here. The flyers were having no trouble passing over the Allegheny mountains.

Circle Wright Plant.

CARLISLE JUNCTION, Pa., June 17.—Three planes, one believed to be that of Col Charles A. Lindbergh, on his New York to St. Louis hop, passed over here at 9:27 (Eastern Standard time) headed due west and following the lines of the Reading railroad.

HARRISBURG, Pa., June 17.—Three airplanes, one of which was believed to be Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's "Spirit of St. Louis," soared over a point several miles south of here at 9:20 a. m. (Eastern Standard time) according to a report received by the Reading railroad from a dispatcher.

PATERSON, N. J., June 17.—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh circled the Wright Aeronautical corporation's plant here today on his way west. The factory workers cheered him as he brought the "Spirit of St. Louis" down to an altitude of about 200 feet and made three turns around the factory grounds.

After this farewell to the men who made the motor that carried his airship from New York to France the flyer rose steadily, flying due west and soon passed on out of sight.

2,000 Cheer Take-off.

NEW YORK, June 17.—With a happy smile and a wave to the assembled throng, Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh hopped off from Mitchel Field at 8:17 this morning for St. Louis in his famous monoplane, "The Spirit of St. Louis."

He had planned to make the 900-mile westward flight in ten hours but it would be just like "Slim" to try and better his record jump from St. Louis to New York of seven hours and fifteen minutes.

More than 2,000 persons including many women, cheered as "we" soared gracefully into the air and headed due west.

"Lindy" executed his take off so quickly that the crowd was taken by surprise. Without easing the monoplane out of the hangar, as is customary, Lindbergh "opened her up" wide and roared out onto the field between two lines of spectators. He shot along for about 100 feet, and then rose sharply at an angle.

Within two minutes he was out of sight.

Weather Conditions Perfect.

Weather conditions were perfect for the take off. The sky was cloudless and the sun shining.

Just before he took off Lindbergh said he would fly a straight airline course for St. Louis. He said he would encircle New York city, proceeding directly to Columbus, pass over Wilbur Wright field at Dayton, O., where he is to be met and escorted by 21 pursuit planes and that he may fly over Indianapolis.

He will land at Almbert Field, St. Louis, he said, and expects to arrive there at 4:30 p. m., Central time. He hoped to gain two hours by flying straight westward into the sun, he said.

New York's official goodbye was said by Grover A. Whalen, head of the city's welcoming committee.

"I enjoyed my stay and will be glad to come back again," said Lindbergh.

The Spirit of St. Louis sailed over Brooklyn, then crossed to New York, circled the Woolworth building as thousands watched and then headed over the Battery in westerly direction. Two planes followed him as he flew low over the Battery.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, June 17.—Stocks of the Southwestern-merger railroad group led a brilliant forward movement in the early trading today, in response to well-founded reports that L. F. Loree and powerful railroad magnates were rounding out an acceptable plan for the unification of those roads.

St. Louis Southwestern jumped an additional 5 points to 93 in the first period, the stock having completed a new rise of 15 points since yesterday noon. Kansas City Southern gained a point to 60, and Katy was up 1½ in an active turnover. Speculative buying also spread to other sections of the rail list, in which the general trend of prices was upward.

General Motors pushed forward to a new peak price of 205½, on reports of a possible 100 per cent stock dividend this year, with the new stock carrying a 5 per cent dividend. A favorable impression was created by the may production report of the corporation, which showed an enormous increase in the volume of the cheaper grade of cars sold. Yellow Truck & Cab, an important subsidiary, carried its aggressive forward move to 33¾ before encountering heavy selling.

A 4 per cent renewal rate for call money, for week-end loans, was not surprising in view of the heavy increase in gold holdings reported by the reserve banks. Commodity markets were steady, with cotton up 6 to 8 points on the call, and wheat, corn and oats fractionally higher.

Industrial stocks moved forward under the lead of American Can in the second hour. United States Steel was inactive, but firm, with a good volume of stock taken at 122½. Mercantile stocks were also in demand in this period.

BAD WEATHER DELAYS BYRD

Ocean Flyer May Not Hop Off Before Monday.

NEW YORK, June 17.—Bad weather continues to delay the hop off of Commander Richard E. Byrd in the monoplane America for Europe.

It seemed probable this morning that Byrd would not be able to get away before Sunday.

Byrd said he certainly would not take off today.

There are two zones of adverse weather—one of 800 miles in diameter southeast of Newfoundland and the other 1,000 miles west of Scotland, also covering a wide area.

James H. Scarr, local forecaster, said the unfavorable weather is not likely to clear up for two days.

Meantime, the giant tri-motored Fokker plane is conditioned to go, except for the taking on of gasoline and food supplies which would require only a short time.

ST. LOUIS GOES WILD AS "SLIM" STARTS HOME

Lindbergh Frenzy Throws Town Into Civic Hysteria.

IN GALA DRESS

Wave of Emotionalism as Atlantic Ace Nears Missouri.

By Jerry Quisenberry.

ST. LOUIS, June 17.—The Lindbergh frenzy today had thrown St. Louis into civic hysteria.

"Slim" is coming home.

Nothing else matters. The city has locked its collective rolltop desk and let itself run wild in an orgy of adulation.

Flight bulletins have usurped the place of stock market tickers as St. Louis tensely follows the progress of his flight from the east.

The civic enthusiasm which followed the winning of the world's baseball championship last year threatens to become a mere ripple of excitement in comparison with the onrushing wave of emotionalism which will strike the city about 3:30 o'clock this afternoon, when the "ace of the Atlantic" will wing his way over the Mississippi river, and glide down over his adopted city.

Never has the city been in such a gala dress. Myriad flags and pictures of "Lindy" and tiny replicas of "The Spirit of St. Louis," hang in every street.

Theatres and cabanets have their special Lindbergh song numbers prepared and ready. Lindbergh placards, buttons, posters, stickers, dolls, hats, shoes and cravats fill the shop windows and flood the streets. New York, it seems, gave this city a few ideas on the importance of such occasions.

WELLSVILLE BOY IS RUN DOWN BY AUTOMOBILE

LAD STRUCK AS HE ATTEMPTS TO BOARD TROLLEY

Francis O'Hanlon, Aged 12, Sustains Broken Pelvis Bone.

CUT AND BRUISED

Freedom, Pa., Motorist Takes Victim to Hospital.

Running to catch a street car to East Liverpool, Francis O'Hanlon, 12 years old, of 416 Buckeye avenue, was struck by an automobile, driven by James Maxwell, of Freedom, Pa., at the corner of Third and Lisbon street, Wellsville, this morning at 9 o'clock.

The boy's pelvis bone was crushed as one of the front wheels of the machine passed over his leg at the groin.

The youth has been working at a refreshment stand on the carnival grounds in East Liverpool and was enroute there this morning to prepare for the day's business.

It is believed he failed to observe the approach of Maxwell's machine in his haste to board an eastbound street car which was due at the moment, and, according to reports, ran directly in front of the automobile.

Maxwell stopped immediately and placed the boy in his car. The lad, able to speak despite his pain, directed the motorist to the office of Dr. J. V. Rice, Tenth street, where he was given preliminary medical attention.

He was then taken in Maxwell's machine to the East Liverpool hospital for examination.

Flags were prominently displayed in the room and table decorations.

Short talks were given by Mrs. Backus and Miss Stone, both urging the D. A. R. on to greater zeal in their efforts to combat sovietism.

The visiting officers last night attended a meeting of the Toronto chapter.

P. R. R. PLANS NEW THROUGH TRAIN

The Pennsylvania railroad announces the inauguration of an entirely new train providing through service between western points and Atlantic City, to be known as the "Sea Gull."

It will operate as a solid train between Pittsburgh and the shore resorts. In addition it will provide through service to and from Atlantic City from Cincinnati, Cleveland, Akron and Wheeling. It will operate daily including Sunday.

The Sea Gull, eastbound, will leave Pittsburgh at 10:20 p. m., standard time, arriving at Atlantic City at 7 a. m. Westbound it will leave Atlantic City at 9 p. m., arriving in Pittsburgh at 6:52 a. m.

In addition to the sleeping cars it will carry a club car in each direction. The through sleeping car from Cincinnati to the shore will leave at 1:40 p. m., the Cleveland car will leave at 6:05 p. m., the Akron car at 5:40 p. m., and the Wheeling car at 7:30 p. m.

On the return journey the car for Cincinnati will arrive at 5:45 p. m., the Cleveland car at 11:20 a. m.; the Akron car at 12:39 p. m., and the Wheeling car at 10 a. m.

On the westbound trip the new train will also carry the through sleeping car from Atlantic City to Chicago. Arrival in the latter city will be at 8:10 p. m.

The new train will leave for its first trip on July 1, and westbound on July 2. The last trip eastbound will be on September 10.

The purpose of inaugurating the Sea Gull is to provide more comfortable service and accommodate the growing volume of travel between important centers in the western part of the Pennsylvania's territory, and Atlantic City.

Its establishment will also mark the first occasion in which the cities of Cincinnati, Akron and Wheeling have been accorded through service without change of cars to and from the shore.

RAIL UNIONS SPLIT RANKS

Termination of Chicago Agreement Ordered.

"Individual" agreements may be formed in the future with the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, to supplant the Chicago agreement, according to announcement by spokesmen for the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, now in convention in Cleveland.

The Chicago agreement was ordered terminated several days ago and dies automatically 30 days after the decree. Brotherhood divisions are maintained in Wellsville by Pennsylvania railroad authorities and will be affected along with other system divisions.

The "Chicago agreement" has served to hold the two brotherhoods together in their relations with railroad managements since 1913. Termination of the agreement will work no particular hardship, however, in the opinion of H. E. Wills, Washington, assistant grand chief engineer, one of the official spokesmen, who expressed the belief that differences could be adjusted better individually than through one national agreement.

Others declared however, that the action of the engineers might mean that the two unions will hereafter work independently of each other.

The split between the two bodies, is believed to be an indirect result of the disagreements which came up last February, when the engineers, it is alleged, failed to act jointly with the firemen in wage negotiations with souteeastern railroads.

Officials of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen said this morning that they had received no formal announcement that the Chicago agreement would be terminated, but that they were unofficially advised that the notice would be sent soon. The agreement, according to its own terms, can be abrogated by either of the two brotherhoods upon 30 days' notice.

The firemen said they did not regard the move as a "break" between the brotherhoods, but merely the cessation of a compact which in some ways has proven unsatisfactory.

According to announcement here today, arrangements have been completed for a conference between the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen and western railroads in Chicago, July 7, to discuss wage scales. Approximately 51,000 men will be concerned in attempts to secure an increase ranging from $1 to $1.25 per day for firemen and hostlers, it was said.

It was necessary to remove the tire guard rail in order to eliminate the smaller piece.

BERLIN.—Beginning with October 1, Berlin will be "dead" on Sunday.

On that date a "Blue Law" now being prepared by the Berlin police will go into effect according to which no bakery, no butchership, no grocery, no candy, no cigar stores are to be permitted to keep open on Sunday. Heretofore, Berlin housewives have always made their purchases on Sunday forenoon, to have the Sunday dinner "fresh."

MARY PICKFORD HOME GUARDED

Beverly Hills Police Act As Result of Kidnaping Plot.

LOS ANGELES, June 17.—A heavily armed guard was stationed around the Beverly Hills home of Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks today as the result of an alleged plot to kidnap the diminutive actress and hold her for $100,000 ransom.

The guard was thrown around the Pickford estate when H. L. Brady of Palm Grove avenue, reported seeing three men following Miss Pickford. He said the movie star had been posing for street scenes and that when she left in her car, the three men followed in a large sedan.

Brady said as the men passed him he overheard one of them remark:

"There she goes. She'll be worth $100,000 to us."

Hollywood and Beverly Hills police were notified and a guard was immediately thrown around Pickfair, the movie star's home. As she rode home last night from the studio, Douglas Fairbanks, her husband, sat beside her with a riot gun in his lap. Several officers on motorcycles followed a short distance behind the car.

The government is giving a great banquet tonight in De Pinedo's honor, when it is understood he will be officially advised of his appointment as chief of staff for aviation.

The pope will receive the flyer tomorrow and is expected to confer a high honor upon him.

WELLSVILLE BOY IS RUN DOWN BY AUTOMOBILE

LAD STRUCK AS HE ATTEMPTS TO BOARD TROLLEY

Francis O'Hanlon, Aged 12, Sustains Broken Pelvis Bone.

CUT AND BRUISED

Freedom, Pa., Motorist Takes Victim to Hospital.

Running to catch a street car to East Liverpool, Francis O'Hanlon, 12 years old, of 416 Buckeye avenue, was struck by an automobile, driven by James Maxwell, of Freedom, Pa., at the corner of Third and Lisbon street, Wellsville, this morning at 9 o'clock.

The boy's pelvis bone was crushed as one of the front wheels of the machine passed over his leg at the groin.

The youth has been working at a refreshment stand on the carnival grounds in East Liverpool and was enroute there this morning to prepare for the day's business.

It is believed he failed to observe the approach of Maxwell's machine in his haste to board an eastbound street car which was due at the moment, and, according to reports, ran directly in front of the automobile.

Maxwell stopped immediately and placed the boy in his car. The lad, able to speak despite his pain, directed the motorist to the office of Dr. J. V. Rice, Tenth street, where he was given preliminary medical attention.

He was then taken in Maxwell's machine to the East Liverpool hospital for examination.

Flags were prominently displayed in the room and table decorations.

Short talks were given by Mrs. Backus and Miss Stone, both urging the D. A. R. on to greater zeal in their efforts to combat sovietism.

The word "Americanization" as used in D. A. R. work, it was announced, has been changed to "Americanism."

The visiting officers last night attended a meeting of the Toronto chapter.

P. R. R. PLANS NEW THROUGH TRAIN

The Pennsylvania railroad announces the inauguration of an entirely new train providing through service between western points and Atlantic City, to be known as the "Sea Gull."

It will operate as a solid train between Pittsburgh and the shore resorts. In addition it will provide through service to and from Atlantic City from Cincinnati, Cleveland, Akron and Wheeling. It will operate daily including Sunday.

The Sea Gull, eastbound, will leave Pittsburgh at 10:20 p. m., standard time, arriving at Atlantic City at 7 a. m. Westbound it will leave Atlantic City at 9 p. m., arriving in Pittsburgh at 6:52 a. m.

In addition to the sleeping cars it will carry a club car in each direction. The through sleeping car from Cincinnati to the shore will leave at 1:40 p. m., the Cleveland car will leave at 6:05 p. m., the Akron car at 5:40 p. m., and the Wheeling car at 7:30 p. m.

On the return journey the car for Cincinnati will arrive at 5:45 p. m., the Cleveland car at 11:20 a. m.; the Akron car at 12:39 p. m., and the Wheeling car at 10 a. m.

On the westbound trip the new train will also carry the through sleeping car from Atlantic City to Chicago. Arrival in the latter city will be at 8:10 p. m.

The new train will leave for its first trip on July 1, and westbound on July 2. The last trip eastbound will be on September 10.

The purpose of inaugurating the Sea Gull is to provide more comfortable service and accommodate the growing volume of travel between important centers in the western part of the Pennsylvania's territory, and Atlantic City.

Its establishment will also mark the first occasion in which the cities of Cincinnati, Akron and Wheeling have been accorded through service without change of cars to and from the shore.

RAIL UNIONS SPLIT RANKS

Termination of Chicago Agreement Ordered.

"Individual" agreements may be formed in the future with the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, to supplant the Chicago agreement, according to announcement by spokesmen for the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, now in convention in Cleveland.

The Chicago agreement was ordered terminated several days ago and dies automatically 30 days after the decree. Brotherhood divisions are maintained in Wellsville by Pennsylvania railroad authorities and will be affected along with other system divisions.

The "Chicago agreement" has served to hold the two brotherhoods together in their relations with railroad managements since 1913. Termination of the agreement will work no particular hardship, however, in the opinion of H. E. Wills, Washington, assistant grand chief engineer, one of the official spokesmen, who expressed the belief that differences could be adjusted better individually than through one national agreement.

Others declared however, that the action of the engineers might mean that the two unions will hereafter work independently of each other.

The split between the two bodies, is believed to be an indirect result of the disagreements which came up last February, when the engineers, it is alleged, failed to act jointly with the firemen in wage negotiations with souteeastern railroads.

Officials of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen said this morning that they had received no formal announcement that the Chicago agreement would be terminated, but that they were unofficially advised that the notice would be sent soon. The agreement, according to its own terms, can be abrogated by either of the two brotherhoods upon 30 days' notice.

The firemen said they did not regard the move as a "break" between the brotherhoods, but merely the cessation of a compact which in some ways has proven unsatisfactory.

According to announcement here today, arrangements have been completed for a conference between the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen and western railroads in Chicago, July 7, to discuss wage scales. Approximately 51,000 men will be concerned in attempts to secure an increase ranging from $1 to $1.25 per day for firemen and hostlers, it was said.

It was necessary to remove the tire guard rail in order to eliminate the smaller piece.

Modified Blue Laws In Berlin Effective Beginning October 1

BERLIN.—Beginning with October 1, Berlin will be "dead" on Sunday.

On that date a "Blue Law" now being prepared by the Berlin police will go into effect according to which no bakery, no butchership, no grocery, no candy, no cigar stores are to be permitted to keep open on Sunday. Heretofore, Berlin housewives have always made their purchases on Sunday forenoon, to have the Sunday dinner "fresh."

The innumerable cafes and cake places, sports, theatres and movies will remain open as usual.

Armour And Cooper Duel Today In Play-Off For Open Title

Finish Four Rounds Of Championship At Oakmont in Deadlock

By Davis J. Walsh.

OAKMONT, June 17.—Harry Cooper, born to be British but glad to be American, a garrulous, confident Jack Sharkey of professional golf, and Tom Armour, sauve, well mannered and Scotch enough to want what he wants before he gits it, will engage in a two-man assault on the national open golf championship in a special eighteen hole play-off this afternoon. They finished the regulation four rounds of the championship yesterday in an absolute dead heat for first money with a composite total of 301.

It was their only similarity. They had the same score but probably no two men in the long history of competitive golf have met at the first tee with less in common.

"I'll walk back to Los Angeles if I don't finish in the first five" said Cooper with his air of swank as he came to Oakmont for the title event. He will ride.

Armour let a 12-foot putt on the 72nd green for a tie do his talking, although Thomas is no social mute, in truth. He is the typical club house verandah amateur, hair slick and smooth and black, face burned to the true skin by countless suns and clothes correct to a fault. Thomas "turned square" after coming to America as an amateur seven years ago but he still retains the air of one who does you a personal favor in letting you watch him play.

With all due respect to Cooper as a golfer, and as a man, he would be incapable of achieving such an impression. His emotions are too near the surface, his reactions too natural. If he thinks you are a bum, he is likely to say as much and add the information, that he, personally and himself, usually is not a victim of self dissatisfaction.

Send Cooper into the ring with a niblick and Sharkey a boxing glove and Rickard would sell out on the sheer personality of his principals.

However, the boys promise to deal exclusively in mashies and niblicks and polite amenities today and there will be no blows exchanged as an official part of the program. If the U. S. G. A. could connive to have this happen the gallery might run into the fifty thousand with wicket speculators and short-end men hovering at the gates. As it is, five thousand will be a good crowd.

For neither of the principals ever has won a major title and they neither writer for publication, recommend tooth-paste nor furnish the material for the usual club house gossip. They are just a pair of good golfers who happen to be better than Bobby Jones, greatest of all; Walter Hagen, who used to be; Gene Sarazen, Jock Hutchison, Jim Barnes and other ex-champions; the members of the invading British team and a great field in general.

Sarazen lasted well enough to finish third, only a stroke outside the tie but Barnes and Hutchison were nowhere and Hagen and Jones finished sixth and in a tie for ninth respectively. The old Hagen "kick" was gone at the finish where formerly it manifested itself with such devastating effect.

The boy friend hasn't won an American open championship since 1919 and some of the locker room cronies are beginning to suspect that it might be that he will never win another.

Jones simply was not good; he wasn't bad. Merely neither. He started with an unimpressive 76 and became less impressive with each succeeding round. Sarazen, Johnny Farrell and most of the entries who didn't win blamed their failure to score on the over-zealous greens which were supposed to be too fast for comfort.

Jones didn't even have that excuse. And if he did, he wouldn't offer it, anyhow.

For the 72 greens he visited, he had 133 putts, considerably less than two to the green. Of course, a fast green may play havoc with your pitch shots in the first place and maybe that is what happened to Jones. A better guess is that he was under-prepared for the tournament and under-golfed.

In ten such tournaments, his total score possible would be better by fifteen to twenty strokes than that of either Cooper or Armour. But they were good enough to win this tournament and Jones wasn't and you can't go behind that fact any more than you can go behind your own shoulder blades.

Today's play-off will be tenth in thirty-one open championship tournaments. I trust I may be pardoned for hoping it will be the last. The writer is for earlier and quicker victories.

K.T.K. STOPS TURK NASH

Springer Is Driven From Mound In Fifth Round.

Fielding sensationally, profiting by opposition errors and swatting in timely fashion, K. T. K. defeated Turk-Nash at Smith field, Chester, 4 to 2, last evening.

Both clubs made seven hits each. Neitzler twirled steadily and was in no danger the entire route.

Springer was driven from the hill-top in the fifth after a single, walk, sacrifice and a double that netted the final two of the quartet of runs made off him. W. Mundy went in and finished, holding the potters scoreless thereafter.

E. Bayley booted Simcox's drive in the first after McShane had been retired, Springer to W. Munday. He stole second and scored, after Hunselman had fanned, on O'Brosky's single to middle.

After Schneidmiller had skied to McShane Deshler reached first on Kinsey's error. J. Watson singled to middle. A passed ball moved to third and second respectively both runners. We. Mundy singled to middle, scoring Deshler. Kinney flew to McShane, who assisted to Hunselman and he to Simcox, retiring J. Watson, who it was held, started for the plate before McShane caught Kinsey's fly.

Hayes, walking in the fourth, reached second on Holko's bunt hit and third as ePaolic went out J. Watson to W. Mundy, following Kinsey's bunting the third strike from where he counted as E. Bayley threw wildly to first on Neitzler's blow. McShane went out, E. Bayley to W. Mundy.

E. Bayley singled over second in the fourth and scored on Schneidmiller's double to middle. Deshler drove to Simcox who bluffed a throw to first to tag the oncoming catcher. J. Watson singled to left. W. Mundy drove wickedly to left, but O'Brosky landed in by a one-handed catch. Kinney then fanned.

Simcox singled to left in the fifth and went to second on Springer's balk. O'Brosky sacrificed, Springer to Kinney. Hayes doubled to middle, scoring Simcox and Hunselman. W. Mundy supplanted Springer on the hill-top, the latter going to right and Deshler tofirst. Holko walked and was nipped off first, W. Mundy to Deshler, but the play was made on Hayes sneaking home. In the zig-zag that followed he was retired by Schneidmiller. Kinsey then fouled to Schneidmiller.

Loop Leaders Play Tonight

Laughlin - Chester Clash On Newell Diamond.

Chester and Laughlin, City Industrial league leaders, will clash tonight at Newell and a Laughlin victory will practically sew up first half honors for Pilot Dailey's aggregation.

A win will give Newell a three and one-half lead. A victory by Chester will reduce the margin to two games and lessen Newell' chances for a decisive conquest.

Laughlin has been playing great ball lately, only two runs having been scored against Dailey's nine in the last six games. Ashe leads the pitching staff with three shutouts to his credit, against K. T. K., Wellsville and Turk Nash. Digman blanked Turk Nash several days ago.

His own balk, which gave American Billiards a run, prevented Chaney from joining the ranks of Newell shutout hurlers.

BRUINS WIN BUT FAIL TO CATCH BUCS

McCarthy Club Hangs Up 12th Win In Row.

By Les Conklin.

NEW YORK, June 17.—The Chicago Cubs today have won 11 straight games, the longest winning streak of the season in either league, but are still in second place because the weak eastern teams have been unable to stop the Pirates. The pennant prospects of the Bruins were enhanced, however, by the brilliant work of Pitcher Hal Carlson yesterday in winning his second successive game since joining the Windy City outfit. He subdued the Phillies, his former mates, by a score of 7 to 2, while strong men on the Philadelphia bench sobbed and their manager, Stuffy McInnes, warbled, "Oh, how I miss you, dear old Hal of mine."

Informed that Col. Charley Lindbergh would be among the spectators, Babe Ruth and Buster Gehrig of the Yankees put on their home run act in the first inning, but unfortunately Charley did not reach the park until the game was finished. It was No. 22 for Ruth and 15 for Gehrig, and the Bambino is exactly even with his 1921 record. The score of the ball game was 8 to 1 and the Browns were the victims.

Homers by Hornsby and Terry featured the Giants' 10 to 5 victory over the Cardinals. The Giants had dropped six straight. Hornsby and Southworth had a perfect day at bat.

Kent Greenfield, formerly of the Giants, made his debut with the Braves and was given a proper shellacking by the Pirates, 6 to 0. Paul Waner, Pittsburgh's newlywed outfielder, stretched his consecutive hitting streak to 19 games. Meadows did the throwing and lots of it for Pittsburgh.

Sergeant George Connally, who has pitched 217 scoreless innings in the White Sox bullpen this season, turned in nine more against the Athletics. Homers by Hunnefield and Barrett gave the Sox the verdict, 4 to 0, increasing their hold on second place.

"unusual distinction plus six-cylinder performance and the uncramped comfort of a full-sized body!"

This is the day of the smartly styled automobile. And one glance at the Oakland Landau Sedan reveals how superbly it answers today's demand for cars of arresting appearance and distinction.

Yet the success of this most luxurious Oakland Six is based on something deeper than an extra measure of style and smartness at an extra-attractive price.

True, it reveals the aristocratic beauty of Fisher body design and execution. True, also, its exceptionally complete equipment embraces such unusual items as gasoline gauge on the instrument board; walnut finished window mouldings and inlaid instrument panel; nickel-plated bumpers, lamps and radiator; and foot control for the tilting-beam headlights.

$1295 LANDAU SEDAN

But so many buyers are making it the car of their choice largely because it provides, at lowest price, every element of unusual distinction, plus six-cylinder performance and the uncramped comfort of a full-sized body!

Six-cylinder performance—with all the spirit, dash and smoothness achieved by Oakland's advanced engineering!

Uncramped comfort—possible only with wide, deep seats, properly pitched, properly spaced and inviting relaxation!

And a price of only $1295!

You can spend a day, a week or a month comparing, but you'll never discover a value like this! Come in—and let us prove it.

ZEPPELIN 'ROUND-WORLD FLIGHT PROMISED

Dr. Hugo Eckener, director of the German Zeppelin company at Friederickshafen, is promising a round-the-world Zeppelin flight as the great aerial adventure for 1928. The LZ-137, now under construction, will be used for the flight, which Dr. Eckener estimates will take 300 hours. Additional mooring masts, one on the west coast of the United States, and one in Asiatic Russia will be constructed. Permission to use the one at Lakehurst, N. J., already has been obtained. Dr. Eckener is shown in the inset above with a view of the dirigible Los Angeles, in flight. The LZ-137 is being modeled after the Los Angeles, which was made at the Friederickshafen plant.

CORDS TRIM BILLIARDS

Stoffel Pitches Riley Nine to 2-1 Victory.

In a fast, well played contest Chester defeated the American Billiards, 2 to 1, at Columbian park last evening. A big throng witnessed the game.

Stoffel held the Americans to four hits and one run. Howell was found for six which netted two tallies. The former fanned four and Howell none. The latter walked three as against Stoffel's one.

Haught, in left for the Americans, connected safely each of three times at bat. He accepted four chances and stole one base.

The Americans played errorless ball though defeated.

J. Strobel, playing his first game of the season for the Americans, accepted four chances at short and walked his first time up—a habit of his at the bat.

Conners handled seven of eight chances for Chester. One-handed catches by him robbed Talbott and Howell of hits in the first and fifth innings. He batted at a .500 clip also.

L. McMath landed all his seven chances at second for Chester and swatted .667 for the day.

Chester scored in the first inning. J. Evans flew to C. Strobel. L. McMath walked. P. Cebula doubled to left, sending the second bagman to third from where he counted on Conner's sacrifice fly to middle. Wilde flew to Haught.

J. Evans, walking in the third, stole second and went to third as L. McMath grounded to Talbott from where he finished on Cebula's sacrifice fly.

In the fourth Conners made a wild heave on Moore's drive after Talbott grounded to Reese. Moore purloined second and counted on Haught's single to middle. Bennett fanned.

Borneo Sends Many To Mecca.

Following an increase in the wealth of natives in Borneo in the past 12 months, more pilgrims left that country for Mecca this year than ever before. Appoximately 7,000 persons, or one for every 100 of the population, left Bandjermasin in the annual journey of Mohammedans. As the pilgrimage requires the expenditure of from $400 to $800 for each traveler, it is estimated that about $4,000,000 will be spent by those from Borneo alone. It is customary for many natives from Java to make the journey, but this is the first year that those from Borneo have displayed such interest.

A movement to stop flogging as a punishment for breaches of jail discipline has been started in India.

SON OF FAMOUS SURGEON WEDS

A recent wedding of national interest was that of Miss Ruth Rakowsky, pretty Joplin, Mo., debutante, and Dr. Joseph G. Mayo, young son of Dr. Charles H. Mayo, world-famous surgeon of Rochester, Minn.

Surprised

Miss Natalie Hays Hammond.

"I was so surprised it was almost a shock," said Miss Natalie Hays Hammond, daughter of John Hays Hammond, when her illuminated letter was accepted by the Royal Society of Miniature Painters of England. It was her first work and was placed on exhibition. The design was in the shape of the letter "L" with a tiny miniature depicting a skyline of skyscrapers.

Electric heaters have been fitted in a new French monoplane preparatory to a flight to America.

More American-made tires are used on automobiles of the Netherlands than ever before.

Americans recently paid $20,000,000 for a combination of light, power and traction companies in Brazil.

Armour And Cooper Duel Today In Play-Off For Open Title

Finish Four Rounds Of Championship At Oakmont in Deadlock

By Davis J. Walsh.

OAKMONT, June 17.—Harry Cooper, born to be British but glad to be American, a garrulous, confident Jack Sharkey of professional golf, and Tom Armour, sauve, well mannered and Scotch enough to want what he wants before he gits it, will engage in a two-man assault on the national open golf championship in a special eighteen hole play-off this afternoon. They finished the regulation four rounds of the championship yesterday in an absolute dead heat for first money with a composite total of 301.

It was their only similarity. They had the same score but probably no two men in the long history of competitive golf have met at the first tee with less in common.

"I'll walk back to Los Angeles if I don't finish in the first five" said Cooper with his air of swank as he came to Oakmont for the title event. He will ride.

Armour let a 12-foot putt on the 72nd green for a tie do his talking, although Thomas is no social mute, in truth. He is the typical club house verandah amateur, hair slick and smooth and black, face burned to the true skin by countless suns and clothes correct to a fault. Thomas "turned square" after coming to America as an amateur seven years ago but he still retains the air of one who does you a personal favor in letting you watch him play.

With all due respect to Cooper as a golfer, and as a man, he would be incapable of achieving such an impression. His emotions are too near the surface, his reactions too natural. If he thinks you are a bum, he is likely to say as much and add the information, that he, personally and himself, usually is not a victim of self dissatisfaction.

Send Cooper into the ring with a niblick and Sharkey a boxing glove and Rickard would sell out on the sheer personality of his principals.

However, the boys promise to deal exclusively in mashies and niblicks and polite amenities today and there will be no blows exchanged as an official part of the program. If the U. S. G. A. could connive to have this happen the gallery might run into the fifty thousand with wicket speculators and short-end men hovering at the gates. As it is, five thousand will be a good crowd.

For neither of the principals ever has won a major title and they neither writer for publication, recommend tooth-paste nor furnish the material for the usual club house gossip. They are just a pair of good golfers who happen to be better than Bobby Jones, greatest of all; Walter Hagen, who used to be; Gene Sarazen, Jock Hutchison, Jim Barnes and other ex-champions; the members of the invading British team and a great field in general.

Sarazen lasted well enough to finish third, only a stroke outside the tie but Barnes and Hutchison were nowhere and Hagen and Jones finished sixth and in a tie for ninth respectively. The old Hagen "kick" was gone at the finish where formerly it manifested itself with such devastating effect.

The boy friend hasn't won an American open championship since 1919 and some of the locker room cronies are beginning to suspect that it might be that he will never win another.

Jones simply was not good; he wasn't bad. Merely neither. He started with an unimpressive 76 and became less impressive with each succeeding round. Sarazen, Johnny Farrell and most of the entries who didn't win blamed their failure to score on the over-zealous greens which were supposed to be too fast for comfort.

Jones didn't even have that excuse. And if he did, he wouldn't offer it, anyhow.

For the 72 greens he visited, he had 133 putts, considerably less than two to the green. Of course, a fast green may play havoc with your pitch shots in the first place and maybe that is what happened to Jones. A better guess is that he was under-prepared for the tournament and under-golfed.

In ten such tournaments, his total score possible would be better by fifteen to twenty strokes than that of either Cooper or Armour. But they were good enough to win this tournament and Jones wasn't and you can't go behind that fact any more than you can go behind your own shoulder blades.

Today's play-off will be tenth in thirty-one open championship tournaments. I trust I may be pardoned for hoping it will be the last. The writer is for earlier and quicker victories.

K.T.K. STOPS TURK NASH

Springer Is Driven From Mound In Fifth Round.

Fielding sensationally, profiting by opposition errors and swatting in timely fashion, K. T. K. defeated Turk-Nash at Smith field, Chester, 4 to 2, last evening.

Both clubs made seven hits each. Neitzler twirled steadily and was in no danger the entire route.

Springer was driven from the hill-top in the fifth after a single, walk, sacrifice and a double that netted the final two of the quartet of runs made off him. W. Mundy went in and finished, holding the potters scoreless thereafter.

E. Bayley booted Simcox's drive in the first after McShane had been retired, Springer to W. Munday. He stole second and scored, after Hunselman had fanned, on O'Brosky's single to middle.

After Schneidmiller had skied to McShane Deshler reached first on Kinsey's error. J. Watson singled to middle. A passed ball moved to third and second respectively both runners. We. Mundy singled to middle, scoring Deshler. Kinney flew to McShane, who assisted to Hunselman and he to Simcox, retiring J. Watson, who it was held, started for the plate before McShane caught Kinsey's fly.

Hayes, walking in the fourth, reached second on Holko's bunt hit and third as ePaolic went out J. Watson to W. Mundy, following Kinsey's bunting the third strike from where he counted as E. Bayley threw wildly to first on Neitzler's blow. McShane went out, E. Bayley to W. Mundy.

E. Bayley singled over second in the fourth and scored on Schneidmiller's double to middle. Deshler drove to Simcox who bluffed a throw to first to tag the oncoming catcher. J. Watson singled to left. W. Mundy drove wickedly to left, but O'Brosky landed in by a one-handed catch. Kinney then fanned.

Simcox singled to left in the fifth and went to second on Springer's balk. O'Brosky sacrificed, Springer to Kinney. Hayes doubled to middle, scoring Simcox and Hunselman. W. Mundy supplanted Springer on the hill-top, the latter going to right and Deshler tofirst. Holko walked and was nipped off first, W. Mundy to Deshler, but the play was made on Hayes sneaking home. In the zig-zag that followed he was retired by Schneidmiller. Kinsey then fouled to Schneidmiller.

Loop Leaders Play Tonight

Laughlin - Chester Clash On Newell Diamond.

Chester and Laughlin, City Industrial league leaders, will clash tonight at Newell and a Laughlin victory will practically sew up first half honors for Pilot Dailey's aggregation.

A win will give Newell a three and one-half lead. A victory by Chester will reduce the margin to two games and lessen Newell' chances for a decisive conquest.

Laughlin has been playing great ball lately, only two runs having been scored against Dailey's nine in the last six games. Ashe leads the pitching staff with three shutouts to his credit, against K. T. K., Wellsville and Turk Nash. Digman blanked Turk Nash several days ago.

His own balk, which gave American Billiards a run, prevented Chaney from joining the ranks of Newell shutout hurlers.

BRUINS WIN BUT FAIL TO CATCH BUCS

McCarthy Club Hangs Up 12th Win In Row.

By Les Conklin.

NEW YORK, June 17.—The Chicago Cubs today have won 11 straight games, the longest winning streak of the season in either league, but are still in second place because the weak eastern teams have been unable to stop the Pirates. The pennant prospects of the Bruins were enhanced, however, by the brilliant work of Pitcher Hal Carlson yesterday in winning his second successive game since joining the Windy City outfit. He subdued the Phillies, his former mates, by a score of 7 to 2, while strong men on the Philadelphia bench sobbed and their manager, Stuffy McInnes, warbled, "Oh, how I miss you, dear old Hal of mine."

Informed that Col. Charley Lindbergh would be among the spectators, Babe Ruth and Buster Gehrig of the Yankees put on their home run act in the first inning, but unfortunately Charley did not reach the park until the game was finished. It was No. 22 for Ruth and 15 for Gehrig, and the Bambino is exactly even with his 1921 record. The score of the ball game was 8 to 1 and the Browns were the victims.

Homers by Hornsby and Terry featured the Giants' 10 to 5 victory over the Cardinals. The Giants had dropped six straight. Hornsby and Southworth had a perfect day at bat.

Kent Greenfield, formerly of the Giants, made his debut with the Braves and was given a proper shellacking by the Pirates, 6 to 0. Paul Waner, Pittsburgh's newlywed outfielder, stretched his consecutive hitting streak to 19 games. Meadows did the throwing and lots of it for Pittsburgh.

Sergeant George Connally, who has pitched 217 scoreless innings in the White Sox bullpen this season, turned in nine more against the Athletics. Homers by Hunnefield and Barrett gave the Sox the verdict, 4 to 0, increasing their hold on second place.

"unusual distinction plus six-cylinder performance and the uncramped comfort of a full-sized body!" . . .

This is the day of the smartly styled automobile. And one glance at the Oakland Landau Sedan reveals how superbly it answers today's demand for cars of arresting appearance and distinction.

Yet the success of this most luxurious Oakland Six is based on something deeper than an extra measure of style and smartness at an extra-attractive price.

True, it reveals the aristocratic beauty of Fisher body design and execution. True, also, its exceptionally complete equipment embraces such unusual items as gasoline gauge on the instrument board; walnut finished window mouldings and inlaid instrument panel; nickel-plated bumpers, lamps and radiator; and foot control for the tilting-beam headlights.

$1295 LANDAU SEDAN

But so many buyers are making it the car of their choice largely because it provides, at lowest price, every element of unusual distinction, plus six-cylinder performance and the uncramped comfort of a full-sized body!

Six-cylinder performance—with all the spirit, dash and smoothness achieved by Oakland's advanced engineering!

Uncramped comfort—possible only with wide, deep seats, properly pitched, properly spaced and inviting relaxation!

And a price of only $1295!

You can spend a day, a week or a month comparing, but you'll never discover a value like this! Come in—and let us prove it.

ZEPPELIN 'ROUND-WORLD FLIGHT PROMISED

Dr. Hugo Eckener, director of the German Zeppelin company at Friederickshafen, is promising a round-the-world Zeppelin flight as the great aerial adventure for 1928. The LZ-137, now under construction, will be used for the flight, which Dr. Eckener estimates will take 300 hours. Additional mooring masts, one on the west coast of the United States, and one in Asiatic Russia will be constructed. Permission to use the one at Lakehurst, N. J., already has been obtained. Dr. Eckener is shown in the inset above with a view of the dirigible Los Angeles, in flight. The LZ-137 is being modeled after the Los Angeles, which was made at the Friederickshafen plant.

CORDS TRIM BILLIARDS

Stoffel Pitches Riley Nine to 2-1 Victory.

In a fast, well played contest Chester defeated the American Billiards, 2 to 1, at Columbian park last evening. A big throng witnessed the game.

Stoffel held the Americans to four hits and one run. Howell was found for six which netted two tallies. The former fanned four and Howell none. The latter walked three as against Stoffel's one.

Haught, in left for the Americans, connected safely each of three times at bat. He accepted four chances and stole one base.

The Americans played errorless ball though defeated.

J. Strobel, playing his first game of the season for the Americans, accepted four chances at short and walked his first time up—a habit of his at the bat.

Conners handled seven of eight chances for Chester. One-handed catches by him robbed Talbott and Howell of hits in the first and fifth innings. He batted at a .500 clip also.

L. McMath landed all his seven chances at second for Chester and swatted .667 for the day.

Chester scored in the first inning. J. Evans flew to C. Strobel. L. McMath walked. P. Cebula doubled to left, sending the second bagman to third from where he counted on Conner's sacrifice fly to middle. Wilde flew to Haught.

J. Evans, walking in the third, stole second and went to third as L. McMath grounded to Talbott from where he finished on Cebula's sacrifice fly.

In the fourth Conners made a wild heave on Moore's drive after Talbott grounded to Reese. Moore purloined second and counted on Haught's single to middle. Bennett fanned.

Borneo Sends Many To Mecca.

Following an increase in the wealth of natives in Borneo in the past 12 months, more pilgrims left that country for Mecca this year than ever before. Appoximately 7,000 persons, or one for every 100 of the population, left Bandjermasin in the annual journey of Mohammedans. As the pilgrimage requires the expenditure of from $400 to $800 for each traveler, it is estimated that about $4,000,000 will be spent by those from Borneo alone. It is customary for many natives from Java to make the journey, but this is the first year that those from Borneo have displayed such interest.

ANIMAL LOSSES IN GREAT FLOOD SERIOUS BLOW

Mississippi Waters Drown Millions of Creatures.

FISH DESTROYED

Years Will be Required to Replace Wild Life.

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — Trapped as were people, but with no rescue fleets to save them, wild animals in the great forests of the Mississippi valley perished by the thousands when the roaring currents of the Father of Waters and its tributaries tore through levees and rushed upon them in terrific suddenness and depths.

The ruthless slaughter of animals by the disastrous floods was one of the greatest losses of the flood, according to accounts of refugees and rescue workers.

Years will be required to replace the wild animals which perished in the wholesale destruction.

Fish Destroyed.

Hundreds of thousands of small minnows are being ruthlessly or thoughtlessly destroyed by fishermen in the vicinity of Memphis in their hunger for larger fry, according to an appeal issued here by Dean Wolf, president of the local chapter of the Izaak Walton league.

A gloomy picture of conditions with some interesting side-lights on the hardships of animal life is painted by refugees from Louisiana, Arkansas and Mississippi.

One trapper, from Louisiana, told the following story:

"Last week I saw a big black bear floating down stream, perched on a tree. I found a three foot alligator on a floating bed near a deserted house. On a knoll I saw 35 deer. Several more were on a railroad track not far away.

"In a dry spot nearby there are more than 100 quail. I fed them with chicken feed for several days. Almost a half a hundred deer are being cared for in box cars by game wardens. The refugees in some places are sharing their rations with the helpless deer.

Wild Animals Slaughtered.

"But bodies of deer and all kinds of wild animals are seen every day by the dozens floating on the water, having been drowned by the floods or starved to death where marooned."

Wolf's appeal to fishermen to stop destruction of minnows to preserve the future fishing possibilities was broadcast over the Commercial Appeal-Evening Appeal broadcasting station, WMc.

Seiners, who are finding the catching of fish and minnows easy in subdrains to lakes, are not limiting themselves to what they need and are carelessly leaving thousands of minnows on the banks to die in the sun, Wolf said. They keep the big fish and throw the minnows on the banks instead of back into the water.

Fish will perish by the thousands without being deliberately slaughtered, said Wolf, as many have been unfortunate enough to be in small water holes left by the flood that will soon dry up, leaving the fish lying in a muddy field.

Lakes throughout the flooded valley were re-stocked by the flood as many fish found their way into the lakes from the rivers.

ANIMAL LOSSES IN GREAT FLOOD SERIOUS BLOW

Mississippi Waters Drown Millions of Creatures.

FISH DESTROYED

Years Will be Required to Replace Wild Life.

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — Trapped as were people, but with no rescue fleets to save them, wild animals in the great forests of the Mississippi valley perished by the thousands when the roaring currents of the Father of Waters and its tributaries tore through levees and rushed upon them in terrific suddenness and depths.

The ruthless slaughter of animals by the disastrous floods was one of the greatest losses of the flood, according to accounts of refugees and rescue workers.

Years will be required to replace the wild animals which perished in the wholesale destruction.

Fish Destroyed.

Hundreds of thousands of small minnows are being ruthlessly or thoughtlessly destroyed by fishermen in the vicinity of Memphis in their hunger for larger fry, according to an appeal issued here by Dean Wolf, president of the local chapter of the Izaak Walton league.

A gloomy picture of conditions with some interesting side-lights on the hardships of animal life is painted by refugees from Louisiana, Arkansas and Mississippi.

One trapper, from Louisiana, told the following story:

"Last week I saw a big black bear floating down stream, perched on a tree. I found a three foot alligator on a floating bed near a deserted house. On a knoll I saw 35 deer. Several more were on a railroad track not far away.

"In a dry spot nearby there are more than 100 quail. I fed them with chicken feed for several days. Almost a half a hundred deer are being cared for in box cars by game wardens. The refugees in some places are sharing their rations with the helpless deer.

Wild Animals Slaughtered.

"But bodies of deer and all kinds of wild animals are seen every day by the dozens floating on the water, having been drowned by the floods or starved to death where marooned."

Wolf's appeal to fishermen to stop destruction of minnows to preserve the future fishing possibilities was broadcast over the Commercial Appeal-Evening Appeal broadcasting station, WMc.

Seiners, who are finding the catching of fish and minnows easy in subdrains to lakes, are not limiting themselves to what they need and are carelessly leaving thousands of minnows on the banks to die in the sun, Wolf said. They keep the big fish and throw the minnows on the banks instead of back into the water.

Fish will perish by the thousands without being deliberately slaughtered, said Wolf, as many have been unfortunate enough to be in small water holes left by the flood that will soon dry up, leaving the fish lying in a muddy field.

Lakes throughout the flooded valley were re-stocked by the flood as many fish found their way into the lakes from the rivers.

AMERICANS GET NO PAY FOR NANKING LOSS

Victims Have No Way to Collect Damages.

EMBASSY REPORT

Question of Claims Delayed by Danger to Officials.

PEKING.—American victims of the Nanking outrage have absolutely no immediate and possibly no future hope of reimbursement for their losses, according to the American legation here.

While the American authorities have been instructed to secure the claims of the four hundred or more victims, the orders were given more or less perfunctory since there are no responsible authorities who would be likely to pay the claims at this time in all of China.

Brings Hardships.

This state of affairs brings untold hardships to the former residents of Nanking, who, forced to flee for their lives, were fortunate if able to salvage enough wearing apparel to satisfy ordinary decency. Hundreds of homes are a total loss, numbers of mission institutions, including hospitals, churches and schools as well as the properties, stocks and business of American firms, are all gone.

The question of claims is further handicaped by the inability for a long time of the American consul, John K. Davis, to go ashore even to examine the wreck of his own office, let alone the hundreds of former American homes.

Lives on Warship.

Mr. Davis has remained at Nanking most of the time since the outrage, but has lived aboard an American warship.

The American authorities, therefore, find it difficult if not impossible to even give a rough estimate of the total American losses at Nanking. If a guess were to be hazarded, the loss would certainly not be placed lower than between five and ten million American dollars and should probably be placed much higher.

AMERICANS GET NO PAY FOR NANKING LOSS

Victims Have No Way to Collect Damages.

Question of Claims Delayed by Danger to Officials.

PEKING.—American victims of the Nanking outrage have absolutely no immediate and possibly no future hope of reimbursement for their losses, according to the American legation here.

While the American authorities have been instructed to secure the claims of the four hundred or more victims, the orders were given more or less perfunctory since there are no responsible authorities who would be likely to pay the claims at this time in all of China.

Brings Hardships.

This state of affairs brings untold hardships to the former residents of Nanking, who, forced to flee for their lives, were fortunate if able to salvage enough wearing apparel to satisfy ordinary decency. Hundreds of homes are a total loss, numbers of mission institutions, including hospitals, churches and schools as well as the properties, stocks and business of American firms, are all gone.

The question of claims is further handicaped by the inability for a long time of the American consul, John K. Davis, to go ashore even to examine the wreck of his own office, let alone the hundreds of former American homes.

Lives on Warship.

Mr. Davis has remained at Nanking most of the time since the outrage, but has lived aboard an American warship.

The American authorities, therefore, find it difficult if not impossible to even give a rough estimate of the total American losses at Nanking. If a guess were to be hazarded, the loss would certainly not be placed lower than between five and ten million American dollars and should probably be placed much higher.

South African Fair Has Biggest Hog; Weighs 1100 Pounds

JOHANNESBURG. — Billy, the world's largest pig, is on view at agricultural show here, and is insured for $25,000. Billy is 8 ft. 2 in. long, 6 ft. 9 in. in girth and weights just over 1120 pounds.

He has traveled 25,000 miles, and is just back from a tour of Australia. He has a voracious appetite, and every day consumes four cases of apples, eight or nine buckets of milk two, bushel of bran, sixteen or eighteen cabbages, and a few "odds and ends."

Billy has a specially appointed valet to keep him groomed, and to reserve accommodation in train and boat when he travels. Bill's food alone costs $10 a day.

The mammoth pig is only 28 years old, and a long and prosperous career awaits him. His owner plans to send him to the British Museum in London after his death.

It was foolish of that old Greek to use a lantern in searching for an honest man. He had only to sign notes to prove his point.—Akron Beacon Journal.

More than $70,000,000, it is estimated, is spent for sandwiches in restaurants on Broadway every year.

"WHITE GOLD" MASTERPIECE

Jetta Goudal and 'Lindy' Pictures Score At Ceramic.

Proving itself a masterpiece in point of screen technique, direction and character interpretation, a simple story of simple folk superbly told—a picture with a soul—"White Gold," Jetta Goudal's latest star vehicle, featuring Kenneth Thomson and George Bancroft, created a profound impression on its premier presentation at the Ceramic theatre yesterday in conjunction with first run pictures of New York's reception to Captain Charles A. Lindbergh.

There is nothing spectacular about "White Gold." There is nothing pretentious about it, but it presents in the most realistic manner a bit of life on a sheep ranch during a drought. It is a natural, human story, the psychology of which leaves a lasting impression on the mind. "White Gold," with its tense drama, its love, hatred, petty jealousy, and its unusual though logical climax, is a picture story one will long remember. Why? Because it is, in treatment and theme, so far above the ordinary photoplay that it defies comparison.

Fancy yourself on an arid sheep ranch. There has been no rain for months and the sheep are dying by the score. A petulant, venomous old man sits gloomily day and night in an easy chair the springs of which creak raspingly. His son has married a beautiful dancer, who sincerely loves her husband. But he is under the domination of his stern father who hates the young wife and refuses her even a kindly look which her heart craves. Husband and father discuss sheep continuously, nearly driving her to despair. Under his father's antagonistic influence, the husband's love soon wanes and the neglected wife dreams longingly of the past.

Comes a laughing, careless sheep herder who flips a coin and decides to stay at the ranch. He comes in contact with the wife. Her beauty, accentuated in a remarkable close-up of Miss Goudal in a steaming cup of coffee, charms him. The father sees in this development an opportunity of further poisoning his son's mind against his wife. Seeking that comradeship which her husband has denied her, the wife innocently finds relaxation in the company of the cheerful sheep herder. Just as the drought is broken by a heavy rain, the herder enters the wife's room.

The next morning when the husband returns to the ranch house, he finds his wife and father seated at a table. There is a rifle at the old man's chair. Nonplussed, he asks what has happened. The old man points to the bedroom door behind which lies the body of the herder. The husband is horrified and demands to know who killed the man and why. The father says he did it—the wife, who is hoping her husband will believe in her, remains silent. She rises, her husband asks where she is going and she replies that whatever road she may travel, it will insure her freedom. She gains the roadway without opposition, throws away the revolver with which she has slain the man who sought to dishonor her, and the last one sees of her she is walking away in the distance—to freedom.

There is a simple story the beauty of which is enhanched by the artistry with which it has been transferred to the screen by Director William K. Howard. Throughout the picture, which in sequence is absolutely without a flaw, there are bits of double and triple exposures that thrill. The effect of the creaking chair, the rasping sound of a knife being sharpened on a whetstone, a ticking clock, the percolation of dust into the living room—all these, so well calculated to key a neglected wife's nerves to the breaking point, are admirably pictured. In every respect, "White Gold," despite its simplicity, rises to noble heights. It has all the elements of a great picture and it will be acclaimed as one of the finest productions of the season.

ACIDS IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestents are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist some Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful of powder or four tablets in water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

To Pierce Sky

Plans for the proposed 110-story Larkin Tower, on West Forty-Second Street, between Eighth and Ninth Avenues, New York City, have been approved by the city's building department. Cost is estimated at $25,000,000 and completion is anticipated before the end of 1928. Plans call for it to rise 1,200 feet above street level, 267 feet higher than the Eiffel Tower, Paris. Drawing of it is pictured here in comparison with the Eiffel Tower, Paris.

South African Fair Has Biggest Hog; Weighs 1100 Pounds

JOHANNESBURG. — Billy, the world's largest pig, is on view at agricultural show here, and is insured for $25,000. Billy is 8 ft. 2 in. long, 6 ft. 9 in. in girth and weights just over 1120 pounds.

He has traveled 25,000 miles, and is just back from a tour of Australia. He has a voracious appetite, and every day consumes four cases of apples, eight or nine buckets of milk two, bushel of bran, sixteen or eighteen cabbages, and a few "odds and ends."

Billy has a specially appointed valet to keep him groomed, and to reserve accommodation in train and boat when he travels, Bill's food alone costs $10 a day.

The mammoth pig is only 28 years old, and a long and prosperous career awaits him. His owner plans to send him to the British Museum in London after his death.

It was foolish of that old Greek to use a lantern in searching for an honest man. He had only to sign notes to prove his point.—Akron Beacon Journal.

More than $70,000,000, it is estimated, is spent for sandwiches in restaurants on Broadway every year.

BY MARSHALL D. WALL
AUTHOR OF "THE VALLEY OF STRIFE" and RIDDLE of the CIRCLE" COPYRIGHT

LARRY GRENFALL, American traveler and student of Eastern magic, receives a telephone call from BEN MANSOUR, cosmopolite and old friend, saying he must see him at once. Larry goes and Mansour tells him he is about to die and that he wants him to go to Morocco, where he, Mansour, is a sherif or native ruler. He is to find the Temple, endure the Ordeal, crush the Group and put Mansour's son on the throne. A Moor appears and gives Mansour a token, a ruby ring which Larry later wears. The Moor also throws into the room a tiny ivory tiger—the Striped Death. Mansour dies and his body disappears—carried off by the Moors. Larry goes to Morocco, finds

OMAR BEN MEDJAD, who dresses him as a wizard, and as Youssef el-Habassi he starts on his travels. He soon meets.

ALLAL ABDI, Mansour's son, who travels with him. In a fight with two Moors Allal Abdi is wounded and Larry discovers that "he" is a woman, Benna. No woman can ascend the Berber throne, so if Benna succeeds her father it must be as a man. Larry and Benna love one another intensely but Larry feels he must give her up rather than let her lose the sherifship. After many adventures they reach the "Gate of the Burning," they win through, are captured and locked up, but escape. In the fighting Larry has accidentally called Benna "Little White Flower." He is overheard by Omar who thus learns the truth. Benna and Larry come to the hut of a marabout or holy man. Larry performs magic to frighten the marabout and while he is so engaged Benna disappears. Racing madly to find her he is attacked by the Striped Death, the trained tiger killer. Larry kills the tiger, then continues his search for Benna. From a high peak a bright light strikes the ring he wears. He keeps on until he almost falls over a kneeling figure of a man who salaams. "How did you recognize me?" asks Larry.

CHAPTER THIRTY-FOUR.

"How, wizard; how indeed! Is the one good eye of Youcoub el-Bachir so like its fellow that is gone that he did not see the Eye of the Prophet sending its message back through the night to the Great Eye on the mountain? That it did not see the Eye of the Prophet on your finger answering the message of the Great Orb? Al, not only did old Youcoub el-Bachir see this, but it is in my mind that the Marabout Group itself, sitting in the Temple, did catch teh message the Eye on your finger did flash through the night. Welcome, thrice welcome, blessed of the Prophet, to the sacred ground of the Temple, as I have intimated, expected. You seem to have been delayed."

His brain racing under the multiplicity of mystery, Larry answered as best he could.

"And why do you say that, Youcoub el-Bachir?"

"Because your companion, the youth Allal Abdi, the goodly one who has, we are already told renounced his right to power in favor of the Marabout Group, did precede you by a full half-night. Aye, he has already passed this way, in company with one who came behind them, one with a bold eye and a reckless manner. This last bade me tell you that you would find the youth in the Temple, awaiting your coming."

Now, indeed Larry was startled. Taking a step forward his powerful fingers crushed into the bony shoulder of Youcoub el-Bachir, and his voice sounded like the grinding of steel on steel.

"Make yourself plainer, Youcoub el-Bachir, for even a wizard, wearied from a long night in the forest, worn with a terrific battle with a striped death, cannot always be clear-minded enough to grasp one's every meaning."

Whereupon the other answered:

"I can only say further, that the Sheikh Tahar el-Hassan did pass this way a half hour behind the youth Allal Abdi and his captor, and he did bid me say to you that your road still lay south and that it would end soon now in the Temple, where you will also find Allal Abdi waiting for your coming."

The Sheik Tahar-el-Hassan! Larry had never heard of the fellow, but his message, the word he had left, somehow seemed to have a familiar ring; yes, by the gods, the Sheikh Tahar el-Hassan was Omar ben Medjad, or Mohammed was no prophet! But if so, who had spirited Benna away from the marabout's hut? And who was it that had brought her through the forest, to imprison her in the Temple? Who, but a friend of the Marabout Group, else they never would have escaped the striped death? But, why had they taken the girl? Could it be that, despite what the Marabout of Adrar had said concerning her safety, they feared her so much that they had decided to keep her under cover until after the mouloud? It must be that this was the answer.

Mystery plied on top of mystery! Larry's weary brain reeled under the task of trying to pierce through this veil of intrigue. He turned his eyes back to the other.

"Tell me, Youcoub el-Bachir; will you give me food and provide me with a place where I may rest?"

It was in his mind that Benna, now in the Temple, was for the time being safe, hence it was the part of wisdow for him to fortify his strength with food, his stamina and nerves with sleep. He heard the others reply:

"Al, who am I to be so honored that the great wizard, Youssef el-Habbassi who commands even the bugs of the forest to crawl, the spiders to sting and the spirits to turn to birds, should sleep in his domicile? Of a surety, you may have a place to rest, and food."

Larry, following the fellow into a squalid, dirty hut, wondered how word of his affair with the Marabout of Adrar had so quickly reached this place, and the ears of this man, especially. Inside he was given a couscous and a couch. He drank of black coffee and swallowed the food, then, too tried to smoke the cigaret Youcoub el-Bachir offered, he threw himself on the couch and closed his eyes. Dreamily, his host's voice reached him:

"Is it true that you met the striped death of the Marabout of Adrar back in the forest?"

Despite himself, Larry started. So the ancient villain back in the hut had sent the killer on his track! Assured that Benna was safe far ahead, he had struck on the instant to rid himself and his colleagues of the power of the wizard! Larry allowed a grim chuckle to escape his lips and held out the ear of the tiger.

He heard the other's startled exclamation, then as he placed the silken-flap beneath his burnouse, he heard the other's voice.

"Here, indeed, is a wizard of Allah, for his magic has done the striped death to its ultimate finish."

Again, just before he dropped asleep, Larry heard Youbcoub speak.

"By Allah, he sleeps, and it is well. Here is one more powerful, mayhap, than the Marabout Group itself. 'T were well, it is in mind, if his wings were clipped while there is time. Well, if he were to die now, the people, who have heard of him and his great powers, would wonder. It is best, after all, to leave him for the Gate of the Daggers and, passing that, to the Ordeal. Even his wizard's magic will not avail him there."

Larry, conscious only long enough to digest the possible import of this statement, which, he felt, Youcoub had not thought his ears would catch, dropped into deep, soul-satisfying slumber.

Night, blue-black and laden with mystery, shrouded the valley; a soft wind sighing through the forest wakened to life a thousand banshee voices, set the twigs of the dead lotus trees a-rattle and swept with eerie murmurs across the barren crags of the mountains. A mist was over the moon, so that the valley from end to end was bathed in a mellow, lemon-glow.

Larry, having slept the clock around, with a feeling of ravenous

Jetta Goudal and 'Lindy' Pictures Score At Ceramic.

Proving itself a masterpiece in point of screen technique, direction and character interpretation, a simple story of simple folk superbly told—a picture with a soul—"White Gold," Jetta Goudal's latest star vehicle, featuring Kenneth Thomson and George Bancroft, created a profound impression on its premier presentation at the Ceramic theatre yesterday in conjunction with first run pictures of New York's reception to Captain Charles A. Lindbergh.

There is nothing spectacular about "White Gold." There is nothing pretentious about it, but it presents in the most realistic manner a bit of life on a sheep ranch during a drought. It is a natural, human story, the psychology of which leaves a lasting impression on the mind. "White Gold," with its tense drama, its love, hatred, petty jealousy, and its unusual though logical climax, is a picture story one will long remember. Why? Because it is, in treatment and theme, so far above the ordinary photoplay that it defies comparison.

Fancy yourself on an arid sheep ranch. There has been no rain for months and the sheep are dying by the score. A petulant, venomous old man sits gloomily day and night in an easy chair the springs of which creak raspingly. His son has married a beautiful dancer, who sincerely loves her husband. But he is under the domination of his stern father who hates the young wife and refuses her even a kindly look which her heart craves. Husband and father discuss sheep continuously, nearly driving her to despair. Under his father's antagonistic influence, the husband's love soon wanes and the neglected wife dreams longingly of the past.

Comes a laughing, careless sheep herder who flips a coin and decides to stay at the ranch. He comes in contact with the wife. Her beauty, accentuated in a remarkable close-up of Miss Goudal in a steaming cup of coffee, charms him. The father sees in this development an opportunity of further poisoning his son's mind against his wife. Seeking that comradeship which her husband has denied her, the wife innocently finds relaxation in the company of the cheerful sheep herder. Just as the drought is broken by a heavy rain, the herder enters the wife's room.

The next morning when the husband returns to the ranch house, he finds his wife and father seated at a table. There is a rifle at the old man's chair. Nonplussed, he asks what has happened. The old man points to the bedroom door behind which lies the body of the herder. The husband is horrified and demands to know who killed the man and why. The father says he did it—the wife, who is hoping her husband will believe in her, remains silent. She rises, her husband asks where she is going and she replies that whatever road she may travel, it will insure her freedom. She gains the roadway without opposition, throws away the revolver with which she has slain the man who sought to dishonor her, and the last one sees of her she is walking away in the distance—to freedom.

There is a simple story the beauty of which is enhanced by the artistry with which it has been transferred to the screen by Director William K. Howard. Throughout the picture, which in sequence is absolutely without a flaw, there are bits of double and triple exposures that thrill. The effect of the creaking chair, the rasping sound of a knife being sharpened on a whetstone, a ticking clock, the percolation of dust into the living room—all these, so well calculated to key a neglected wife's nerves to the breaking point, are admirably pictured. In every respect, "White Gold," despite its simplicity, rises to noble heights. It has all the elements of a great picture and it will be acclaimed as one of the finest productions of the season.

ACIDS IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestents are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist some, Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful of powder or four tablets in water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

To Pierce Sky

Plans for the proposed 110-story Larkin Tower, on West Forty-Second Street, between Eighth and Ninth Avenues, New York City, have been approved by the city's building department. Cost is estimated at $25,000,000 and completion is anticipated before the end of 1928. Plans call for it to rise 1,200 feet above street level, 267 feet higher than the Eiffel Tower, Paris. Drawing of it is pictured here in comparison with the Eiffel Tower, Paris.

hunger, then kaleidoscopically, thoughts of Benna, Omar ben Medjed, the Sheikh Tahar el-Hassan and, lastly, Youcoub el-Bachir, flitted through his mind. Of his late host there was no sign, but near at hand in the deep gloom of the hut, was a taboet holding a couscous and some figs. He felt beneath his burnouse, but could not sense any loss of paraphernalia, therefore he took it for granted that he had not been searched while he slept. He made especially sure that his little dynamite cubes and his automatic were in place. Then, obeying the mandate of the inner man, he swallowed the food, to the last morsel.

As he ate he speculated on the probable future, wondering as to where Benna might be at the moment. He would, according to the Sheikh el-Hassan, find her in the Temple, but where was the Temple? Where in this place of mystery did the marabout's house of intrigue lie? Was that great, flaring light on the peak a portion of the Temple? Or was it a signal light used by the Group?

He found himself wondering about the light. There had been something decidedly strange about it. It was absurd, of course, to ascribe its power to electricity, for that was something even the greatest of the marabouts could have little knowledge of; besides, they could not manufacture current here in this out of the way place. No, there was some other explanation. Nor could the light have been made by the use of kerosene. It was damnedably disheartening to face so much mystery, and the light seemed to suggest still greater things ahead to be expected from the holy men who now ruled mountain Moslem.

Youcoub el-Bachir did not return and after a time Larry drew his sash tight, shifted his sword and stepped out into the soft velvety night, sensing at once its mystery and what seemed to him to be an evil portent. Unless he were decidedly mistaken, the Marabout Group now knew of his arrival, and despite the words of the holy man of Adrar, he had a feeling that danger, sharp and deadly, was just ahead, awaiting his coming.

But even if no physical violence was done him, was it not probable that the Marabout Group, knowing his growing popularity and fearing his power, would capture him and hold him a prisoner in the Temple itself until after the mouloud? Until success or complete failure of the move to enthrone a new sherif was assured?

Pondering thus he left the hut of Youcoub el-Bachir and turned down the narrow, twisting trail that led off toward the peak. Now, as he walked, he heard again those weird night voices that had caused his skin to tingle the previous night; sensed again that all about him little hidden lives were stirring—the lapwings and the ospreys, the bugs and the beetles, the hawks and the crows; the jackals, too. He wondered where his journey would end.

Somewhere ahead, of course, but where would this be? In the Temple, or before he could find that place of mystery? He knew his present course bore south for two reasons—because his own intuition told him that if he ever were to find the Temple it would be in that direction, and because the Sheikh Tahar el-Hassan had told Youcoub el-Bachir to tell him his road still lay south. Fighting the feeling that someone was near him, watching, following, stifling an overwhelming sense that he could hear the pad, pad, pad of soft tiger feet, he walked on. It was absurd to fear anew the striped death, for he knew that terror of the hills had been killed as surely as the red Moroccon sun would top the distant mountains at the dawn. But, might not there be other killers?

He increased his pace, at the same time noting that the forest was gradually falling away. It was as though he were coming to a cleared place. He was glad the trees were thinning, for just so long as they closed in about him he knew he would have that creepy feeling of being followed, of eyes upon him, perhaps eyes that even now were choosing the point between his shoulders where a long, Moorish dagger would thrust its way home. Under the urge of this last illusion he accelerated his pace yet again and found himself moving at a rapid trot through the night.

Unconsciously his eyes kept returning after each sidewise glance, to the peak, and suddenly he realized that for the last hour he had been waiting for that vivid, scarlet light to spring into being. He wondered why he felt so sure that he would see it again and raised his left hand, staring briefly at the stone on his finger.

Even the dimness of the lemon-shaded gloom could not smother the fire in the heart of the great ruby and now little blood-red darts of flame sprang up, scintillating as his hand moved with the motions of his body. He watched the stone pulse and glow, wondering whether it possessed any real power, or whether it merely was a token of identification. Judging by what had gone before, the latter supposition probably was the correct one.

WASHINGTON STEWART'S LETTER.

"LINDY'S" ABILITY TO CONTINUE KEEPING HEAD ANOTHER FEAT

By Charles P. Stewart.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—A princeling is born to adulation.

Plaudits are an essential part of his existence. If he hears none he knows there's something wrong—seriously wrong.

Cheers mean nothing to him. He's heard them all his life.

No actor knows his part as a sprig of royalty knows his. The stage takes training. Royalty's training is woven into its very life.

Yet it's a mighty tactful monarch who makes no blunders—who escapes giving the impression that he holds himself something better than ordinary flesh and blood—who avoids confusing the deference paid to him as a king with the deference which would be paid to him but for the merest accident, of birth.

When popular acclaim comes otherwise than as a gift—in the cradle—it usually is won by slow effort and then it comes only with years.

The elderly hero is apt to be past the point where worship signifies much to him. He's accustomed himself to it by degrees.

It frequently spoils him, nevertheless.

But occasionally the chain lightning of fame descends right out of a clear sky and strikes some totally unprepared individual all at once—sock!

It's assumed that he's done something to deserve it.

He may have been working up to it gradually, but others didn't know he was doing it and he didn't realize it himself.

He may be young or he may be old. If he's old, perhaps there's a chance for him yet. It's just possible that an old guy will have developed enough sense of humor beforehand, and suffered enough hard knocks, to absorb the electricity of sudden, unexpected success without blowing up.

God help him if he's young.

He'll stand there for a bit, with the lightning 'running' off him in streams, trying to figure out what hit him—and then, gosh! how upstage he'll get. Or else he'll do some dam-phool thing.

Then watch him collapse.

The lightning didn't strike him any faster than he'll deflate.

It doesn't make any difference how genuine his merits were or what a nice duck he really is or how well he was entitled to his momentary reputation as a world's wonder—it's an almost invariable rule.

Almost invariable—but not quite. Look at "Lindy."

One day he was a young mechanic—wore overalls—fine boy, but no importance whatever—stood just a chance of shaking hands with the President some day, at a public reception, but that was all—a mere kid.

Next day, but one, premiers were kissing him, kings were fighting to entertain him at lunch and the other night he slept at the White House.

And he couldn't fit into his new surroundings better if he'd been educated for 'em from the time he was one minute old. If he'd had it in him to make any bad break, needless to say he'd have begun making 'em long before now.

Flying the Atlantic, as a record-breaking performance, wasn't a patch on the way that boy's kept his head.

sional women, holding that they are abundantly able to fend for themselves, but it actively champions special laws for women who work in industry, not only because this class of women workers cannot look out for themselves, but because such laws are necessary to given women real, practical equality with men in industry. And it has been advised by Constitutional lawyers that should the proposed amendment be adopted all such special legislation would be automatically nullified.

Every State in the Union except Florida now has special laws of this character, all enacted after hard fights, and the League does not want to see that work undone.

Moreover, as Miss Hicks points out, there is certain to be no little debate as to what are the equal rights that Congress is to enforce in event of the adoption of the amendment.

For example, if a state law requires a man to support his wife, what would be the effect of this proposed amendment? Would a wife have to support her husband or would neither of them get support from the other? Some States now give a husband a greater interest in his wife's property than she has in his. How would the amendment affect this situation? Would the husband get what the wife gets now, or would the wife have the present share of the husband, or, since the law is now unequal, would the amendment abolish it altogether so that neither husband nor wife would have any interest in the other's property? Again, how would the amendment affect the laws providing penalties for sex offenses? Further, if men and women have equal rights throughout the United States which State shall set the standard? No two states have the same laws.

"Only the supreme court of the United States could answer these questions," says Miss Hicks. "Meanwhile we would have great confusion and uncertainty. It makes the whole matter of the legal status of men and women and their relation to each other too much a matter for determination by the courts, and as long as the amendment stands, limits the power which the people now have through their state legislation to make such adjustments as conditions suggest to them to be wise."

Justice is Fundamental.

In supporting the amendment, the Woman's Party in effect takes the position that justice should be the fundamental consideration in determining the matter; that as all men are guaranteed equality before the law, so justice dictates that women should be accorded equality with men. An impressive array of instances is cited in which legislation places women at a disadvantage as compared with men, and it is contended that the only way to correct that and to prevent anything more of the sort in the future is by adopting the constitutional amendment guaranteeing men and women equal rights and then seeing that Congress enforces it.

Opponents of the amendment do not deny that there are many cases in which women do not enjoy equal rights with men under the law, and they assert they are anxious to have that condition corrected. But they want to accomplish that end through the repeal or amendment of those laws that work an injustice to their sex, rather than through a radical change in the organic law of the nation which would wipe out all the protective legislation that has been secured for women in industry in 47 states.

As to this special legislation, an exponent of the Woman's Party point of view is quoted as having declared, "All we want from the men is an even break, a fifty-fifty deal," and the argument is advanced that the ultimate effect of such protective laws will be to "protect" women out of their jobs—there will, for example, be few jobs for women if the law establishes an eight-hour day for them whereas men are permitted to work longer hours.

On the other side it is contended that legal equality will not insure equality of opportunity; that wherever improvements have been made in the working conditions of women in industry they have come about almost wholly because of special legislation; that to abolish women's labor laws will serve to make even wider the gap between the conditions of men and women in industry; and that sex differences and sex responsibilities and considerations of the welfare of society and of the race make protective legislation for women in industry not only desirable but imperative.

As to the matter of equality of opportunity, the fable of the stork that once dined with a fox is quoted. The fox served dinner in a shallow, flat dish. The stork had an equal opportunity with the fox to eat out of the same dish, but he got very little to eat. Their opportunities were identical, but their physical equipment was different. Neither was inferior nor superior to the other—they were only unlike.

Boston Builds New City Auditorium For Conventions

BOSTON.—A municipal auditorium to be erected at a cost of $5,000,000 is proposed for Boston.

Mayor Malcolm Nichols is among the staunchest of the supporters in the movement to obtain the auditorium which is recognized as Boston's most needed municipal improvement.

With the recent completion of a group of hotels that compare favorably with those found in the leading cities of the world Boston bids fair to become a convention city. The only stumbling block for those who desire to have conventions come here is the difficulty in finding seating capacity for the many delegates to large conventions.

An incentive to speedy action in the erection of an auditorium is the 300th anniversary of the settlement of Boston which will be observed with the most elaborate program ever undertaken in New England.

The auditorium plan is favored by the Chamber of Commerce and practically all of the civic and fraternal organizations of the city and with municipal support seems inevitable.

Switzerland Electors Down Motor Insurance Law In Referendum

GENEVA, Switzerland.—In a referendum on a proposed motor law 226, pedestrians lost their cause and 340,000 most of whom were presumably motorists, carried the day against the bill.

The law if voted would have placed the bulk of the blame on the motorists in case of an accident with a pedestrian. The law also called upon the motorist to carry heavy insurance in order to permit the courts to award heavy damages to pedestrians in case of accident.

Youth of the Atlas

BY MARSHALL D. HALL
AUTHOR OF "THE VALLEY OF STONE" and "RIDDLE OF THE CIRCLE" ETC. ETC.

LARRY GRENFALL, American traveler and student of Eastern magic, receives a telephone call from BEN MANSOUR, cosmopolite and old friend, saying he must see him at once. Larry goes and Mansour tells him he is about to die and that he wants him to go to Morocco, where he, Mansour, is a sherif or native ruler. He is to find the Temple, endure the Ordeal, crush the Group and put Mansour's son on the throne. A Moor appears and gives Mansour a token, a ruby ring which Larry later wears. The Moor also throws into the room a tiny ivory tiger—the Striped Death. Mansour dies and his body disappears—carried off by the Moors. Larry goes to Morocco, finds

OMAR BEN MEDJAD, who dresses him as a wizard, and as Youssef el-Habassi he starts on his travels. He soon meets.

ALLAL ABDI, Mansour's son, who travels with him. In a fight with two Moors Allal Abdi is wounded and Larry discovers that "he" is a woman, Benna. No woman can ascend the Berber throne, so if Benna succeeds her father it must be as a man. Larry and Benna love one another intensely but Larry feels he must give her up rather than let her lose the sherifship. After many adventures they reach the "Gate of the Burning," they win through, are captured and locked up, but escape. In the fighting Larry has accidentally called Benna "Little White Flower." He is overheard by Omar who thus learns the truth. Benna and Larry come to the hut of a marabout or holy man. Larry performs magic to frighten the marabout and while he is so engaged Benna disappears. Racing madly to find her he is attacked by the Striped Death, the trained tiger killer. Larry kills the tiger, then continues his search for Benna. From a high peak a bright light strikes the ring he wears. He keeps on until he almost falls over a kneeling figure of a man who salaams. "How did you recognize me?" asks Larry.

CHAPTER THIRTY-FOUR.

"How, wizard; how indeed! Is the one good eye of Youcoub el-Bachir so like its fellow that is gone that he did not see the Eye of the Prophet sending its message back through the night to the Great Eye on the mountain? That it did not see the Eye of the Prophet on your finger answering the message of the Great Orb? Ai, not only did old Youcoub el-Bachir see this, but it is in my mind that the Marabout Group itself, sitting in the Temple, did catch teh message the Eye on your finger did flash through the night. Welcome, thrice welcome, blessed of the Prophet, to the sacred ground of the Temple, as I have intimated, expected. You seem to have been delayed."

His brain racing under the multiplicity of mystery, Larry answered as best he could.

"And why do you say that, Youcoub el-Bachir?"

"Because your companion, the youth Allal Abdi, the goodly one who has, we are already told renounced his right to power in favor of the Marabout Group, did precede you by a full half-night. Aye, he has already passed this way, in company with one who came behind them, one with a bold eye and a reckless manner. This last bade me tell you that you would find the youth in the Temple, awaiting your coming."

Now, indeed Larry was startled. Taking a step forward his powerful fingers crushed into the bony shoulder of Youcoub el-Bachir, and his voice sounded like the grinding of steel on steel.

"Make yourself plainer, Youcoub el-Bachir, for even a wizard, wearied from a long night in the forest, worn with a terrific battle with a striped death, cannot always be clear-minded enough to grasp one's every meaning."

Whereupon the other answered:

"I can only say further, that the Sheikh Tahar el-Hassan did pass this way a half hour behind the youth Allal Abdi and his captor, and he did bid me say to you that your road still lay south and that it would end soon now in the Temple, where you will also find Allal Abdi waiting for your coming."

The Sheik Tahar-el-Hassan! Larry had never heard of the fellow, but his message, the word he had left, somehow seemed to have a familiar ring; yes, by the gods, the Sheikh Tahar el-Hassan was Omar ben Medjad, or Mohammed was no prophet! But if so, who had spirited Benna away from the marabout's hut? And who was it that had brought her through the forest, to imprison her in the Temple? Who, but a friend of the Marabout Group, else they never would have escaped the striped death? But, why had they taken the girl? Could it be that, despite what the Marabout of Adrar had said concerning her safety, they feared her so much that they had decided to keep her under cover until after the mouloud? It must be that this was the answer.

Mystery piled on top of mystery! Larry's weary brain reeled under the task of trying to pierce through this veil of intrigue. He turned his eyes back to the other.

"Tell me, Youcoub el-Bachir; will you give me food and provide me with a place where I may rest?"

It was in his mind that Benna, now in the Temple, was for the time being safe, hence it was the part of wisdow for him to fortify his strength with food, his stamina and nerves with sleep. He heard the others reply:

"Ai, who am I to be so honored that the great wizard, Youssef el-Habbassi who commands even the bugs of the forest to crawl, the spiders to sting and the spirits to turn to birds, should sleep in his domicile? Of a surety, you may have a place to rest, and food."

Larry, following the fellow into a squalid, dirty hut, wondered how word of his affair with the Marabout of Adrar had so quickly reached this place, and the ears of this man, especially. Inside he was given a couscous and a couch. He drank of black coffee and swallowed the food, then, too tried to smoke the cigaret Youcoub el-Bachir offered, he threw himself on the couch and closed his eyes. Dreamily, his host's voice reached him:

"Is it true that you met the striped death of the Marabout of Adrar back in the forest?"

Despite himself, Larry started. So the ancient villain back in the hut had sent the killer on his track! Assured that Benna was safe far ahead, he had struck on the instant to rid himself and his colleagues of the power of the wizard! Larry allowed a grim chuckle to escape his lips and held out the ear of the tiger.

He heard the other's startled exclamation, then as he placed the silken-flap beneath his burnouse, he heard the other's voice.

"Here, indeed, is a wizard of Allah, for his magic has done the striped death to its ultimate finish."

Again, just before he dropped asleep, Larry heard Youbcoub speak.

"By Allah, he sleeps, and it is well. Here is one more powerful, mayhap, than the Marabout Group itself. 'T were well, it is in mind, if his wings were clipped while there is time. Well, if he were to die now, the people, who have heard of him and his great powers, would wonder. It is best, after all, to leave him for the Gate of the Daggers and, passing that, to the Ordeal. Even his wizard's magic will not avail him there."

Larry, conscious only long enough to digest the possible import of this statement, which, he felt, Youcoub had not thought his ears would catch, dropped into deep, soul-satisfying slumber.

Night, blue-black and laden with mystery, shrouded the valley; a soft wind sighing through the forest wakened to life a thousand banshee voices, set the twigs of the dead lotus trees a-rattle and swept with eerie murmurs across the barren crags of the mountains. A mist was over the moon, so that the valley from end to end was bathed in a mellow, lemon-glow.

Larry, having slept the clock around, with a feeling of ravenous

Eastman Picture Will Show Welcome Given Flying Ace

The Eastman Kodak company's home motion picture history of Lindbergh's achievement will be complete next week with the distribution of a reel showing the Atlantic Ace's reception in France, Belgium, and England, and in Washington. The foreign scenes already being selected from the best of the films from abroad and are being reduced to the amateur standard size of film. Special pictures are being taken of the Washington reception, and they will be rushed to Rochester immediately afterward.

The demand for the first reel—Lindbergh's start, which was released June 2—has been far greater than was estimated. The two reels together give the high lights of Lindbegh's story in eight minutes. They were prepared for the purpoa of affording the thousands of owners of projectors for amateur standard film an opportunity to preesrve a visual record of one of the most important events of modern history.

The second and final reel will be shown in homes throughout the country within a week or ten days. The timeliness of the picture, however, is expected to be of less importance to amateur movie machine owners than its value as a supplement to individual collections of personal motion pictures.

This picture is one of the "Cinegraphs"—short home movie films of drama, comedy, cartoons, travel, and events of outstanding historical importance—which are being released periodically for amateur movie machines in the same way that records are issued for phonographs.

hunger, then kaleidoscopically, thoughts of Benna, Omar ben Medjed, the Sheikh Tahar el-Hassan and, lastly, Youcoub el-Bachir, flitted through his mind. Of his late host there was no sign, but near at hand in the deep gloom of the hut, was a taboet holding a couscous and some figs. He felt beneath his burnouse, but could not sense any loss of paraphernalia, therefore he took it for granted that he had not been searched while he slept. He made especially sure that his little dynamite cubes and his automatic were in place. Then, obeying the mandate of the inner man, he swallowed the food, to the last morsel.

As he ate he speculated on the probable future, wondering as to where Benna might be at the moment. He would, according to the Sheikh el-Hassan, find her in the Temple, but where was the Temple? Where in this place of mystery did the marabout's house of intrigue lie? Was that great, flaring light on the peak a portion of the Temple? Or was it a signal light used by the Group?

He found himself wondering about the light. There had been something decidedly strange about it. It was absurd, of course, to ascribe its power to electricity, for that was something even the greatest of the marabouts could have little knowledge of; besides, they could not manufacture current here in this out of the way place. No, there was some other explanation. Nor could the light have been made by the use of kerosene. It was damnedably disheartening to face so much mystery, and the light seemed to suggest still greater things ahead to be expected from the holy men who now ruled mountain Moslem.

Youcoub el-Bachir did not return and after a time Larry drew his sash tight, shifted his sword and stepped out into the soft velvety night, sensing at once its mystery and what seemed to him to be an evil portent. Unless he were decidedly mistaken, the Marabout Group now knew of his arrival, and despite the words of the holy man of Adrar, he had a feeling that danger, sharp and deadly, was just ahead, awaiting his coming.

But even if no physical violence was done him, was it not probable that the Marabout Group, knowing his growing popularity and fearing his power, would capture him and hold him a prisoner in the Temple itself until after the mouloud? Until success or complete failure of the move to enthrone a new sherif was assured?

Pondering thus he left the hut of Youcoub el-Bachir and turned down the narrow, twisting trail that led off toward the peak. Now, as he walked, he heard again those weird night voices that had caused his skin to tingle the previous night; sensed again that all about him little hidden lives were stirring—the lapwings and the ospreys, the bugs and the beetles, the hawks and the crows; the jackals, too. He wondered where his journey would end.

Somewhere ahead, of course, but where would this be? In the Temple, or before he could find that place of mystery? He knew his present course bore south for two reasons—because his own intuition told him that if he ever were to find the Temple it would be in that direction, and because the Sheikh Tahar el-Hassan had told Youcoub el-Bachir to tell him his road still lay south. Fighting the feeling that someone was near him, watching, following, stifling an overwhelming sense that he could hear the pad, pad, pad of soft tiger feet, he walked on. It was absurd to fear anew the striped death, for he knew that terror of the hills had been killed as surely as the red Moroccon sun would top the distant mountains at the dawn. But, might not there be other killers?

He increased his pace, at the same time noting that the forest was gradually falling away. It was as though he were coming to a cleared place. He was glad the trees were thinning, for just so long as they closed in about him he knew he would have that creepy feeling of being followed, of eyes upon him, perhaps eyes that even now were choosing the point between his shoulders where a long, Moorish dagger would thrust its way home. Under the urge of this last illusion he accelerated his pace yet again and found himself moving at a rapid trot through the night.

Unconsciously his eyes kept returning after each sidewise glance, to the peak, and suddenly he realized that for the last hour he had been waiting for that vivid, scarlet light to spring into being. He wondered why he felt so sure that he would see it again and raised his left hand, staring briefly at the stone on his finger.

Even the dimness of the lemon-shaded gloom could not smother the fire in the heart of the great ruby and now little blood-red darts of flame sprang up, scintillating as his hand moved with the motions of his body. He watched the stone pulse and glow, wondering whether it possessed any real power, or whether it merely was a token of identification. Judging by what had gone before, the latter supposition probably was the correct one.

WASHINGTON STEWART'S LETTER

"LINDY'S" ABILITY TO CONTINUE KEEPING HEAD ANOTHER FEAT

By Charles P. Stewart.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—A princeling is born to adulation.

Plaudits are an essential part of his existence. If he hears none he knows there's something wrong—seriously wrong.

Cheers mean nothing to him. He's heard them all his life.

No actor knows his part as a sprig of royalty knows his. The stage takes training. Royalty's training is woven into its very life.

Yet it's a mighty tactful monarch who makes no blunders—who escapes giving the impression that he holds himself something better than ordinary flesh and blood—who avoids confusing the deference paid to him as a king with the deference which would be paid to him but for the merest accident, of birth.

When popular acclaim comes otherwise than as a gift—in the cradle—it usually is won by slow effort and then it comes only with years.

The elderly hero is apt to be past the point where worship signifies much to him. He's accustomed himself to it by degrees.

It frequently spoils him, nevertheless.

But occasionally the chain lightning of fame descends right out of a clear sky and strikes some totally unprepared individual all at once—sock!

It's assumed that he's done something to deserve it.

He may have been working up to it gradually, but others didn't know he was doing it and he didn't realize it himself.

He may be young or he may be old. If he's old, perhaps there's a chance for him yet. It's just possible that an old guy will have developed enough sense of humor beforehand, and suffered enough hard knocks, to absorb the electricity of sudden, unexpected success without blowing up.

God help him if he's young.

He'll stand there for a bit, with the lightning 'running' off him in streams, trying to figure out what hit him—and then, gosh! how upstage he'll get. Or else he'll do some dam-phool thing.

Then watch him collapse.

The lightning didn't strike him any faster than he'll deflate.

It doesn't make any difference how genuine his merits were or what a nice duck he really is or how well he was entitled to his momentary reputation as a world's wonder—it's an almost invariable rule.

Almost invariable—but not quite. Look at "Lindy."

One day he was a young mechanic—wore overalls—fine boy, but no importance whatever—stood just a chance of shaking hands with the President some day, at a public reception, but that was all—a mere kid.

Next day, but one, premiers were kissing him, kings were fighting to entertain him at lunch and the other night he slept at the White House.

And he couldn't fit into his new surroundings better if he'd been educated for 'em from the time he was one minute old. If he'd had it in him to make any bad break, needless to say he'd have begun making 'em long before now.

Flying the Atlantic, as a record-breaking performance, wasn't a patch on the way that boy's kept his head.

Haskin's Letter

sional women, holding that they are abundantly able to fend for themselves, but it actively champions special laws for women who work in industry, not only because this class of women workers cannot look out for themselves, but because such laws are necessary to given women real, practical equality with men in industry. And it has been advised by Constitutional lawyers that should the proposed amendment be adopted all such special legislation would be automatically nullified.

Every State in the Union except Florida now has special laws of this character, all enacted after hard fights, and the League does not want to see that work undone.

Moreover, as Miss Hicks points out, there is certain to be no little debate as to what are the equal rights that Congress is to enforce in event of the adoption of the amendment.

For example, if a state law requires a man to support his wife, what would be the effect of this proposed amendment? Would a wife have to support her husband or would neither of them get support from the other? Some States now give a husband a greater interest in his wife's property than she has in his. How would the amendment affect this situation? Would the husband get what the wife gets now, or would the wife have the present share of the husband, or, since the law is now unequal, would the amendment abolish it altogether so that neither husband nor wife would have any interest in the other's property? Again, how would the amendment affect the laws providing penalties for sex offenses? Further, if men and women have equal rights throughout the United States which State shall set the standard? No two states have the same laws.

"Only the supreme court of the United States could answer these questions," says Miss Hicks. "Meanwhile we would have great confusion and uncertainty. It makes the whole matter of the legal status of men and women and their relation to each other too much a matter for determination by the courts, and as long as the amendment stands, limits the power which the people now have through their state legislation to make such adjustments as conditions suggest to them to be wise."

Justice is Fundamental.

In supporting the amendment, the Woman's Party in effect takes the position that justice should be the fundamental consideration in determining the matter; that as all men are guaranteed equality before the law, so justice dictates that women should be accorded equality with men. An impressive array of instances is cited in which legislation places women at a disadvantage as compared with men, and it is contended that the only way to correct that and to prevent anything more of the sort in the future is by adopting the constitutional amendment guaranteeing men and women equal rights and then seeing that Congress enforces it.

Opponents of the amendment do not deny that there are many cases in which women do not enjoy equal rights with men under the law, and they assert they are anxious to have that condition corrected. But they want to accomplish that end through the repeal or amendment of those laws that work an injustice to their sex, rather than through a radical change in the organic law of the nation which would wipe out all the protective legislation that has been secured for women in industry in 47 states.

As to this special legislation, an exponent of the Woman's Party point of view is quoted as having declared, "All we want from the men is an even break, a fifty-fifty deal," and the argument is advanced that the ultimate effect of such protective laws will be to "protect" women out of their jobs—there will, for example, be few jobs for women if the law establishes an eight-hour day for them whereas men are permitted to work longer hours.

On the other side it is contended that legal equality will not insure equality of opportunity; that wherever improvements have been made in the working conditions of women in industry they have come about almost wholly because of special legislation; that to abolish women's labor laws will serve to make even wider the gap between the conditions of men and women in industry; and that sex differences and sex responsibilities and considerations of the welfare of society and of the race make protective legislation for women in industry not only desirable but imperative.

As to the matter of equality of opportunity, the fable of the stork that once dined with a fox is quoted. The fox served dinner in a shallow, flat dish. The stork had an equal opportunity with the fox to eat out of the same dish, but he got very little to eat. Their opportunities were identical, but their physical equipment was different. Neither was inferior nor superior to the other—they were only unlike.

Boston Builds New City Auditorium For Conventions

BOSTON.—A municipal auditorium to be erected at a cost of $5,000,000 is proposed for Boston.

Mayor Malcolm Nichols is among the staunchest of the supporters in the movement to obtain the auditorium which is recognized as Boston's most needed municipal improvement.

With the recent completion of a group of hotels that compare favorably with those found in the leading cities of the world Boston bids fair to become a convention city. The only stumbling block for those who desire to have conventions come here is the difficulty in finding seating capacity for the many delegates to large conventions.

An incentive to speedy action in the erection of an auditorium is the 300th anniversary of the settlement of Boston which will be observed with the most elaborate program ever undertaken in New England.

The auditorium plan is favored by the Chamber of Commerce and practically all of the civic and fraternal organizations of the city and with municipal support seems inevitable.

Switzerland Electors Down Motor Insurance Law In Referendum

GENEVA, Switzerland.—In a referendum on a proposed motor law 226,000 pedestrians lost their cause and 340,000 most of whom were presumably motorists, carried the day against the bill.

The law if voted would have placed the bulk of the blame on the motorists in case of an accident with a pedestrian. The law also called upon the motorist to carry heavy insurance in order to permit the courts to award heavy damages to pedestrians in case of accident.

"BLUE EAGLE" AT AMERICAN

George O'Brien and Janet Gaynor In Thrilling Picture.

Based upon the last story ever written by Gerald Beaumont, celebrated California author who died recently in Los Angeles, "The Blue Eagle," Fox Films version of a thrilling narrative of the American Navy and a gang feud in a great city, will open a two-day run at the American theatre today. George O'Brien and Janet Gaynor have the featured romantic roles. Others in the cast are William Russell, Margaret Livingston nad Robert Edeson.

John Ford, in producing this masterpiece for Fox Films, kept uppermost in mind the hundred-and-one opportunities for sharp characterization and keen comedy situations. At the same time, he gave the fullest possible sway to stalwart George O'Brien, dainty Janet Gaynor and the ever-popular William Russell. Mr. Edeson, as the lovable old parish arbiter, injects many human touches into the film drama.

O'Brien, cast as George D'Arcy, is the leader of a gang which is ever at loggerheads with the city faction, headed by Big Tim Ryan (William Russell.) This feud, which rages near an imaginary line marked by the church presided over by Father Joe, is intensified by the fact that both George D'Arcy and Big Tim Ryan love the same girl, Rose Cooper, as exemplified by Miss Gaynor.

Even when war hovers over the participants, and the fighting gangsters are thrown together in the navy, there is little cessation in hostilities.

D'Arcy, holding the rank as first-class water tender, is able to keep all parties in leash until the Armistice.

Then, with the return to the wards of the great city, dramatic sequence piles upon sequence until the smashing climax is reached when Father Joe ends the feud in a thoroughly sportsmanlike, but wholly unexpected manner.

Others in the cat are Ralph Sipperly, David Butler, Lew Short, Harry Tembrook and Jerry the Giant.

A detour is the roughest distance between two points. — Bellefontaine Examiner.

Eastman Picture Will Show Welcome Given Flying Ace

The Eastman Kodak company's home motion picture history of Lindbergh's achievement will be complete next week with the ditribution of a reel showing the Atlantic Ace's reception in France, Belgium, and England, and in Washington. The foreign scenes already being selected from the best of the films from abroad and are being reduced to the amateur standard size of film. Special pictures are being taken of the Washington reception, and they will be rushed to Rochester immediately afterward.

The demand for the first reel—Lindbergh's start, which was released June 2—has been far greater than was estimated. The two reels together give the high lights of Lindbegh's story in eight minutes. They were prepared for the purpoe of affording the thousands of owners of projectors for amateur standard flim an opportunity to preesrve a visual record of one of the most important events of modern history.

The second and final reel will be shown in homes throughout the country within a week or ten days. The timeliness of the picture, however, is expected to be of less importance to amateur movie machine owners than its value as a supplement to individual collections of personal motion pictures.

This picture is one of the "Cinegraphs"—short home movie films of drama, comedy, cartoons, travel, and events of outstanding historical importance—which are being released periodically for amateur movie machines in the same way that records are issued for phonographs.

"LINDY" PASSES OVER OHIO

FOUR DIE IN FIRE AT PORT HURON, MICH.

Today

Europe Worries.
Thanks Be For Lindbergh.
One Lady Jumped.
One Lady Fought.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

[The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.]

EUROPE is really worried about war. The league of nations considered the quarrel between Russia and Poland, caused by the murder of the Russian minister, a serious menace to the peace of the world. Let us hope we shall not be dragged into it, we did not shoot that Russian.

IT IS suggested that all the other nations of Europe unite in warning Russia that any blow struck by the Russian government will be resented and punished by all the nations combined. That may frighten Russia, but probably won't.

Europe's kings combined against France in her revolution, and France proceeded to beat them all. The revolution ultimately produced Napoleon and the world knows what he did.

THANK heaven for Lindbergh. He may make this government realize that to be defenseless in the air is to be absolutely defenseless. He told the chamber of commerce in New York yesterday: "We don't want war, and the way to avoid it is to be prepared for it. We need greatly enlarged commercial air service, greatly increased air mail service, to develop good pilots. It takes longer to make a pilot than to make a flying machine."

He reminded New York of the disgraceful fact that the richest city in the world has no air port, and must travel far off to Long Island to find one.

AND he said in substance this: "They talk about anti-aircraft guns as a defense against air-planes. A hundred fast planes would soon clear a battleship's decks of its anti-aircraft guns. Then a dozen bombers would sonk it. The anti-aircraft guns might, but probably wouldn't, bring down a few pilots, destroy a trifling sum in airplanes. But airplanes would wipe out a $20,000,000 battleship and its great crew of men."

MANY people, including the government, must listen to Lindberg. That's the advantage of climbing to a high place among men. You can make others listen.

MLLE. RENEE VALETTE, 18-year-old French girl, crushed with grief, jumped off the Eiffel Tower, 1,000 feet high. Her dress caught 35 feet down and she was rescued. Powerful publicity and its results will now cure her suicidal thought. Her pictures wil be in the newspapers. Many gentlemen will want to marry her. She will realize that this world is interesting, not one to be left in a hurry.

MUCH of woman's trouble has been caused by her prejudice against her own sex, her lack of mercy for other women that go wrong, her contempt for women generally. Miss Bessie Mack of Chicago, accused of flirting by two policewomen, "beat them up" when they sought to arrest her. She surrendered peaceably to a very small policeman, saying, "No woman can arrest me."

Review-Tribune Offers Booklet On Garden Insects

Are you battling with bugs? Insects take as lively an interest in your home garden as you do. Unless you know how to combat them, they are going to eat your vegetables and you are not.

You have probably had some experience in fighting the insect enemies of your crops, but it is unlikely that you are able to compete with the experts of the department of Agriculture.

These experts have written a 46-page booklet, describing practically every bug and disease which can threaten your garden, and explaining how to combat them.

Our Washington Bureau will secure a copy of this invaluable guide for gardeners for any one who sends in his name and address with four cents in stamps for return postage and handling.

Frederic J. Haskin, Director
The East Liverpool Review-Tribune Information Bureau,
Washington, D. C.

I enclose herewith FOUR CENTS in stamps for a copy of the GARDEN INSECT BOOKLET.

Two Army Airmen Go to Coast for Flight to Hawaii

DAYTON, O., June 17.—Two army flyers today are winging their way to Los Angeles where they will begin a non-stop flight to Hawaii, it was learned here today from officials at Wright field. Aggenberger left here late yesterday in a three-motored-Fokker monoplane, and were later reported at Scott field, Belleville, Ill., and at Hat Box field, Muskogee, Okla.

The army's plan to beat the navy on the attempt to make the first successful Hawaiian flight, it is said here, has been responsible for the deep secrecy that has surrounded the preparation and take-off.

At Los Angeles, it was admitted here, the Wright field aviators will stop to overhaul and refuel their ship with the least possible delay.

THOMPSON PARK ZONE TO FIGHT FOR RETENTION OF CAR LINE

Maplewood Residents Will Join Council's Forces.

ASK RAIL CHANGE

Franchise Question Chief Topic At Solons' Meeting.

Proposed abandonment of street car service on the Grandview line between Riverview cemetery and Thompson park by the Steubenville, East Liverpool & Beaver Valley Traction company, will be opposed by city council and residents of the Maplewood district, it was declared at last night's councilmanic session.

Campaign plans were outlined after a letter had been read from President J. H. Maxwell, who declared the company's revenue would not justify lowering tracks to the street grade north of La Belle avenue.

The franchise on the hilltop section of the line expired last December.

Solon W. H. Kelly, chairman of the franchise committee, reported the result of an interview with Maxwell. He also explained the efforts made by the franchise committee to have the rails on Union and Washington streets lifted by the company, and suggested that court action be instituted to have the mandate of council complied with. He announced that Maxwell had signified a willingness to meet with a committee of Klondyke residents and a member of council from East End to discuss operation of cars to the state line instead of Putnam street.

Other councilmen took part in the debate which ended with the passage of a motion that council as a whole act in conjunction with a committee of Maplewood residents in a movement to reain the Thompson park trolley service.

Fisher Oil and Gas Co. Opens $60,000 Station

Recognized As One of Finest In State, New Gasoline Supply Place Established at Broadway and Fifth.

The Fisher Oil and Gas company's $60,000 gasoline station, at the Broadway-Fifth street intersection, opposite the postoffice, and recognized as one of the finest of its kind in the state, will formally open tomorrow, although business was accepted today.

Albion Fisher is president of the company, which, in addition to its downtown station, an attractive Kittanning brick structure, with green tile roof, operates a bulk station in Harvey avenue, East End, and supplies the B. & W. Tire company, Dresden avenue.

The Broadway station is the last word in equipment, with lubricating pits, for greasing and cleaning and changing oil; ladies' and gentlemen's lavatories, drinking fountains and air towers. The pits are under roof and heated, thus assuring service irrespective of weather.

The building, which occupies the old site of the O. J. Herrington garage, was erected by D. F. Nellis & Sons. J. A. Lohman & Son, of Werren, were the architects.

The company will handle Pennzoil oil and gasoline. Pennzoil oil was used by L. B. Miller, in his record-breaking automobile run from coast-to-coast and return, and by Chamberlin and Levine in establishing a world's long distance flying record from New York to Germany.

The Broadway-Fifth street station will be open from early in the morning until midnight daily. Later, an all-night service may be established, President Fisher said.

Low excursion rates between E. Liverpool, Lisbon, Leetonia and Salem, Sunday June 12, 19 and 26. Tickets must be secured at Ticket Office.

Immediately after the steamship docked the two airmen went on board. As their wives had not expected them until after daylight both were in bed in their cabins.

ATLANTIC ACE MEETS ESCORT AT DAYTON ON FLIGHT TO WEST

Colonel Follows Direct Airline, Missing East Liverpool.

PITTSBURGH SAD

"Spirit of St. Louis" Leaves New York at 8:17.

DAYTON, O., June 17.—"We," with Colonel Charles Lindbergh at the stick, circled over Wilbur Wright field here today at 12:56 p. m. as 27 pilots, including the famous Selfridge field pursuit group, took off to escort the flyer to St. Louis.

Col. Lindbergh, after circling the field, piloted the "Spirit of St. Louis" from the field to the city of Dayton, where he circled the business district three times, flying low, but indulging in no "stunting." He then returned to the field, picked up the 27-plane escort, zoomed upward, and headed westward for the Indiana state line, 40 miles distant at 1:10 p. m.

He was flying at a good altitude, and averaged around 100 miles an hour.

DAILY VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL WILL PRESENT OPEN AIR PAGEANT AT THOMPSON PARK, JUNE 27-28

Under auspices of the Daily Vacation Bible school and the endorsement of the East Liverpool Ministerial Association an open air pageant, "The Story Beautiful," will be given by 300 persons from the various churches of this city at Thompson park on Monday and Tuesday evenings, June 27 and 28.

The event will be under the immediate direction of the Thomas Wade Lane Studios of Cleveland.

Accentuating the scenes depicted will be a 100-voice choir which will include the outstanding singers of the district.

Solo numbers, "Repent Ye" and "Crucify Him" will be sung by Thomas Wade Lane himself, who a day or two prior to the giving of the pageant will arrive in the city for the final rehearsal and also to direct the whole during both evenings of the engagement.

The pageant is now being booked throughout various cities of the country. At Meadville, Pa., and in Cleveland preparations for similar ones are now being made.

Thompson park is held by those directing the project to be ideal for the purpose.

Those taking part will occupy the north section near the middle of the flat surface part devoted to grass and flowers. Spectators will stand in the south area. The park's center will be utilized for the march of those taking part.

The used space of the performers will be 125 by 75 feet.

Two pianos will also be used to heighten the music. Special arrangement will be made for lighting.

Fifteen episodes of the life of Christ will be exhibited as follows:

"The Voice in the Wilderness," "The Baptism at the River," "The Selection of the Apostles," "The Sermon on the Mount," "Mary Seeking Her Son," "Feeding the Multitude," "The Sinful Woman," "Suffer the Little Children to Come Unto Me," "Entry to Jerusalem," "Purifying the Temple," "Gethsemane," "The Betrayal," "Before Pilate," "The March to Calvary" and "At Calvary."

In charge of the production are Miss Jean Medley, Helen Freeman Gigliotti, Rachel Travis Beckwith and Hazel Vere Williams.

"BLUE EAGLE" AT AMERICAN

George O'Brien and Janet Gaynor In Thrilling Picture.

Based upon the last story ever written by Gerald Beaumont, celebrated California author who died recently in Los Angeles, "The Blue Eagle," Fox Films version of a thrilling narrative of the American Navy and a gang feud in a great city, will open a two-day run at the American theatre today. George O'Brien and Janet Gaynor have the featured romantic roles. Others in the cast are William Russell, Margaret Livingston nad Robert Edeson.

John Ford, in producing this masterpiece for Fox Films, kept uppermost in mind the hundred-and-one opportunities for sharp characterization and keen comedy situations. At the same time, he gave the fullest possible sway to stalwart George O'Brien, dainty Janet Gaynor and the ever-popular William Russell. Mr. Edeson, as the lovable old parish arbiter, injects many human touches into the film drama.

O'Brien, cast as George D'Arcy, is the leader of a gang which is ever at loggerheads with the city faction, headed by Big Tim Ryan (William Russell.) This feud, which rages near an imaginary line marked by the church presided over by Father Joe, is intensified by the fact that both George D'Arcy and Big Tim Ryan love the same girl, Rose Cooper, as exemplified by Miss Gaynor.

Even when war hovers over the participants, and the fighting gangsters are thrown together in the navy, there is little cessation in hostilities.

D'Arcy, holding the rank as first-class water tender, is able to keep all parties in leash until the Armistice.

Then, with the return to the wards of the great city, dramatic sequence piles upon sequence until the smashing climax is reached when Father Joe ends the feud in a thoroughly sportsmanlike, but wholly unexpected manner.

Others in the cat are Ralph Sipperly, David Butler, Lew Short, Harry Tembrook and Jerry the Giant.

Marking another step in the police department's campaign to reduce to a minimum traffic hazards at a dangerous intersection, a two-way automatic signal system is in operation today at the foot of the Lisbon street hill.

With no amber lens, the customary caution signal in other traffic lights, as part of the equipment in the installation, automotive vehicles will move on the green and stop on the red light. For a few seconds between signals there will be no flash, thus preventing a "running start" on the part of motorists bound up the Lisbon hill.

Under the four-lane plan in effect at the intersection, two lines of traffic will move on each signal—one on the East Liverpool-Wellsville route and another on the Lisbon street-Eighth street section.

Police will be kept on duty at the corner for several days, in order to enforce regulations until motorists become familiar with the arrangement. And in the meantime traffic officers are to be instructed to arrest all speeders.

The public is hopeful that the new plan shall prove a factor in reducing the accident toll which, seemingly, has increased at this point because of confusion, especially on the part of strangers, over the four-lane arrangement, the efficacy of which has been a matter of debate.

A Swimming Champion

A swimming event occurred the other day that really deserves attention.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Foster of New York were cruising to Florida on a yacht when, off the coast of North Carolina, the engine went dead. The tide was carrying the boat out to sea. There were no vessels in sight, and the shore was rapidly receding. The sea was running high. Help had to be got somehow. Mr. Foster, still ill from an operation, was incapable of manning a rowboat, or even entering one with his wife in that rough water.

So Mrs. Foster started out alone to bring help from shore. Her boat soon capsized in the heavy waves. So she slipped off her shoes and started swimming. She swam eight miles in that high sea, battling with waves, tide and undertow, and in peril of sharks, and fell in a dead faint as she finally reached the breakwater. Regaining consciousness, she walked two miles in her bare feet, over sharp rocks, until she reached a lighthouse. There she succeeded in attracting attention, and fishermen brought the drifting yacht to the harbor, saving her husband's life.

That, we submit, was as great a feat as swimming the English or Catalina channel. Greater perhaps, because there was in it no trace of selfishness or vanity. Mrs. Foster simply had a big thing to do, and she did it, and is probably surprised to find herself proclaimed heroic.

Budgets

In the seven years since the federal budget has been in operation, the public debt has been reduced at the rate of a billion dollars a year.

The budget hasn't done it all, of course. A natural recession from war expenses has had much to do with it. Prosperity has had much to do with it. Administrative and congressional effort to hold down expenses has played an important part. But the establishment and maintenance of a budget system, planning expenditures in a businesslike way, trying to adapt income logically to outgo, has been the biggest constructive factor. It makes the spending of the nation's money a rational process instead of one based on whim, political influence and guesswork.

Yet there are a surprising lot of people, in public life and private life, who still don't seem to believe in budgets. That is one reason why so many states and cities don't get the worth of their taxpayers' money, why many businesses don't make money, why many families are always in the hole.

Poor Farms, Fine Forests

A few years ago much anxiety was expressed about the growing number of abandoned farms in New York state and other sections of the country. It has since been discovered that those farms were wisely abandoned. Their soil was not really fit for profitable farming. Nevertheless they had their usefulness and it was discovered.

In the state of New York alone, 2,147,102 acres of unfarmable land have been turned into public parks and forests. Private owners of land are setting out forests. The state forestry department expects to set out 30,000,000 trees this year and 40,000,000 in 1928.

What with private and municipal planting, the forest situation in that state is looking up rapidly.

It is a development that carries a useful hint to other regions of poor farming land which is often fine for tree-growing.

The company which is said to have insured an actress' smile for $50,000 is not taking any undue chances. 'Most any of us would smile the rest of our lives for $50,000.

OUT OF THE PRESCRIPTION DEPARTMENT

Prescriptions offer a fair enough field for the exercise of the inventive faculty by those geniuses who devise our native folk lore and think up our home-grown anecdotes. Yet it just has occurred to me that to date, I rather have slighted this fertile department. I hasten to make amends for the oversight by lumping together several typical specimens.

To begin with, there is the venerable yarn, so deeply prized by the antiquarians of American humor, of the deaf man who took a prescription to the corner drug store and on receiving a small vial said:

"How much?"

"Seventy-five cents," answered the druggist.

"Hey?" The purchaser cupped one hand against his ear.

"Seventy-five cents," repeated the prescriptionist, raising his voice.

"Oh, five cents," said the deaf man. "Much obliged." And he dropped a nickle in the hand of the other and departed.

The drug store man stared after him for a moment.

"Oh, well, let it go," he said. "Let's see—one cent for the bottle, one cent for the mixture and say, half a cent for the cork and the label and the string and the paper. At that, I clear two and a half cents on the deal."

Then there is another, also of great age, dealing with the small boy who walks into the pharmacy and asks for ten cents' worth of castor oil. The man behind the counter measures out the dose, puts it in a glass, adds a dash of lemon extract from the soda fountain and hands the tumbler to the youngster.

"There you are," he says "drink that down, son."

The lad drinks it down, then lingers about expectantly.

"Was there anything else?" inquires the clerk.

"I'm waiting for that castor oil," says the little fellow.

"But I gave it to you. It's down inside of you."

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, July 17. — Thoughts while strolling: A parrot in a mansion window pecking at a lifted foot. Nothing can look so bored as a parrot. Those low glossy bijoulike ears for poor little rich girls. Handbags that resemble stuffed puppies.

Persian cats with golden bells and jeweled clappers. Girls leaving shampoo parlors, like Venuses from clean waves. Richly dressed and no place to go. Those cold looking, impersonal Gold Coast doctors with Vandykes and lapel roses.

An amorous old baron who has had three American wives and is apparently searching for the fourth. Door tenders sullen in suffocating broadcloth. The mouveau richein castles — just a few years removed fom shacks on the hillside.

The senile dreariness of those ancient brownstone fronts. Women's hats now shaped like helmets. Tiny court yards with backless benches. Fat caretakers coming out of airless basements to cool off. Lazy dogs twitching in the searing sun.

The sooty smudge of a garage lined street. Glib mechanicians who seem car washers. Gaudy night clubs peeping through the oily smear. And a sprinkling of Italians in spats who look suspiciously like bootleggers.

A plump youth in white flannels cooling himself with a palm leaf fan. Deserted tea rooms. Why do red headed women wear pink? Never see freckles anymore. Chunks of dwindling ice in delicatesseen windows. Chorus girls gasping on theatre fire escapes.

A flash of lightning, threads of rain and the sweltering town heaves a collective sigh. Taxicab drivers scan clouds hopefully. Tired women burdened with bright bargains scuttle toward the terminals. And the sun glares out again.

A certain leading lady walks Fifth Avenue these hot afternoons with a Pomeranian dog dressed in a Red Riding hood cape, its head incased in the hood. It seems almost a case for the S. P. C. A.

One of those brash young men who seem to enjoy the idea of testing the immortality of the soul under wheels of taxis in heavy traffic centers was brushed and knocked down near the Public Library the other morning. A policeman rushed to his aid.

"Did you get the number of that taxi?" asked the victim anxiously.

"What are you doing, collecting them?" inquired the cop.

Dieting has received a setback. Luncheon places report women are no longer nibbling at sprays of lettuce and topping it off with crystalized violets for dessert. They are lunching substantially. The reason is not clear, although one maitre de hotel says he believes recent articles emphasizing the dangers of dieting in newspapers and magazines have contributed largely to increased ordering.

It is beyond dispute that many beautiful women have grown drawn and ugly as the result of enforced starvation. The process was unnatural and results in some instances were quite disastrous.

A new form of invitation to have a drink among those who go in for the latest in cigarette wrist tapping and such: "What will you have to take?"

In one of the murmur mosques is a sign: "Help us obey the closing law by leaving at 3 a. m. sharp." And near it is another reading: "Please do not try to hail taxicabs at the door after 5 a. m. Go to the corner."

Confusing, this Broadway after dark!

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

The Equal Rights Amendment.

WASHINGTON, D. D., June 17.—At the next session of Congress there will be a renewal of the fight over the proposed "Equal Rights Amendment," sometimes referred to as the "Woman's Rights Amendment," and there are indications that it will be waged more vigorously than ever before That Congress will pass the resolution that would submit the amendment to the several state for ratification is a matter of doubt, but it is altogether certain that the national lawmaking body will hear or receive a great mass of evidence and arguments on both sides of the controversy.

The proposed amendment is snappy and to the point. It provides succintly that "Men and women have equal rights throughout the United States and every place subject to its jurisdiction."

Organizations of women are arrayed against each other in the fight already made and in prospect, which will probably make it easier for men legislators to avoid or defer the issue. The amendment is sponsored by the Woman's Party, which was the militant organization in the battle for woman suffrage, but it is stated that up to the present time that is the only national organization of women that is supporting it.

Eleven such organizations are said to be actively opposing the amendment, while several others have listed it among matters to be studied. Leading the opposition is the National League of Women Voters, which has just fired the first broadside in the renewal of the battle. This takes the form of a monograph on "Special Legislation for Women in Industry," prepared by Miss Julia M. Hicks, of the Connecticut state league.

It epitomizes the case of the opposition by declaring with emphasis that women should have equal rights with men, but even more forcibly that they should not be given identical rights. "The National League of Women Voters seek equal opportunity for men and women to develop and exercise their abilities in every field. It believes that this equality of opportunity should be practical and real. It differs from the Woman's Party as to what equality means and as to the method of securing it."

Would Nullify Special Laws.

ROAD BUILDING IS PROGRESSING

Record for Pouring of Concrete Hung Up by Holmes Company.

Holmes Construction company of Wooster hung up a record for road building last week and this, on Thursday of last week they poured 1,036 feet of 16-ft. concrete. On Monday of this week they broke their own record by pouring 1,114 feet. In the last two weeks this firm has poured over 9,000 feet of road or 1 7-10 miles and missed one-half day on account of rain. They are paving the Salineville-Summitville road. Wednesday they completed eveything in Franklin township except about 1,200 feet. This is located along their siding where they are unloading and will have to be the last they put in.

This is the first hard surfaced pavement in Franklin township.

It was their original intention to move their equipment to Salineville and pour the remainder of the road from that point. However, since the Foster mine at that point is working it is impossible to use their siding and they have decided to haul all material from Sammitville and within a few days they will be able to haul over they road they have just poured.

The Lewis and Copeland company of Lima completed a road job in Coshocton county Tuesday. They will immediately move their equipment to sub-station and commence work on I. C. H. 502 from sub-station to Apples and up Cope hollow past the township line school their contract goes from sub-station to Apples and from township line school to top of Williamsport hill.

This same company is making fair progress on the Columbiana-New Waterford road, their daily average is somewhere sound 400 feet per day of 16-foot concrete road.

The Mellert-Weidner company of Medina, working on the Salem-Hanoverton road, are making good progress, but have been delayed on account of rainy weather and a bad subgrade. They have poured in the last two weeks, however, over 6,000 feet of 16-foot concrete notwithstanding the weather.

Lewis and Copeland by the end of June should complete all of the grading on the Youngstown road from township line school to top of hill at Williamsport. Their rough grading will all be completed by Tuesday of next week. All concrete structures are now completed.

The Allison-Harris company are expecting daily their new steam shovel. This will be moved to Cannon's Mill to complete the fill at the new bridge Mr. Armstrong is just completing.

H. C. Armstrong has started construction of culverts and bridges on the Liverpool-Palestine road out of Calcutta.

J. D. Paxson has completed the Salem-Franklin Square road out of Salem. This road was let last year. Paxson is now working on the Columbiana-Canfield road in Mahoning county. There is about 800 feet of this road in this county. This road was let last year.

John Hill of Ada is making good progress on the bridge over West Fork Beaver creek at Williamspot. Possibly by the end of this week he will have all the abutments in and he will then start on superstructure.

HEALTH INSPECTOR VISITS COUNTY

W. D. McDill, representing the state department of health with county health commissioner T. T. Church, deputy game warden L. W. Boring of Lisbon and Henry Vess of East Liverpool, made an investigation of the polluted water running into Bull and Beaver creeks from the Townsend mine in Middleton township Thursday.

McDill did not announce what report he would make to the state board of health, but intimated that a nuisance had been maintained, in permitting the polluted water to flow from the abandoned mine into the two creeks.

BETHANY PLANS NEW BUILDINGS

Million Dollar Program Approved by Board of Trustees.

Building program including the expenditure of approximately $1,000,000 and to extend over the next few years was announced by President Cloyd Goodnight, D. D., of Bethany college at the annual alumni banquet held this week.

The program has been approved by the Board of Trustees and work will begin as soon as landscape gardeners and architects look over the campus for the most desirable location for the new buildings which will include two new dormitories.

The president also announced that the enrollment would be increased to 450 as soon as housing facilities would permit. The school in the past has made a practice of keeping the enrollment below the 300 mark but as soon as the building program is well underway the limit will be placed at the new mark.

The president stated that the college endowment at present is practically one and three-quarter million dollars while the estimate placed on the buildings and equipment is less than a million.

The present endowment together with increases in departmental work at the college, would be able to take care of the current expenses of the school, and to allow an extension in the building programs.

Plans and specifications for the new dormitories will be asked for immediately by the board, whose plans are for the construction of the new buildings would be for completion by the end of another school term. No building price was given for the new buildings. The two buildings will be constructed to accomodate 170 students combined.

FIND NO TRACE OF NUNGESSER

Mystery of Flare Signals In Quebec Unsolved.

QUEBEC, Que., June 17.—The mystery of the supposed flare signals reported to have been seen near St. Germain township in the mountainous wilderness north of the Saguenay river was still unsolved today, but hope that they might have come from the missing French aviators, Charles Nungesser and Francois Coli, has almost been abandoned.

Flashes were reported Sunday night, Tuesday night, Wednesday night and again last night.

Doubt is now expressed by supporters of the early theory that Nungesser and Coli were stranded in the northern part of Quebec province. However, hope has not been abandoned entirely that the men may be found alive in the wilderness.

Word was received from Chicoutimi that flashes had been seen last night about 9 o'clock in the same district where the earlier "signals" were reported.

LINDY HAS RESCUED AVIATION IN U. S., WAR BIRDS SAY

Cream Of America's Army Flyers Await Hero of Skies.

MEET AT DAYTON

Ocean Jumper's Feat Came at Opportune Moment.

BY WILLIAM K. HUTCHISON.

WITH LINDBERGH ARMY ESCORT, ENROUTE TO ST. LOUIS, June 17.—"Lindy has rescued aviation in the United States." The war birds of America—those men who will fight the next war in the skies—paid this tribute today to Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, in recognition of his heroic conquest of the trans Atlantic ether.

While awaiting a rendezvous with Lindbergh in the skies above Dayton, Ohio, the cream of America's army birdmen declared Lindbergh had awakened the conscience of the American people to the necessity for prompt development of both commercial and military aviation.

The army pilots who flew from Washington to New York with Lindbergh and who were to accompany him from Dayton to St. Louis were of single voice when it came to speaking of Lindy's feat. He put on one fine show, said one bronzed warrior of the skies and his comrades gathered around a mess table echoed "He sure did." To the army birdmen Lindbergh's feat came at a most opportune moment.

Feat Awakens People.

America first developed aviation, they said, and then allowed most of the great nations of the world to come along and surpass it in air strength. It was Lindy they added whose feat awakened the people to teh necessity for a revival of aeronautics in America and the revival already has gotten under way.

"Lindy has given aviation a boost all over the country" observed Lieut. E. E. Tiny Harmon, who flew with the colonel in army air training camps.

"The biggest kick army pilots get out of his feat is the fact that he left New York knowing that if he did get across the ocean he would land in Paris after dark on a perfectly strange field.

"Knowing the danger of such an effort aside from getting over the ocean he just went ahead and did it. That's what gets the pilots. And he's helped aviation everywhere. I know two boys who bought a commercial plane the day before Lindy landed in Paris. They paid for it out of their receipts in three days. It's the same now with all commercial aviation. Lindy has rescued it."

33 Planes in Escort.

The same sentiment was expressed by Captain Andrew W. Smith, the oldest flying flight surgeon in the army. "We give him all the credit in the world," said Captain Smith. "Lindy's flight was the biggest boost ever given aviation in this country."

The army's air escort for Lindbergh concentrated at Dayton was composed of 21 fast pursuit planes from Selfridge field, Michigan, six observation planes from Bolling field, Washington and a half dozen other planes from Wright field, Dayton. The army flyers had a rendezvous with Lindbergh in the skies above Dayton for 1 o'clock, after which they planned to escort him into St. Louis. On his flight from New York to Dayton Lindy was expected to pass over Pittsburgh and Columbus, Ohio. From Dayton to St. Louis the army men planned to follow the National highway passing over Richmond, Greenfield, Indianapolis, Greencastle and Terre Haute, Ind., Marshall, Effingham and Greenville, Illinois.

members young Lindbergh as a boy and knows intimately some of the quartet from his home town who last week passed through East Liverpool for Washington.

She left Wednesday to introduce the preliminary work in Meadville, but will return here for the pageant.

Mrs. Beckwith, following her return to Cleveland today to witness tomorrow the marriage of her elder daughter Sabre Beckwith, to James Nichols, son of a Russian officer attached to the guard of the late Czar Nicholas, will come back to East Liverpool Sunday morning. She is in charge of the dramatic activities of the Lane Studios.

Here now and remaining for the production except for a day or two in Meadville, Pa., is Helen Freeman Gigliotti, of Cleveland. She is the director of the concert department of the Lane studios. She will look after the business interests and the arranging of the music.

Hazel Vere Williams, of Cleveland, dramatic director, who was here for nearly two days, left today to take charge of the Meadville pageant.

The manager of the grounds is Claude Saner, of Cleveland. He arrived here Wednesday.

The scenario of the pageant was written by Sidney Langdon, the Chautauqua impersonator and lecturer, who has several times appeared in East Liverpool.

The big choir will have a male, women's and mixed chorus parts during the production.

Initial practice was held at the Y. M. C. A. banquet rooms on Thursday evening. Open air rehearsals will begin next week.

Music, Prof. Hugh Laughlin; tickets, Miss Polen; Bible school, Miss Alma Taylor; grounds, Leland Thompson and Thomas Hindle.

The pageant is destined, its promoters believe, to serve a religious slant to the efforts of churches and religious bodies in impressing on spectators as the spoken word or pictures cannot do the sublimity attached to the early life of the Nazarene.

Food Sale.

Saturday afternoon at Ogilvie's store. Benefit Girls' Mission circle of First United Presbyterian church.

Colonel Lindbergh Faces Rain On Last Lap of His Flight

ST. LOUIS, June 17.—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh and his aerial escort flying to St. Louis today may have to complete the last part of their journey in rain.

A drizzle started falling in St. Louis this morning and according to the weather bureau here showers are expected over central Illinois.

West Eighth Street Assessments.

Assessments levied on property holders for the recent improvement of West Eighth street amounting to $4.07 a foot were ordered cut in half. Decision was reached after an appeal for a reduction was made by Attorney Ben L. Bennett, representing the property owners. It was pointed out that the assessment of the Steubenville, East Liverpool and Beaver Valley Traction company had been reduced in the sum of $5,468.88 which was held illegal by Attorney Bennett and Solicitor Hoover.

Motion was passed directing the ordinance committee to prepare a resolution for presentation at the next meeting restoring the Traction company's assessment to the original figure and, in addition, allow the property owners a reduction of 24 cents per foot of frontage.

Mayor Ralph C. Benedum's veto of the sidewalk obstruction ordinance repealer was received and filed. His message on allowing the mayor's salary reduction ordinance to become a law without his signature was also filed.

Refund Sewer Assessments.

Clerk Shone read two communications opposing a reduction in the salary of the mayor. The first was from the East End Civic association, while the other was from Crusade Union, Women's Christian Temperance Union. Both were ordered filed.

The ordinance committee was instructed to prepare a resolution to reimburse James Hodgkinson in the amount of $91.27 for an illegal sewer assessment in Young's alley. Like action was taken upon the complaint of excessive sewer assessment levied against an Edgeworth avenue property owner.

Harry Peach, president of the Adamant Porcelain company, asked that council act in regard to the water damaging the railroad tracks near his plant. The complaint was referred to the service-safety director.

Ordinance to issue bonds to pay for the city's share of the West Eighth street improvement was passed on second reading by a vote of 4 to 3.

Carnival Under Fire.

After a motion was carried to adjourn to meet at the call of the chair, President N. P. Kerr took occasion to criticize persons responsible for bringing a carnival to the city this week. He declared it was not fair to merchants to have outsiders operate all kind of chance cards under the auspices of the police department, and next week to arrest local men for the same offense. He called attention to the law relative to examinations for food handlers, and asserted that foodstuffs were being handed out on the carnival grounds by people from all sections of the country who had never undergone examination as to their fitness to handle food.

Service Safety Director J. W. Moore assured council that no other carnival permits would be issued during the year. He expressed his opposition to carnivals in general during his remarks.

Ordinances Enacted.

The following ordinances and resolutions were passed under suspension of rules:

Ordinance to proceed with the grading and paving of Orchard Grove avenue to Smithfield street.

Ordinance to proceed with the improvement by paving of West Sixth street from Monroe to West alley.

Resolution authorizing the service-safety department to proceed with the improvement of Tanyard run by installing a drain or culvert over West alley at a cost not to exceed $495. Balance of cost will be met by the Litten Motor company.

Ordinance to proceed with the grading and paving of Oakwood avenue to Pleasant Heights.

Ordinance authorizing grading of Erie street, Dewey and Maryland avenue to Pennsylvania avenue.

Ordinance to proceed with the construction of a sanitary sewer in Etna alley to Black Oak alley.

Ordinance authorizing instaliation of a sanitary sewer in Young's alley to Daisy alley.

Ordinance to issue bonds in the amount of $2,570 to pay final judgments in cases of Nora Irwin and Harry A. Carraher.

Ordinance authorizing improvement of West Ninth street was laid over until the next meeting.

Ordinance amending the budget measure to grant the safety department $350 was held over owing to an error in the verbiage.

Ordinance providing that show or excursion boats exhibiting or carrying passengers from the local wharf pay a license fee of $10, and $5 for each successive day.

MISS UPDEGRAFF DECLINES POST OF LIBRARIAN

Miss Jane Irwin Named By School Board of Directors.

SALARY IS $1,350

No Action Taken On High School Principalship.

The board of education was advised last night by Superintendent C. S. McVay that Miss Florence Updegraff, retiring high school principal, has declined the proffered appointment as school librarian.

The board then approved the appointment by the teachers' committee of Miss Jane Irwin, daughter of Mrs. J. W. Irwin, East End, as school librarian and clerk to the high school principal. Her salary will be $1,350 for 10 months, or $135 per month.

Miss Irwin is a graduate of Wilson college, Mercersberg, Pa., and is now taking a summer course in library work at the Case School of Applied Science, Cleveland.

The board also approved the appointment of Miss Eva Bailey and Miss Freda Rayburn as teachers in the elementary schools.

No action was taken on the appointment of a high school principal to succeed Miss Updegraff. Superintendent McVay, who said that he had received several applications, has arranged to interview applicants at the summer meeting of the Ohio State Teachers' association which will be held at Cedar Point, next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. The board granted him a leave of absence to attend this meeting.

The board also placed an order for 500 seats, 60 backs, 10 desks and 12 chairs with State Senator Harry Carpenter, Steubenville, representing the American Seating company, of Chicago. The price of these furnishings will be $2,537. The equipment will be used in additional school rooms which are to be opened in the Horace Mann, Sixth street, Central and West End schill buildings in September.

Contract for replacement parts for school furnaces was awarded the American Heating & Ventilating company, of Cleveland, and to The Stanton Heating company of Martins Ferry.

August Kuhn was named janitor of the McKinley school, to succeed Samuel Bucher. The appointment will become effective July 16 when Bucher retires.

SAN FRANCISCO BIDS FOR FIGHT

SAN FRANCISCO, June 17. — San Francisco today put in its bid for the Dempsey-Sharkey fight.

Willie Ritchie, former lightweight champion of the world and now with the Monarch Athletic club, wired Dempsey in Los Angeles, offering to arrange a fight to be held at Recreation park at any date this summer agreeable to the two contestants.

PISTOL VICTIM IS RECOVERING

Harry A. Skelton, taxicab driver, who accidently shot himself while handling a 25-caliber automatic revolver as he was sitting in his cab awaiting the return of two passengers, late Tuesday night, was believed to be recovering at the City hospital today. The bullet entered the young man's right side, perforating his intestines and kidneys.

Victorious in Irish Elections

Countess Markievicz.

In the recent elections in Ireland, Countess Constance Markievicz, once sentenced to death in the Sinn Fein rebellion of a few years ago, was elected to parliament in South Dublin. She is a member of the De Valera party. The countess was the first woman ever elected to the British House of Commons, before Lady Astor was accorded that honor but never took her seat.

President Goes To Rapid City to Meet Newspapermen

RAPID CITY, S. D., June 17.—It was a case of the mountain coming to Mahomet today—if the newspaper men covering President Coolidge in his Black Hills summer White House may be called prophets.

Reversing the original order wherein the press representatives motor 32 miles from Rapid City to the state game lodge to cover the president's vacation activities and then motor 32 miles back to file the story, Mr. Coolidge agreed to come to the temporary executive offices at Rapid City this morning and submit himself to an interview, subject to the usual restrictions.

Today's press conference will be held in the Rapid City High school in a room circled with blackboards—the executive's office during the summer. Adjoining class rooms house Secretary Everett Sanders, Private Secretary Edward T. Clark, doorkeeper Pat McKenna, and the stenographers, clerks and messengers who were brought from Washington that the official business of the White House might progress as usual.

Meanwhile, the presidential fishing will suffer until after lunch, to be served at the state game lodge at 1 o'clock. The lunch was to have been subordinated to a 2 o'clock press conference — mountain time—but Mrs. Coolidge put her foot down on this disruption of game lodge routine.

"Lindy" Flies Over Ohio

regular U. S. airline course to Uniontown.

SHIPPENSBURG, Pa., June 17.—A monoplane believed to be that of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, enroute from New York to St. Louis, passed over here at 9:37 a. m., Eastern standard time, headed for Chambersburg.

The monoplane had been following the Reading railroad, but on his Chambersburg route the flier passed the last Reading dispatcher's shack, heading his plane slightly south.

A few miles farther on this route Lindbergh will pass over the Allegheny mountains. Unless he changes his present course the plane is not expected to pass over Pittsburgh.

BEDFORD, Pa., June 17. —Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh and his escort of army airplanes flew over Bedford shortly after 10 a. m., Eastern Standard time, and headed toward Uniontown, according to reports received here. The flyers were having no trouble passing over the Allegheny mountains.

Circle Wright Plant.

CARLISLE JUNCTION, Pa., June 17.—Three planes, one believed to be that of Col Charles A. Lindbergh, on his New York to St. Louis hop, passed over here at 9:27 (Eastern Standard time) headed due west and following the lines of the Reading railroad.

HARRISBURG, Pa., June 17.—Three airplanes, one of which was believed to be Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's "Spirit of St. Louis," soared over a point several miles south of here at 9:20 a. m. (Eastern Standard time) according to a report received by the Reading railroad from a dispatcher.

PATERSON, N. J., June 17.—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh circled the Wright Aeronautical corporation's plant here today on his way west. The factory workers cheered him as he brought the "Spirit of St. Louis" down to an altitude of about 200 feet and made three turns around the factory grounds.

After this farewell to the men who made the motor that carried his airship from New York to France the flyer rose steadily, flying due west and soon passed on out of sight.

2,000 Cheer Take-off.

NEW YORK, June 17.—With a happy smile and a wave to the assembled throng, Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh hopped off from Mitchel Field at 8:17 this morning for St. Louis in his famous monoplane, "The Spirit of St. Louis."

He had planned to make the 900-mile westward flight in ten hours but it would be just like "Slim" to try and better his record jump from St. Louis to New York of seven hours and fifteen minutes.

More than 2,000 persons including many women, cheered as "we" soared gracefully into the air and headed due west.

"Lindy" executed his take off so quickly that the crowd was taken by surprise. Without easing the monoplane out of the hangar, as is customary, Lindbergh "opened her up" wide and roared out onto the field between two lines of spectators. He shot along for about 100 feet, and then rose sharply at an angle.

Within two minutes he was out of sight.

Weather Conditions Perfect.

Weather conditions were perfect for the take off. The sky was cloudless and the sun shining.

Just before he took off Lindbergh said he would fly a straight airline course for St. Louis. He said he would encircle New York city, proceeding directly to Columbus, pass over Wilbur Wright field at Dayton, O., where he is to be met and escorted by 21 pursuit planes and that he may fly over Indianapolis.

He will land at Almbert Field, St. Louis, he said, and expects to arrive there at 4:30 p. m., Central time. He hoped to gain two hours by flying straight westward into the sun, he said.

New York's official goodbye was said by Grover A. Whalen, head of the city's welcoming committee.

"I enjoyed my stay and will be glad to come back again," said Lindbergh.

The Spirit of St. Louis sailed over Brooklyn, then crossed to New York, circled the Woolworth building as thousands watched and then headed over the Battery in westerly direction. Two planes followed him as he flew low over the Battery.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, June 17.—Stocks of the Southwestern-merger railroad group led a brilliant forward movement in the early trading today, in response to well-founded reports that L. F. Loree and powerful railroad magnates were rounding out an acceptable plan for the unification of those roads.

St. Louis Southwestern jumped an additional 5 points to 93 in the first period, the stock having completed a new rise of 15 points since yesterday noon. Kansas City Southern gained a point to 60, and Katy was up 1½ in an active turnover. Speculative buying also spread to other sections of the rail list, in which the general trend of prices was upward.

General Motors pushed forward to a new peak price of 205½, on reports of a possible 100 per cent stock dividend this year, with the new stock carrying a 5 per cent dividend. A favorable impression was created by the may production report of the corporation, which showed an enormous increase in the volume of the cheaper grade of cars sold. Yellow Truck & Cab, an important subsidiary, carried its aggressive forward move to 33¾ before encountering heavy selling.

A 4 per cent renewal rate for call money, for week-end loans, was not surprising in view of the heavy increase in gold holdings reported by the reserve banks. Commodity markets were steady, with cotton up 6 to 8 points on the call, and wheat, corn and oats fractionally higher.

Industrial stocks moved forward under the lead of American Can in the second hour. United States Steel was inactive, but firm, with a good volume of stock taken at 122½. Mercantile stocks were also in demand in this period.

BAD WEATHER DELAYS BYRD

Ocean Flyer May Not Hop Off Before Monday.

NEW YORK, June 17.—Bad weather continues to delay the hop off of Commander Richard E. Byrd in the monoplane America for Europe.

It seemed probable this morning that Byrd would not be able to get away before Sunday.

Byrd said he certainly would not take off today.

There are two zones of adverse weather—one of 800 miles in diameter southeast of Newfoundland and the other 1,000 miles west of Scotland, also covering a wide area.

James H. Scarr, local forecaster, said the unfavorable weather is not likely to clear up for two days.

Meantime, the giant tri-motored Fokker plane is conditioned to go, except for the taking on of gasoline and food supplies which would require only a short time.

ST. LOUIS GOES WILD AS "SLIM" STARTS HOME

Lindbergh Frenzy Throws Town Into Civic Hysteria.

IN GALA DRESS

Wave of Emotionalism as Atlantic Ace Nears Missouri.

By Jerry Quisenberry.

ST. LOUIS, June 17.—The Lindbergh frenzy today had thrown St. Louis into civic hysteria.

"Slim" is coming home.

Nothing else matters. The city has locked its collective rolltop desk and let itself run wild in an orgy of adulation.

Flight bulletins have usurped the place of stock market tickers as St. Louis tensely follows the progress of his flight from the east.

The civic enthusiasm which followed the winning of the world's baseball championship last year threatens to become a mere ripple of excitement in comparison with the onrushing wave of emotionalism which will strike the city about 3:30 o'clock this afternoon, when the "ace of the Atlantic" will wing his way over the Mississippi river, and glide down over his adopted city.

Never has the city been in such a gala dress. Myriad flags and pictures of "Lindy" and tiny replicas of "The Spirit of St. Louis," hang in every street.

Theatres and cabanets have their special Lindbergh song numbers prepared and ready. Lindbergh placards, buttons, posters, stickers, dolls, hats, shoes and cravats fill the shop windows and flood the streets. New York, it seems, gave this city a few ideas on the importance of such occasions.

MARY PICKFORD HOME GUARDED

Beverly Hills Police Act As Result of Kidnaping Plot.

LOS ANGELES, June 17.—A heavily armed guard was stationed around the Beverly Hills home of Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks today as the result of an alleged plot to kidnap the diminutive actress and hold her for $100,000 ransom.

The guard was thrown around the Pickford estate when H. L. Brady of Palm Grove avenue, reported seeing three men following Miss Pickford. He said the movie star had been posing for street scenes and that when she left in her car, the three men followed in a large sedan.

Brady said as the men passed him he overheard one of them remark:

"There she goes. She'll be worth $100,000 to us."

Hollywood and Beverly Hills police were notified and a guard was immediately thrown around Pickfair, the movie star's home. As she rode home last night from the studio, Douglas Fairbanks, her husband, sat beside her with a riot gun in his lap. Several officers on motorcycles followed a short distance behind the car.

ITALY CHEERS FLYER PINEDO

Rome Is Enthusiastic Over Four-Continent Jumper.

ROME, June 17.—All Italy is as frantically enthusiastic over Commander Francesco De Pinedo as the United States is over Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh.

De Pinedo, who has arrived here after completing a four-continent airplane flight, is mobbed whenever he appears in public, his admirers refusing to permit him to proceed about his business as he wishes.

The government is giving a great banquet tonight in De Pinedo's honor, when it is understood he will be officially advised of his appointment as chief of staff for aviation.

The pope will receive the flyer tomorrow and is expected to confer a high honor upon him.

WELLSVILLE BOY IS RUN DOWN BY AUTOMOBILE

LAD STRUCK AS HE ATTEMPTS TO BOARD TROLLEY

Francis O'Hanlon, Aged 12, Sustains Broken Pelvis Bone.

Freedom, Pa., Motorist Takes Victim to Hospital.

Running to catch a street car to East Liverpool, Francis O'Hanlon, 12 years old, of 416 Buckeye avenue, was struck by an automobile, driven by James Maxwell, of Freedom, Pa., at the corner of Third and Lisbon street, Wellsville, this morning at 9 o'clock.

The boy's pelvis bone was crushed as one of the front wheels of the machine passed over his leg at the groin.

The youth has been working at a refreshment stand on the carnival grounds in East Liverpool and was enroute there this morning to prepare for the day's business.

It is believed he failed to observe the approach of Maxwell's machine in his haste to board an eastbound street car which was due at the moment, and, according to reports, ran directly in front of the automobile.

Maxwell stopped immediately and placed the boy in his car. The lad, able to speak despite his pain, directed the motorist to the office of Dr. J. V. Rice, Tenth street, where he was given preliminary medical attention.

He was then taken in Maxwell's machine to the East Liverpool hospital for examination.

P. R. R. PLANS NEW THROUGH TRAIN

The Pennsylvania railroad announces the inauguration of an entirely new train providing through service between western points and Atlantic City, to be known as the "Sea Gull."

It will operate as a solid train between Pittsburgh and the shore resorts. In addition it will provide through service to and from Atlantic City from Cincinnati, Cleveland, Akron and Wheeling. It will operate daily including Sunday.

The Sea Gull, eastbound, will leave Pittsburgh at 10:20 p. m., standard time, arriving at Atlantic City at 7 a. m. Westbound it will leave Atlantic City at 9 p. m., arriving in Pittsburgh at 6:52 a. m.

In addition to the sleeping cars it will carry a club car in each direction. The through sleeping car from Cincinnati to the shore will leave at 1:40 p. m., the Cleveland car will leave at 6:05 p. m., the Akron car at 5:40 p. m., and the Wheeling car at 7:30 p. m.

On the return journey the car for Cincinnati will arrive at 5:45 p. m., the Cleveland car at 11:20 a. m.; the Akron car at 12:39 p. m., and the Wheeling car at 10 a. m.

On the westbound trip the new train will also carry the through sleeping car from Atlantic City to Chicago. Arrival in the latter city will be at 8:10 p. m.

The new train will leave for its first trip on July 1, and westbound on July 2. The last trip eastbound will be on September 10.

The purpose of inaugurating the Sea Gull is to provide more comfortable service and accommodate the growing volume of travel between important centers in the western part of the Pennsylvania's territory, and Atlantic City.

Its establishment will also mark the first occasion in which the cities of Cincinnati, Akron and Wheeling have been accorded through service without change of cars to and from the shore.

RAIL UNIONS SPLIT RANKS

Termination of Chicago Agreement Ordered.

"Individual" agreements may be formed in the future with the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, to supplant the Chicago agreement, according to announcement by spokesmen for the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, now in convention in Cleveland.

The Chicago agreement was ordered terminated several days ago and dies automatically 30 days after the decree. Brotherhood divisions are maintained in Wellsville by Pennsylvania railroad authorities and will be affected along with other system divisions.

The "Chicago agreement" has served to hold the two brotherhoods together in their relations with railroad managements since 1913. Termination of the agreement will work no particular hardship, however, in the opinion of H. E. Wills, Washington, assistant grand chief engineer, one of the official spokesmen, who expressed the belief that differences could be adjusted better individually than through one national agreement.

Others declared however, that the action of the engineers might mean that the two unions will hereafter work independently of each other.

The split between the two bodies, is believed to be an indirect result of the disagreements which came up last February, when the engineers, it is alleged, failed to act jointly with the firemen in wage negotiations with souteeastern railroads.

Officials of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen said this morning that they had received no formal announcement that the Chicago agreement would be terminated, but that they were unofficially advised that the notice would be sent soon. The agreement, according to its own terms, can be abrogated by either of the two brotherhoods upon 30 days' notice.

The firemen said they did not regard the move as a "break" between the brotherhoods, but merely the cessation of a compact which in some ways has proven unsatisfactory.

According to announcement here today, arrangements have been completed for a conference between the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen and western railroads in Chicago, July 7, to discuss wage scales. Approximately 51,000 men will be concerned in attempts to secure an increase ranging from $1 to $1.25 per day for firemen and hostlers, it was said.

On that date a "Blue Law" now being prepared by the Berlin police will go into effect according to which no bakery, no butchership, no grocery, no candy, no cigar stores are to be permitted to keep open on Sunday. Heretofore, Berlin housewives have always made their purchases on Sunday forenoon, to have the Sunday dinner "fresh."

The innumerable cafes and cake places, sports, theatres and movies will remain open as usual.

Armour And Cooper Duel Today In Play-Off For Open Title

Finish Four Rounds Of Championship At Oakmont in Deadlock

By Davis J. Walsh.

OAKMONT, June 17.—Harry Cooper, born to be British but glad to be American, a garrulous, confident Jack Sharkey of professional golf, and Tom Armour, sauve, well mannered and Scotch enough to want what he wants before he gits it, will engage in a two-man assault on the national open golf championship in a special eighteen hole play-off this afternoon. They finished the regulation four rounds of the championship yesterday in an absolute dead heat for first money with a composite total of 301.

It was their only similarity. They had the same score but probably no two men in the long history of competitive golf have met at the first tee with less in common.

"I'll walk back to Los Angeles if I don't finish in the first five" said Cooper with his air of swank as he came to Oakmont for the title event. He will ride.

Armour let a 12-foot putt on the 72nd green for a tie do his talking, although Thomas is no social mute, in truth. He is the typical club house verandah amateur, hair slick and smooth and black, face burned to the true skin by countless suns and clothes correct to a fault. Thomas "turned square" after coming to America as an amateur seven years ago but he still retains the air of one who does you a personal favor in letting you watch him play.

With all due respect to Cooper as a golfer, and as a man, he would be incapable of achieving such an impression. His emotions are too near the surface, his reactions too natural. If he thinks you are a bum, he is likely to say as mueh and add the information, that he, personally and himself, usually is not a victim of self dissatisfaction.

Send Cooper into the ring with a niblick and Sharkey a boxing glove and Rickard would sell out on the sheer personality of his principals.

However, the boys promise to deal exclusively in mashies and niblicks and polite amenities today and there will be no blows exchanged as an official part of the program. If the U. S. G. A. could connive to have this happen the gallery might run into the fifty thousand with wicket speculators and short-end men hovering at the gates. As it is, five thousand will be a good crowd.

For neither of the principals ever has won a major title and they neither writer for publication, recommend tooth-paste nor furnish the material for the usual club house gossip. They are just a pair of good golfers who happen to be better than Bobby Jones, greatest of all; Walter Hagen, who used to be; Gene Sarazen, Jock Hutchison, Jim Barnes and other ex-champions; the members of the invading British team and a great field in general.

Sarazen lasted well enough to finish third, only a stroke outside the tie but Barnes and Hutchison were nowhere and Hagen and Jones finished sixth and in a tie for ninth respectively. The old Hagen "kick" was gone at the finish where formerly it manifested itself with such devastating effect.

The boy friend hasn't won an American open championship since 1919 and some of the locker room cronies are beginning to suspect that it might be that he will never win another.

Jones simply was not good; he wasn't bad. Merely neither. He started with an unimpressive 76 and became less impressive with each succeeding round. Sarazen, Johnny Farrell and most of the entries who didn't win blamed their failure to score on the over-zealous greens which were supposed to be too fast for comfort.

Jones didn't even have that excuse. And if he did, he wouldn't offer it, anyhow.

For the 72 greens he visited, he had 133 putts, considerably less than two to the green. Of course, a fast green may play havoc with your pitch shots in the first place and maybe that is what happened to Jones. A better guess is that he was under-prepared for the tournament and under-goifed.

In ten such tournaments, his total score possible would be better by fifteen to twenty strokes than that of either Cooper or Armour. But they were good enough to win this tournament and Jones wasn't and you can't go behind that fact any more than you can go behind your own shoulder blades.

Today's play-off will be tenth in thirty-one open championship tournaments. I trust I may be pardoned for hoping it will be the last. The writer is for earlier and quicker victories.

K.T.K. STOPS TURK NASH

Springer Is Driven From Mound In Fifth Round.

Fielding sensationally, profiting by opposition errors and swatting in timely fashion, K. T. K. defeated Turk-Nash at Smith field, Chester, 4 to 2, last evening.

Both clubs made seven hits each. Neitzler twirled steadily and was in no danger the entire route.

Springer was driven from the hill-top in the fifth after a single, walk, sacrifice and a double that netted the final two of the quartet of runs made off him. W. Mundy went in and finished, holding the potters scoreless thereafter.

E. Bayley booted Simcox's drive in the first after McShane had been retired, Springer to W. Munday. He stole second and scored, after Hunselman had fanned, on O'Brosky's single to middle.

After Schneidmiller had skied to McShane Deshler reached first on Kinsey's error. J. Watson singled to middle. A passed ball moved to third and second respectively both runners. We. Mundy singled to middle, scoring Deshler. Kinney flew to McShane, who assisted to Hunselman and he to Simcox, retiring J. Watson, who it was held, started for the plate before McShane caught Kinsey's fly.

Hayes, walking in the fourth, reached second on Holko's bunt hit and third as ePaolic went out J. Watson to W. Mundy, following Kinsey's bunting the third strike from where he counted as E. Bayley threw wildly to first on Neitzler's blow. McShane went out, E. Bayley to W. Mundy.

E. Bayley singled over second in the fourth and scored on Schneidmiller's double to middle. Deshler drove to Simcox who bluffed a throw to first to tag the oncoming catcher. J. Watson singled to left. W. Mundy drove wickedly to left, but O'Brosky landed in by a one-handed catch. Kinney then fanned.

Simcox singled to left in the fifth and went to second on Springer's balk. O'Brosky sacrificed, Springer to Kinney. Hayes doubled to middle, scoring Simcox and Hunselman. W. Mundy supplanted Springer on the hill-top, the latter going to right and Deshler tofirst. Holko walked and was nipped off first, W. Mundy to Deshler, but the play was made on Hayes sneaking home. In the zig-zag that followed he was retired by Schneidmiller, Kinsey then fouled to Schneidmiller.

Loop Leaders Play Tonight

Laughlin - Chester Clash On Newell Diamond.

Chester and Laughlin, City Industrial league leaders, will clash tonight at Newell and a Laughlin victory will practically sew up first half honors for Pilot Dailey's aggregation.

A win will give Newell a three and one-half lead. A victory by Chester will reduce the margin to two games and lessen Newell' chances for a decisive conquest.

Laughlin has been playing great ball lately, only two runs having been scored against Dailey's nine in the last six games. Ashe leads the pitching staff with three shutouts to his credit, against K. T. K., Wellsville and Turk Nash. Digman blanked Turk Nash several days ago.

His own balk, which gave American Billiards a run, prevented Chaney from joining the ranks of Newell shutout hurlers.

BRUINS WIN BUT FAIL TO CATCH BUCS

McCarthy Club Hangs Up 12th Win In Row.

By Les Conklin.

NEW YORK, June 17.—The Chicago Cubs today have won 11 straight games, the longest winning streak of the season in either league, but are still in second place because the weak eastern teams have been unable to stop the Pirates. The pennant prospects of the Bruins were enhanced, however, by the brilliant work of Pitcher Hal Carlson yesterday in winning his second successive game since joining the Windy City outfit. He subdued the Phillies, his former mates, by a score of 7 to 2, while strong men on the Philadelphia bench sobbed and their manager, Stuffy McInnes, warbled, "Oh, how I miss you, dear old Hal of mine."

Informed that Col. Charley Lindbergh would be among the spectators, Babe Ruth and Buster Gehrig of the Yankees put on their home run act in the first inning, but unfortunately Charley did not reach the park until the game was finished. It was No. 22 for Ruth and 15 for Gehrig, and the Bambino is exactly even with his 1921 record. The score of the ball game was 8 to 1 and the Browns were the victims.

Homers by Hornsby and Terry featured the Giants' 10 to 5 victory over the Cardinals. The Giants had dropped six straight. Hornsby and Southworth had a perfect day at bat.

Kent Greenfield, formerly of the Giants, made his debut with the Braves and was given a proper shellacking by the Pirates, 6 to 0. Paul Waner, Pittsburgh's newlywed outfielder, stretched his consecutive hitting streak to 19 games. Meadows did the throwing and lots of it for Pittsburgh.

Sergeant George Connally, who has pitched 217 scoreless innings in the White Sox bullpen this season, turned in nine more against the Athletics. Homers by Hunnefield and Barrett gave the Sox the verdict, 4 to 0, increasing their hold on second place.

"unusual distinction plus six-cylinder performance and the uncramped comfort of a full-sized body!" . . .

This is the day of the smartly styled automobile. And one glance at the Oakland Landau Sedan reveals how superbly it answers today's demand for cars of arresting appearance and distinction.

Yet the success of this most luxurious Oakland Six is based on something deeper than an extra measure of style and smartness at an extra-attractive price.

True, it reveals the aristocratic beauty of Fisher body design and execution. True, also, its exceptionally complete equipment embraces such unusual items as gasoline gauge on the instrument board; walnut finished window mouldings and inlaid instrument panel; nickel-plated bumpers, lamps and radiator; and foot control for the tilting-beam headlights.

$1295 LANDAU SEDAN

But so many buyers are making it the car of their choice largely because it provides, at lowest price, every element of unusual distinction, plus six-cylinder performance and the uncramped comfort of a full-sized body!

Uncramped comfort—possible only with wide, deep seats, properly pitched, properly spaced and inviting relaxation!

ZEPPELIN 'ROUND-WORLD FLIGHT PROMISED

Dr. Hugo Eckener, director of the German Zeppelin company at Friedericksshafen, is promising a round-the-world Zeppelin flight as the great aerial adventure for 1928. The LZ-137, now under construction, will be used for the flight, which Dr. Eckener estimates will take 300 hours. Additional mooring masts, one on the west coast of the United States, and one in Asiatic Russia will be constructed. Permission to use the one at Lakehurst, N. J., already has been obtained. Dr. Eckener is shown in the inset above with a view of the dirigible Los Angeles, in flight. The LZ-137 is being modeled after the Los Angeles, which was made at the Friedericksshafen plant.

CORDS TRIM BILLIARDS

Stoffel Pitches Riley Nine to 2-1 Victory.

In a fast, well played contest Chester defeated the American Billiards, 2 to 1, at Columbian park last evening. A big throng witnessed the game.

Stoffel held the Americans to four hits and one run. Howell was found for six which netted two tallies. The former fanned four and Howell none. The latter walked three as against Stoffel's one.

Haught, in left for the Americans, connected safely each of three times at bat. He accepted four chances and stole one base.

The Americans played errorless ball though defeated.

J. Strobel, playing his first game of the season for the Americans, accepted four chances at short and walked his first time up—a habit of his at the bat.

Conners handled seven of eight chances for Chester. One-handed catches by him robbed Talbott and Howell of hits in the first and fifth innings. He batted at a .500 clip also.

L. McMath landed all his seven chances at second for Chester and swatted .667 for the day.

Chester scored in the first inning. J. Evans flew to C. Strobel. L. McMath walked. P. Cebula doubled to left, sending the second bagman to third from where he counted on Conner's sacrifice fly to middle. Wilde flew to Haught.

J. Evans, walking in the third, stole second and went to third as L. McMath grounded to Talbott from where he finished on Cebula's sacrifice fly.

Borneo Sends Many To Mecca.

Following an increase in the wealth of natives in Borneo in the past 12 months, more pilgrims left that country for Mecca this year than ever before. Appoximately 7,000 persons, or one for every 100 of the population, left Bandjermasin in the annual journey of Mohammedans. As the pilgrimage requires the expenditure of from $400 to $800 for each traveler, it is estimated that about $4,000,000 will be spent by those from Borneo alone. It is customary for many natives from Java to make the journey, but this is the first year that those from Borneo have displayed such interest.

Surprised

Miss Natalie Hays Hammond.

"I was so surprised it was almost a shock," said Miss Natalie Hays Hammond, daughter of John Hays Hammond, when her illuminated letter was accepted by the Royal Society of Miniature Painters of England. It was her first work and was placed on exhibition. The design was in the shape of the letter "L" with a tiny miniature depicting a skyline of skyscrapers.

VOL. XLVII. NO .189. EAST LIVERPOOL, OHIO, FRIDAY, JUNE 17, 1927. PAGE SEVENTEEN

ANIMAL LOSSES IN GREAT FLOOD SERIOUS BLOW

Mississippi Waters Drown Millions of Creatures.

FISH DESTROYED

Years Will be Required to Replace Wild Life.

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — Trapped as were people, but with no rescue fleets to save them, wild animals in the great forests of the Mississippi valley perished by the thousands when the roaring currents of the Father of Waters and its tributaries tore through levees and rushed upon them in terrific suddenness and depths.

The ruthless slaughter of animals by the disastrous floods was one of the greatest losses of the flood, according to accounts of refugees and rescue workers.

Years will be required to replace the wild animals which perished in the wholesale destruction.

Fish Destroyed.

Hundreds of thousands of small minnows are being ruthlessly or thoughtlessly destroyed by fishermen in the vicinity of Memphis in their hunger for larger fry, according to an appeal issued here by Dean Wolf, president of the local chapter of the Izaak Walton league.

A gloomy picture of conditions with some interesting side-lights on the hardships of animal life is painted by refugees from Louisiana, Arkansas and Mississippi.

One trapper, from Louisiana, told the following story:

"Last week I saw a big black bear floating down stream, perched on a tree. I found a three foot alligator on a floating bed near a deserted house. On a knoll I saw 35 deer. Several more were on a railroad track not far away.

"In a dry spot nearby there are more than 100 quail. I fed them with chicken feed for several days. Almost a half a hundred deer are being cared for in box cars by game wardens. The refugees in some places are sharing their rations with the helpless deer.

Wild Animals Slaughtered.

"But bodies of deer and all kinds of wild animals are seen every day by the dozens floating on the water, having been drowned by the floods or starved to death where marooned."

Wolf's appeal to fishermen to stop destruction of minnows to preserve the future fishing possibilities was broadcast over the Commercial Appeal-Evening Appeal broadcasting station, WMc.

Seiners, who are finding the catching of fish and minnows easy in subdrains to lakes, are not limiting themselves to what they need and are carelessly leaving thousands of minnows on the banks to die in the sun, Wolf said. They keep the big fish and throw the minnows on the banks instead of back into the water.

Fish will perish by the thousands without being deliberately slaughtered, said Wolf, as many have been unfortunate enough to be in small water holes left by the flood that will soon dry up, leaving the fish lying in a muddy field.

Lakes throughout the flooded valley were re-stocked by the flood as many fish found their way into the lakes from the rivers.

AMERICANS GET NO PAY FOR NANKING LOSS

Victims Have No Way to Collect Damages.

Question of Claims Delayed by Danger to Officials.

PEKING.—American victims of the Nanking outrage have absolutely no immediate and possibly no future hope of reimbursement for their losses, according to the American legation here.

While the American authorities have been instructed to secure the claims of the four hundred or more victims, the orders were given more or less perfunctory since there are no responsible authorities who would be likely to pay the claims at this time in all of China.

Brings Hardships.

This state of affairs brings untold hardships to the former residents of Nanking, who, forced to flee for their lives, were fortunate if able to salvage enough wearing apparel to satisfy ordinary decency. Hundreds of homes are a total loss, numbers of mission institutions, including hospitals, churches and schools as well as the properties, stocks and business of American firms, are all gone.

The question of claims is further handicaped by the inability for a long time of the American consul, John K. Davis, to go ashore even to examine the wreck of his own office, let alone the hundreds of former American homes.

Lives on Warship.

Mr. Davis has remained at Nanking most of the time since the outrage, but has lived aboard an American warship.

The American authorities, therefore, find it difficult if not impossible to even give a rough estimate of the total American losses at Nanking. If a guess were to be hazarded, the loss would certainly not be placed lower than between five and ten million American dollars and should probably be placed much higher.

South African Fair Has Biggest Hog; Weighs 1100 Pounds

JOHANNESBURG. — Billy, the world's largest pig, is on view at agricultural show here, and is insured for $25,000. Billy is 8 ft. 2 in. long, 6 ft. 9 in. in girth and weights just over 1120 pounds.

He has traveled 25,000 miles, and is just back from a tour of Australia. He has a voracious appetite, and every day consumes four cases of apples, eight or nine buckets of milk two, bushel of bran, sixteen or eighteen cabbages, and a few "odds and ends."

Billy has a specially appointed valet to keep him groomed, and to reserve accommodation in train and boat when he travels. Bill's food alone costs $10 a day.

The mammoth pig is only 28 years old, and a long and prosperous career awaits him. His owner plans to send him to the British Museum in London after his death.

It was foolish of that old Greek to use a lantern in searching for an honest man. He had only to sign notes to prove his point.—Akron Beacon Journal.

More than $70,000,000 it is estimated, is spent for sandwiches in restaurants on Broadway every year.

"WHITE GOLD" MASTERPIECE

Jetta Goudal and 'Lindy' Pictures Score At Ceramic.

Proving itself a masterpiece in point of screen technique, direction and character interpretation, a simple story of simple folk superbly told—a picture with a soul—"White Gold," Jetta Goudal's latest star vehicle, featuring Kenneth Thomson and George Bancroft, created a profound impression on its premier presentation at the Ceramic theatre yesterday in conjunction with first run pictures of New York's reception to Captain Charles A. Lindbergh.

There is nothing spectacular about "White Gold." There is nothing pretentious about it, but it presents in the most realistic manner a bit of life on a sheep ranch during a drought. It is a natural, human story, the psychology of which leaves a lasting impression on the mind. "White Gold," with its tense drama, its love, hatred, petty jealousy, and its unusual though logical climax, is a picture story one will long remember. Why? Because it is, in treatment and theme, so far above the ordinary photoplay that it defies comparison.

Fancy yourself on an arid sheep ranch. There has been no rain for months and the sheep are dying by the score. A petulant, venomous old man sits gloomily day and night in an easy chair the springs of which creak raspingly. His son has married a beautiful dancer, who sincerely loves her husband. But he is under the domination of his stern father who hates the young wife and refuses her even a kindly look which her heart craves. Husband and father discuss sheep continuously, nearly driving her to despair. Under his father's antagonistic influence, the husband's love soon wanes and the neglected wife dreams longingly of the past.

Comes a laughing, careless sheep herder who flips a coin and decides to stay at the ranch. He comes in contact with the wife. Her beauty, accentuated in a remarkable close-up of Miss Goudal in a steaming cup of coffee, charms him. The father sees in this development an opportunity of further poisoning his son's mind against his wife. Seeking that comradeship which her husband has denied her, the wife innocently finds relaxation in the company of the cheerful sheep herder. Just as the drought is broken by a heavy rain, the herder enters the wife's room.

The next morning when the husband returns to the ranch house, he finds his wife and father seated at a table. There is a rifle at the old man's chair. Nonplussed, he asks what has happened. The old man points to the bedroom door behind which lies the body of the herder. The husband is horrified and demands to know who killed the man and why. The father says he did it—the wife, who is hoping her husband will believe in her, remains silent. She rises, her husband asks where she is going and she replies that whatever road she may travel, it will insure her freedom. She gains the roadway without opposition, throws away the revolver with which she has slain the man who sought to dishonor her, and the last one sees of her she is walking away in the distance—to freedom.

There is a simple story the beauty of which is enhanced by the artistry with which it has been transferred to the screen by Director William K. Howard. Throughout the picture, which in sequence is absolutely without a flaw, there are bits of double and triple exposures that thrill. The effect of the creaking chair, the rasping sound of a knife being sharpened on a whetstone, a ticking clock, the percolation of dust into the living room—all these, so well calculated to key a neglected wife's nerves to the breaking point, are admirably pictured. In every respect, "White Gold," despite its simplicity, rises to noble heights. It has all the elements of a great picture and it will be acclaimed as one of the finest productions of the season.

ACIDS IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestents are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist some Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful of powder or four tablets in water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

Plans for the proposed 110-story Larkin Tower, on West Forty-Second Street, between Eighth and Ninth Avenues, New York City, have been approved by the city's building department. Cost is estimated at $25,000,000 and completion is anticipated before the end of 1928. Plans call for it to rise 1,200 feet above street level, 267 feet higher than the Eiffel Tower, Paris. Drawing of it is pictured here in comparison with the Eiffel Tower, Paris.

Youth of the Atlas

BY MARSHALL R. HALL
AUTHOR OF "THE VALLEY OF STONE" and RIDDLE OF THE CIRCLE" ETC. ETC.

LARRY GRENFALL, American travelers and student of Eastern magic, receives a telephone call from BEN MANSOUR, cosmopolite and old friend, saying he must see him at once. Larry goes and Mansour tells him he is about to die and that he wants him to go to Morocco, where he, Mansour, is a sherif or native ruler. He is to find the Temple, endure the Ordeal, crush the Group and put Mansour's son on the throne. A Moor appears and gives Mansour a token, a ruby ring which Larry later wears. The Moor also throws into the room a tiny ivory tiger—the Striped Death. Mansour dies and his body disappears—carried off by the Moors. Larry goes to Morocco, finds

OMAR BEN MEDJAD, who dresses him as a wizard, and as Youssef el-Habassi he starts on his travels. He soon meets.

ALLAL ABDI, Mansour's son, who travels with him. In a fight with two Moors Allal Abdi is wounded and Larry discovers that "he" is a woman, Benna. No woman can ascend the Berber throne, so if Benna succeeds her father it must be as a man. Larry and Benna love one another intensely but Larry feels he must give her up rather than let her lose the sherifship. After many adventures they reach the "Gate of the Burning," they win through, are captured and locked up, but escape. In the fighting Larry has accidentally called Benna "Little White Flower." He is overheard by Omar who thus learns the truth. Benna and Larry come to the hut of a marabout or holy man. Larry performs magic to frighten the marabout and while he is so engaged Benna disappears. Racing madly to find her he is attacked by the Striped Death, the trained tiger killer. Larry kills the tiger, then continues his search for Benna. From a high peak a bright light strikes the ring he wears. He keeps on until he almost falls over a kneeling figure of a man who salaams. "How did you recognize me?" asks Larry.

CHAPTER THIRTY-FOUR.

"How, wizard; how indeed! Is the one good eye of Youcoub el-Bachir so like its fellow that is gone that he did not see the Eye of the Prophet sending its message back through the night to the Great Eye on the mountain? That it did not see the Eye of the Prophet on your finger answering the message of the Great Orb? Al, not only did old Youcoub el-Bachir see this, but it is in my mind that the Marabout Group itself, sitting in the Temple, did catch teh message the Eye on your finger did flash through the night. Welcome, thrice welcome, blessed of the Prophet, to the sacred ground of the Temple, as I have intimated, expected. You seem to have been delayed."

His brain racing under the multiplicity of mystery, Larry answered as best he could.

"And why do you say that, Youcoub el-Bachir?"

"Because your companion, the youth Allal Abdi, the goodly one who has, we are already told renounced his right to power in favor of the Marabout Group, did precede you by a full half-night. Aye, he has already passed this way, in company with one who came behind them, one with a bold eye and a reckless manner. This last bade me tell you that you would find the youth in the Temple, awaiting your coming."

Now, indeed Larry was startled. Taking a step forward his powerful fingers crushed into the bony shoulder of Youcoub el-Bachir, and his voice sounded like the grinding of steel on steel.

"Make yourself plainer, Youcoub el-Bachir, for even a wizard, wearied from a long night in the forest, worn with a terrific battle with a striped death, cannot always be clear-minded enough to grasp one's every meaning."

Whereupon the other answered:

"I can only say further, that the Sheikh Tahar el-Hassan did pass this way a half hour behind the youth Allal Abdi and his captor, and he did bid me say to you that your road still lay south and that it would end soon now in the Temple, where you will also find Allal Abdi waiting for your coming."

The Sheik Tahar-el-Hassan! Larry had never heard of the fellow, but his message, the word he had left, somehow seemed to have a familiar ring; yes, by the gods, the Sheikh Tahar el-Hassan was Omar ben Medjad, or Mohammed was no prophet! But if so, who had spirited Benna away from the marabout's hut? And who was it that had brought her through the forest, to imprison her in the Temple? Who, but a friend of the Marabout Group, else they never would have escaped the striped death? But, why had they taken the girl? Could it be that, despite what the Marabout of Adrar had said concerning her safety, they feared her so much that they had decided to keep her under cover until after the mouloud? It must be that this was the answer.

Mystery piled on top of mystery! Larry's weary brain reeled under the task of trying to pierce through this veil of intrigue. He turned his eyes back to the other.

"Tell me, Youcoub el-Bachir; will you give me food and provide me with a place where I may rest?"

It was in his mind that Benna, now in the Temple, was for the time being safe, hence it was the part of wisdow for him to fortify his strength with food, his stamina and nerves with sleep. He heard the others reply:

"Al, who am I to be so honored that the great wizard, Youssef el-Habbassi who commands even the bugs of the forest to crawl, the spiders to sting and the spirits to turn to birds, should sleep in his domicile? Of a surety, you may have a place to rest, and food."

Larry, following the fellow into a squalid, dirty hut, wondered how word of his affair with the Marabout of Adrar had so quickly reached this place, and the ears of this man, especially. Inside he was given a couscous and a couch. He drank of black coffee and swallowed the food, then, too tried to smoke the cigaret Youcoub el-Bachir offered, he threw himself on the couch and closed his eyes. Dreamily, his host's voice reached him:

"Is it true that you met the striped death of the Marabout of Adrar back in the forest?"

Despite himself, Larry started. So the ancient villain back in the hut had sent the killer on his track! Assured that Benna was safe far ahead, he had struck on the instant to rid himself and his colleagues of the power of the wizard! Larry allowed a grim chuckle to escape his lips and held out the ear of the tiger.

He heard the other's startled exclamation, then as he placed the silken-flap beneath his burnouse, he heard the other's voice.

"Here, indeed, is a wizard of Allah, for his magic has done the striped death to its ultimate finish."

Again, just before he dropped asleep, Larry heard Youbcoub speak.

"By Allah, he sleeps, and it is well. Here is one more powerful, mayhap, than the Marabout Group itself. 'T were well, it is in mind, if his wings were clipped while there is time. Well, if he were to die now, the people, who have heard of him and his great powers, would wonder. It is best, after all, to leave him for the Gate of the Daggers and, passing that, to the Ordeal. Even his wizard's magic will not avail him there."

Larry, conscious only long enough to digest the possible import of this statement, which, he felt, Youcoub had not thought his ears would catch, dropped into deep, soul-satisfying slumber.

Night, blue-black and laden with mystery, shrouded the valley; a soft wind sighing through the forest wakened to life a thousand banshee voices, set the twigs of the dead lotus trees a-rattle and swept with eerie murmurs across the barren crags of the mountains. A mist was over the moon, so that the valley from end to end was bathed in a mellow, lemon-glow.

Larry, having slept the clock around, with a feeling of ravenous

hunger, then kaleidoscopically, thoughts of Benna, Omar ben Medjed, the Sheikh Tahar el-Hassan and, lastly, Youcoub el-Bachir, flitted through his mind. Of his late host there was no sign, but near at hand in the deep gloom of the hut, was a taboet holding a couscous and some figs. He felt beneath his burnouse, but could not sense any loss of paraphernalia, therefore he took it for granted that he had not been searched while he slept. He made especially sure that his little dynamite cubes and his automatic were in place. Then, obeying the mandate of the inner man, he swallowed the food, to the last morsel.

As he ate he speculated on the probable future, wondering as to where Benna might be at the moment. He would, according to the Sheikh el-Hassan, find her in the Temple, but where was the Temple? Where in this place of mystery did the marabout's house of intrigue lie? Was that great, flaring light on the peak a portion of the Temple? Or was it a signal light used by the Group?

He found himself wondering about the light. There had been something decidedly strange about it. It was absurd, of course, to ascribe its power to electricity, for that was something even the greatest of the marabouts could have little knowledge of; besides, they could not manufacture current here in this out of the way place. No, there was some other explanation. Nor could the light have been made by the use of kerosene. It was damnedably disheartening to face so much mystery, and the light seemed to suggest still greater things ahead to be expected from the holy men who now ruled mountain Moslem.

Youcoub el-Bachir did not return and after a time Larry drew his sash tight, shifted his sword and stepped out into the soft velvety night, sensing at once its mystery and what seemed to him to be an evil portent. Unless he were decidedly mistaken, the Marabout Group now knew of his arrival, and despite the words of the holy man of Adrar, he had a feeling that danger, sharp and deadly, was just ahead, awaiting his coming.

But even if no physical violence was done him, was it not probable that the Marabout Group, knowing his growing popularity and fearing his power, would capture him and hold him a prisoner in the Temple itself until after the mouloud? Until success or complete failure of the move to enthrone a new sherif was assured?

Pondering thus he left the hut of Youcoub el-Bachir and turned down the narrow, twisting trail that led off toward the peak. Now, as he walked, he heard again those weird night voices that had caused his skin to tingle the previous night; sensed again that all about him little hidden lives were stirring—the lapwings and the ospreys, the bugs and the beetles, the hawks and the crows; the jackals, too. He wondered where his journey would end.

Somewhere ahead, of course, but where would this be? In the Temple, or before he could find that place of mystery? He knew his present course bore south for two reasons—because his own intuition told him that if he ever were to find the Temple it would be in that direction, and because the Sheikh Tahar el-Hassan had told Youcoub el-Bachir to tell him his road still lay south. Fighting the feeling that someone was near him, watching, following, stifling an overwhelming sense that he could hear the pad, pad, pad of soft tiger feet, he walked on. It was absurd to fear anew the striped death, for he knew that terror of the hills had been killed as surely as the red Moroccon sun would top the distant mountains at the dawn. But, might not there be other killers?

He increased his pace, at the same time noting that the forest was gradually falling away. It was as though he were coming to a cleared place. He was glad the trees were thinning, for just so long as they closed in about him he knew he would have that creepy feeling of being followed, of eyes upon him, perhaps eyes that even now were choosing the point between his shoulders where a long, Moorish dagger would thrust its way home. Under the urge of this last illusion he accelerated his pace yet again and found himself moving at a rapid trot through the night.

Unconsciously his eyes kept returning after each sidewise glance, to the peak, and suddenly he realized that for the last hour he had been waiting for that vivid, scarlet light to spring into being. He wondered why he felt so sure that he would see it again and raised his left hand, staring briefly at the stone on his finger.

Even the dimness of the lemon-shaded gloom could not smother the fire in the heart of the great ruby and now little blood-red darts of flame sprang up, scintillating as his hand moved with the motions of his body. He watched the stone pulse and glow, wondering whether it possessed any real power, or whether it merely was a token of identification. Judging by what had gone before, the latter supposition probably was the correct one.

WASHINGTON STEWART'S LETTER

"LINDY'S" ABILITY TO CONTINUE KEEPING HEAD ANOTHER FEAT

By Charles P. Stewart.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—A princeling is born to adulation.

Plaudits are an essential part of his existence. If he hears none he knows there's something wrong—seriously wrong.

Cheers mean nothing to him. He's heard them all his life.

No actor knows his part as a sprig of royalty knows his. The stage takes training. Royalty's training is woven into its very life.

Yet it's a mighty tactful monarch who makes no blunders—who escapes giving the impression that he holds himself something better than ordinary flesh and blood—who avoids confusing the deference paid to him as a king with the deference which would be paid to him but for the merest accident, of birth.

When popular acclaim comes otherwise than as a gift—in the cradle—it usually is won by slow effort and then it comes only with years.

The elderly hero is apt to be past the point where worship signifies much to him. He's accustomed himself to it by degrees.

It frequently spoils him, nevertheless.

But occasionally the chain lightning of fame descends right out of a clear sky and strikes some totally unprepared individual all at once—sock!

It's assumed that he's done something to deserve it.

He may have been working up to it gradually, but others didn't know he was doing it and he didn't realize it himself.

He may be young or he may be old. If he's old, perhaps there's a chance for him yet. It's just possible that an old guy will have developed enough sense of humor beforehand, and suffered enough hard knocks, to absorb the electricity of sudden, unexpected success without blowing up.

God help him if he's young.

He'll stand there for a bit, with the lightning 'running' off him in streams, trying to figure out what hit him—and then, gosh! how upstage he'll get. Or else he'll do some dam-phool thing.

Then watch him collapse.

The lightning didn't strike him any faster than he'll deflate.

It doesn't make any difference how genuine his merits were or what a nice duck he really is or how well he was entitled to his momentary reputation as a world's wonder—it's an almost invariable rule.

Almost invariable—but not quite. Look at "Lindy."

One day he was a young mechanic—wore overalls—fine boy, but no importance whatever—stood just a chance of shaking hands with the President some day, at a public reception, but that was all—a mere kid.

Next day, but one, premiers were kissing him, kings were fighting to entertain him at lunch and the other night he slept at the White House.

And he couldn't fit into his new surroundings better if he'd been educated for 'em from the time he was one minute old. If he'd had it in him to make any bad break, needless to say he'd have begun making 'em long before now.

Flying the Atlantic, as a record-breaking performance, wasn't a patch on the way that boy's kept his head.

sional women, holding that they are abundantly able to fend for themselves, but it actively champions special laws for women who work in industry, not only because this class of women workers cannot look out for themselves, but because such laws are necessary to given women real, practical equality with men in industry. And it has been advised by Constitutional lawyers that should the proposed amendment be adopted all such special legislation would be automatically nullified.

Every State in the Union except Florida now has special laws of this character, all enacted after hard fights, and the League does not want to see that work undone.

Moreover, as Miss Hicks points out, there is certain to be no little debate as to what are the equal rights that Congress is to enforce in event of the adoption of the amendment.

For example, if a state law requires a man to support his wife, what would be the effect of this proposed amendment? Would a wife have to support her husband or would neither of them get support from the other? Some States now give a husband a greater interest in his wife's property than she has in his. How would the amendment affect this situation? Would the husband get what the wife gets now, or would the wife have the present share of the husband, or, since the law is now unequal, would the amendment abolish it altogether so that neither husband nor wife would have any interest in the other's property? Again, how would the amendment affect the laws providing penalties for sex offenses? Further, if men and women have equal rights throughout the United States which State shall set the standard? No two states have the same laws.

"Only the supreme court of the United States could answer these questions," says Miss Hicks. "Meanwhile we would have great confusion and uncertainty. It makes the whole matter of the legal status of men and women and their relation to each other too much a matter for determination by the courts, and as long as the amendment stands, limits the power which the people now have through their state legislation to make such adjustments as conditions suggest to them to be wise."

Justice is Fundamental.

In supporting the amendment, the Woman's Party in effect takes the position that justice should be the fundamental consideration in determining the matter; that as all men are guaranteed equality before the law, so justice dictates that women should be accorded equality with men. An impressive array of instances is cited in which legislation places women at a disadvantage as compared with men, and it is contended that the only way to correct that and to prevent anything more of the sort in the future is by adopting the constitutional amendment guaranteeing men and women equal rights and then seeing that Congress enforces it.

Opponents of the amendment do not deny that there are many cases in which women do not enjoy equal rights with men under the law, and they assert they are anxious to have that condition corrected. But they want to accomplish that end through the repeal or amendment of those laws that work an injustice to their sex, rather than through a radical change in the organic law of the nation which would wipe out all the protective legislation that has been secured for women in industry in 47 states.

As to this special legislation, an exponent of the Woman's Party point of view is quoted as having declared, "All we want from the men is an even break, a fifty-fifty deal," and the argument is advanced that the ultimate effect of such protective laws will be to "protect" women out of their jobs—there will, for example, be few jobs for women if the law establishes an eight-hour day for them whereas men are permitted to work longer hours.

On the other side it is contended that legal equality will not insure equality of opportunity; that wherever improvements have been made in the working conditions of women in industry they have come about almost wholly because of special legislation; that to abolish women's labor laws will serve to make even wider the gap between the conditions of men and women in industry; and that sex differences and sex responsibilities and considerations of the welfare of society and of the race make protective legislation for women in industry not only desirable but imperative.

As to the matter of equality of opportunity, the fable of the stork that once dined with a fox is quoted. The fox served dinner in a shallow, flat dish. The stork had an equal opportunity with the fox to eat out of the same dish, but he got very little to eat. Their opportunities were identical, but their physical equipment was different. Neither was inferior nor superior to the other—they were only unlike.

Boston Builds New City Auditorium For Conventions

BOSTON.—A municipal auditorium to be erected at a cost of $5,000,000 is proposed for Boston.

Mayor Malcolm Nichols is among the staunchest of the supporters in the movement to obtain the auditorium which is recognized as Boston's most needed municipal improvement.

With the recent completion of a group of hotels that compare favorably with those found in the leading cities of the world Boston bids fair to become a convention city. The only stumbling block for those who desire to have conventions come here is the difficulty in finding seating capacity for the many delegates to large conventions.

An incentive to speedy action in the erection of an auditorium is the 300th anniversary of the settlement of Boston which will be observed with the most elaborate program ever undertaken in New England.

The auditorium plan is favored by the Chamber of Commerce and practically all of the civic and fraternal organizations of the city and with municipal support seems inevitable.

Switzerland Electors Down Motor Insurance Law In Referendum

GENEVA, Switzerland.—In a referendum on a proposed motor law 226, pedestrians lost their cause and 340,000 most of whom were presumably motorists, carried the day against the bill.

The law if voted would have placed the bulk of the blame on the motorists in case of an accident with a pedestrian. The law also called upon the motorist to carry heavy insurance in order to permit the courts to award heavy damages to pedestrians in case of accident.

Eastman Picture Will Show Welcome Given Flying Ace

The Eastman Kodak company's home motion picture history of Lindbergh's achievement will be complete next week with the ditribution of a reel showing the Atlantic Ace's reception in France, Belgium, and England, and in Washington. The foreign scenes already being selected from the best of the films from abroad and are being reduced to the amateur standard size of film. Special pictures are being taken of the Washington reception, and they will be rushed to Rochester immediately afterward.

The demand for the first reel—Lindbergh's start, which was released June 2—has been far greater than was estimated. The two reels together give the high lights of Lindbergh's story in eight minutes. They were prepared for the purpose of affording the thousands of owners of projectors for amateur standard film an opportunity to preserve a visual record of one of the most important events of modern history.

The second and final reel will be shown in homes throughout the country within a week or ten days. The timeliness of the picture, however, is expected to be of less importance to amateur movie machine owners than its value as a supplement to individual collections of personal motion pictures.

This picture is one of the "Cinegraphs"—short home movie films of drama, comedy, cartoons, travel, and events of outstanding historical importance—which are being released periodically for amateur movie machines in the same way that records are issued for phonographs.

"BLUE EAGLE" AT AMERICAN

George O'Brien and Janet Gaynor In Thrilling Picture.

Based upon the last story ever written by Gerald Beaumont, celebrated California author who died recently in Los Angeles, "The Blue Eagle," Fox Films version of a thrilling narrative of the American Navy and a gang feud in a great city, will open a two-day run at the American theatre today. George O'Brien and Janet Gaynor have the featured romantic roles. Others in the cast are William Russell, Margaret Livingston nad Robert Edeson.

John Ford, in producing this masterpiece for Fox Films, kept uppermost in mind the hundred-and-one opportunities for sharp characterization and keen comedy situations. At the same time, he gave the fullest possible sway to stalwart George O'Brien, dainty Janet Gaynor and the ever-popular William Russell. Mr. Edeson, as the lovable old parish arbiter, injects many human touches into the film drama.

O'Brien, cast as George D'Arcy, is the leader of a gang which is ever at loggerheads with the city faction, headed by Big Tim Ryan (William Russell.) This feud, which rages near an imaginary line marked by the church presided over by Father Joe, is intensified by the fact that both George D'Arcy and Big Tim Ryan love the same girl, Rose Cooper, as exemplified by Miss Gaynor.

Even when war hovers over the participants, and the fighting gangsters are thrown together in the navy, there is little cessation in hostilities.

D'Arcy, holding the rank as first-class water tender, is able to keep all parties in leash until the Armistice.

Then, with the return to the wards of the great city, dramatic sequence piles upon sequence until the smashing climax is reached when Father Joe ends the feud in a thoroughly sportsmanlike, but wholly unexpected manner.

Others in the cat are Ralph Sipperly, David Butler, Lew Short, Harry Tembrook and Jerry the Giant.

A detour is the roughest distance between two points. — Bellefontaine Examiner.
